STATE DEMOCRACY GOES WET

DEVER WARNS OF PUBLIC REVOLT ON HOME SEARCH

Scores Invasion of Individual Rights.

Elaborate preparations have been made by municipal officials and the Association of Commerce to welcome Mayor Dever back to Chicago this morning. Details on page 4.

Washington, D. C., April 23.—[Special.]—Hammering his way through the most crowded hour and a half of his life, Mayor Dever of Chicago resumed his testimony before the senate prohibition investigating committee today.

He hammered Federal District Attorney Olson for "absolute falsehood" and "pussyfooting," hammered State's Attorney Crowe for "passive taking of a case and prosecuting it," and hammered the judges in the state courts for thinking more about getting reelected than about doing their duty.

The mayor also warned the committee that oppressive enforcement measures may lead to a revolt by the public. "There is a time," he said, "when public opinion will not stand for even legal methods if they become too oppressive." The warning was uttered in connection with the mayor's expressed opposition to dry raids on private homes.

No Flowers for Crowe.

Toward the end of his testimony Dever was asked how much help State's Attorney Crowe was giving him in stamping out illicit liquor in Chicago. He prefaced his answer with the words, "I do not know whether I'll have any friends left when I get back, but that is a perfectly fair question and I will answer it."

The answer was not flattering to Mr. Crowe.

"You ask me," said the mayor, "what aid we have had from state authorities in doing our work in Chicago. My answer is none whatever, excepting this, that our state's attorney, when the police have brought the liquor cases, has prosecuted those cases in every case that I know of, at least I have heard of no general complaint.

"But here is the point: Passive taking of a case and prosecuting it is not enforcing the law.

Olson Fails to Placate Him.

"The man who enforces the law, senators, is the man who will take the bit in his teeth and go out and make transgressors obey the law, and that kind of aid we have not received in the county at all."

Nor was the mayor in the least placated by Federal District Attorney Olson's declaration in Omaha yesterday that he intended no aspersions on Dever in the testimony he gave last Tuesday before the senators.

The mayor took up the "no aspersions" statement in detail, and said:

"Mr. Olson said, as quoted this morning, that while the mayor of Chicago was an honest man he is still the creature of a political machine so powerful that it is interfering with his work.

"That is an absolute falsehood.

"The leader of that machine came to me early in my term of office and said, 'Mr. Mayor, however disastrous it may be to us, you have got to clean up Chicago.'"

Gives Credit to Brennan.

These last words quoted by the mayor to the investigation committee were the words of George Brennan, whose "catspaw" Mr. Olson in Omaha had declared Mr. Dever of Chicago to be.

Having quoted Brennan's demand on him for enforcement, the mayor added: "And I did this work as well as I could, with his hearty approval and his entire support."

Catching up the mayor's statement when he said that he had driven the illicit liquor business out of Chicago as a "going, profitable, commercialized traffic," Senator Harreld said, "You make a pretty broad assertion when you say it is all driven out."

The mayor replied:

"As a going, commercialized business on the public streets; that is all I have said; nothing more."

SENATOR HARRELD—Is it not a fact that a short time ago States Attorney Crowe started a campaign that located and demolished six of those going, commercialized concerns within two blocks of the city hall?"

Calls Story a Falsehood.

MAYOR DEVER—No; it is not true. It is absolutely untrue. There is not a particle of truth in it.

SENATOR HARRELD—Well, the newspapers carried such a story.

MAYOR DEVER—Yes, sir; and the

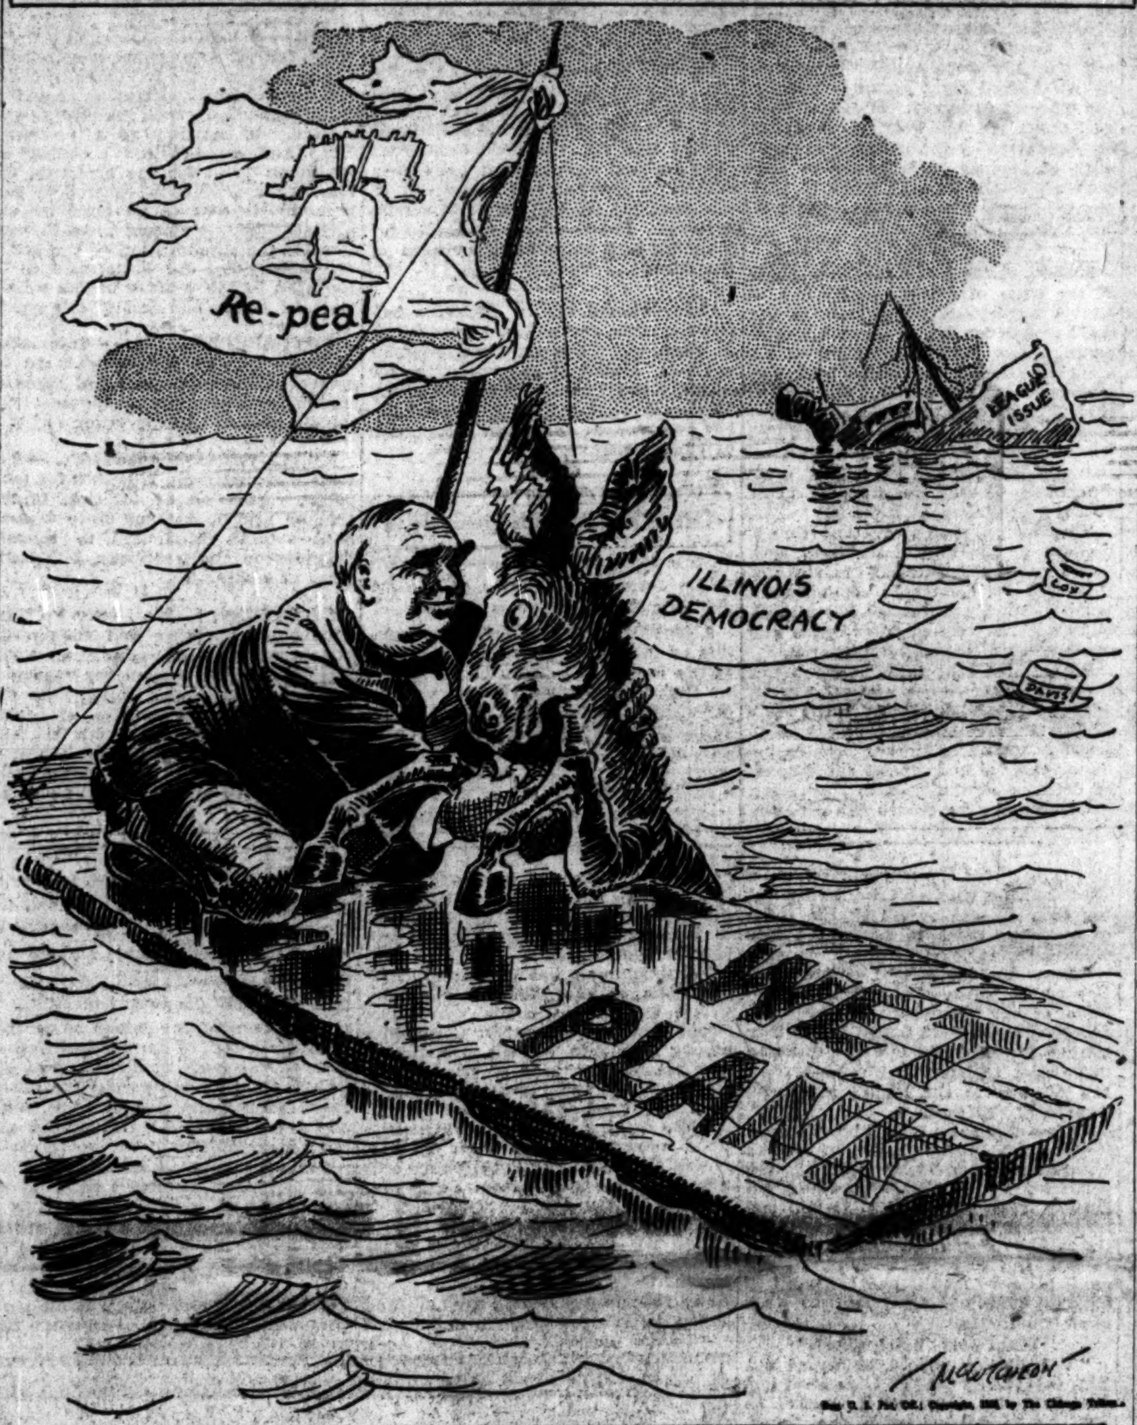
MR. BRENNAN LENDS A HELPING HAND



Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright, 1926, by The Chicago Tribune.

DAYLIGHT SAVING STARTS AT TWO SUNDAY MORNING

Don't forget to set your clock ahead when you go to bed tonight or you will wake up an hour behind the rest of the city. Daylight saving in Chicago goes into effect at 2 a. m. Sunday. It will last until Sept. 24.

Health Commissioner Herman N. Bundesen yesterday urged Chicagoans to take advantage of the extra hour of sunlight by getting out and letting the ultra-violet rays of the sun act on them. Human beings are like flowers, he said. They thrive on sunshine.

All suburban trains, schools, business houses, and companies employing labor will conform to the new time. The central standard schedule, however, remains official time for railroads. If you don't want to be one of the thousands expected to miss trains next week, be careful.

This is the eighth consecutive year that the city council has voted for the changed time, but it was adopted with a provision for a referendum on the issue in November. A referendum in 1923 gave it a substantial majority.

JAIL DRY AGENT ON CHARGES OF DRUNKEN DRIVING

Prohibition Agent Herbert Harris, 5533 Winthrop avenue, went peacefully to sleep last night in a cell at the central detail after he had been arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving.

"Say, loot," he asked a lieutenant two hours later, "will you call the prohibition office and tell them I'm sneezed?"

This was done and Attorney Jay J. McCarthy came to the station to arrange for bail of $1,000 for the prohibition enforcer.

Louis Witkowsky, a taxicab chauffeur, was the complainant. Harris' automobile had crashed into his and he said Harris was asleep at the wheel. Traffic Policeman P. F. Kinkel saw the accident and transferred the sleepy driver to a patrol wagon, which he did not have to drive.

Woman Slain by Trio Invading Her Drink Parlor

Mrs. Lena Chepulis, 28 years old, was shot and killed early today by three men who entered the soft drink parlor which she and her husband conduct at 4453 Honore street. The husband told the police that the men seemed to be intoxicated. They first demanded matches and then one of them started shooting when Mrs. Chepulis reached for a box. She fell with a bullet through the heart and Louis Rizswicz, a boarder, was wounded in the leg. The trio escaped.

Youth Dies in Auto Leap; 3 Students Held

Charges of manslaughter were placed against three Loyola university students yesterday after Peter Klapperick, 412 Central avenue, Wilmette, 19 years old, a freshman at De Paul university, was killed when he leaped or fell from an automobile in which he and the three students were riding.

The death raised the 1926 Cook county motor toll to 227.

The accident occurred near Norwood and Glenwood avenues. Klapperich, the son of Peter J. Klapperich, vice president of the H. P. Rawling Wall Paper company, and an official of the Pan-American Wall Paper company stopped at the Loyola campus while on his way home from school.

Leaps Into Student's Car.

He jumped on the running board of the automobile of James O'Brien, son of James C. O'Brien, 3446 West Adams street, a former assistant state's attorney. In the car were George Wray, 1128 Loyola avenue, son of Robert T. Wray, president and treasurer of the Davis Construction company, and Peter Furlong, 1236 Columbia avenue, a son of Peter J. Furlong, retired policeman, who on Dec. 22, 1925, shot and killed an old pal, Harry Van Middlesworth, in the lobby of the Central Trust company building, where both were employed as watchmen, and then killed himself.

Klapperich apparently thought he was to get a ride home. When he found that O'Brien was going west instead of north, he leaped or fell to the pavement with such force that his skull and jaw were fractured. The three students, after being booked, were released on $5,000 bonds.

Mrs. Virtue Van De Bogert, 7347 Paxton avenue, wealthy owner of a drug store in the Woodlawn district, was arrested for driving while intoxicated after her automobile collided with a parked car at Marquette road and Greenwood avenue.

Tries to Drive at 72; Hurt.

At the age of 72 Joseph L. Jordan, 6738 St. Lawrence avenue, bought a new car. He and his wife, Josephine, 50 years old, took a trial ride last night. At 63d street and Indiana avenue Jordan's automobile ran into a parked car. Mrs. Jordan was thrown against the wind shield and severely cut. Jordan suffered a fractured rib.

Mrs. Delphine Magnan, 6152 Kimbark avenue, a widow and the mother of three small children, was awarded $14,000 damages by a jury in Judge David's court for injuries received two years ago when struck by a truck owned by the Chicago Cinder company.

RIDE IN POLICE WAGON CLIMAXES SORORITY STUNT

Included in the initiation last night of thirteen Austin and Oak Park girls into the Alpha Phi Beta was a ride in the patrol wagon to the Central police station—which was not a part of the regular program. And one of them was Miss Agnes Kelliher, whose father is the captain at that station.

The girls were marshaled by Miss Helen McWeeney, president; Miss Ursula Freeman, secretary, and Miss Mary Conly. They changed into costumes at the Congress hotel and then went up and down Michigan boulevard and Sheridan road. Later they stopped at the Chicago theater and at McVicker's, and sang in the foyers until sent away. Then the police came and took the merry maidens to the station, where, after a lecture, they were released.

Th other girls were Nellie Lindsey, Irene Shiel, Alice Regan, Anna Hergot, Genevieve Daly, Adelaide Henningsen, Kathleen Daugherty, Helen Cuddy, Tillie Cachey, and Irene Jones.

FIRST TRIP ON I. C. ELECTRIC; TEST-OUT RIDE

No Cinders on Train on South Side.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Railway electrification became a fact for Chicago, in a preliminary sense, yesterday. A dozen or more rail men and real estate men, guests of the Illinois Central railroad, took a ride in the afternoon over the I. C. suburban lines near Pullman, and not a one of the travelers got a cinder in his eye, a smudge on his nose, or a piece of coal down his collar.

For it was a test trip, the first public one, over the completed segment of the electrified system, all of which, from Randolph street to Kensington, is expected to be functioning by July 15, and it was significant in that it was the first time an electric locomotive had pulled a train in these smoke-laden parts.

Six cars of the new type—three units of motor car and trailer—were lined up into a train at Pullman, under the prideful direction of Motorman Henry Diedrich, with a 24 years' service record, and Conductor H. B. Darling, who's been with the road 27 years. Electric power for the trip was furnished by the Commonwealth Edison company.

Those in the Party.

Included in the party were James R. Cardwell, president Union Draft Gear company, and the following real estate men interested in land developments along the I. C. suburban lines: Henry E. Hedberg, Newton B. Lauren, Murray Wolbach, John Carroll, W. R. Drennan, Sam Pass, Louis R. Cerf, and J. E. Ehrenhalt.

A. H. Woollen, equipment engineer for the Illinois Central, explained details of the electrification system, from the safety valve of the dead man's handle, by which the power is controlled, to statistics on the number of minutes a year the commuter will save in his duo-daily journeys.

By virtue of electrification, the new cars will have a pickup sufficient to cut down the running time of the trains without increasing their speed. The trains, all of them to be operated in multiples of the two coach unit, of motor car and trailer, will carry six cars for ordinary traffic and a maximum ten coach train for the peak load periods. Station platforms are being enlarged to accommodate the new train arrangement.

Increase of 30 Per Cent.

The 260 new steel coaches, each seating 80 passengers, will provide for an increase of approximately 30 per cent seating capacity. The six tracks from Randolph to 51st street, and the four tracks from there to Kensington, coupled with the increased acceleration of the trains in their pickup, and the plan to isolate suburban service on free tracks, will, it is estimated, reduce time schedules from 15 per cent to 25 per cent.

Because of the newness of the motors Motorman Diedrich yesterday held his special train down to a speed of 50 miles an hour. On the down grade the cars can easily do 57 miles, Mr. Woollen explained, which is well within the maximum safety limit of 65 miles an hour.

"Today's trial trip," said Mr. Cardwell, "is more than a significant achievement of the Illinois Central railroad. It is a forward looking sign for all Chicago railroads operating suburban services, and is, in consequence, a happy day for commuters all over this part of the country."

WILDA BENNETT SECRETLY WEDS CABARET DANCER

New York, April 23.—[Special.]—Wilda Bennett, the actress, against whom a jury returned a verdict of $37,500 last fall in an alienation suit brought by Mrs. Katherine M. Frey of Great Neck, was married in Jersey City, April 11, to Jorahas de Albro, cabaret dancer, better known as "Peppy" de Albro, it was learned today.

Mrs. Frey sued Miss Bennett for $100,000, and at the trial Miss Bennett was accompanied in court by Frey. She testified that she had believed Frey was a bachelor.

Miss Bennett appeared in the title rôle of "Madame Pompadour" after Hope Hampton relinquished the part in Philadelphia.

When De Albro and Miss Bennett obtained the marriage license they both gave their ages as 30. De Albro said he was born in the Argentine. Miss Bennett and her first husband, Robert Schable, were divorced in 1920.

Mystery Shots Riddle Cicero Beauty Parlor

Ten minutes after the standard closing hour of 9 p. m. last night an automobile slowed down in front of Pearl's Beauty Shoppe, at 2208 South Austin boulevard, and from its darkened interior more than 100 bullets from a machine gun were poured into the front windows.

Cicero police, under Chief Theodore Svoboda, a little later counted ninety-two holes in the windows and walls of the beauty parlor.

Claims Customers Had Gone.

Mrs. Pearl Hruby, owner, was in her apartment in the rear. None of the bullets passed through the rear wall of the shop, however. Mrs. Hruby asserted that the front door had been locked promptly at 9 o'clock, according to agreements with other owners of shops, and that the last customer of the evening had departed several minutes before that.

She declared that she knew of no reason for the attack, but was reluctant to give any information. She declined to allow any investigation of the place except that of the Cicero police.

Several bystanders who saw the curtained automobile emerge from an alley said that two customers were in the shop, but thisi s doubted by the authorities. They point out that the bullets were distributed widely and that it would have been almost impossible for any one in the room to escape being wounded.

Unable to Explain Attack.

An automobile, bearing a license plate issued to John Burns, 4705 West 12th place, Cicero, was standing in front of the shop. It was struck by fifteen slugs from the machine gun.

Whether the attack was directed at Mrs. Hruby, possibly for some supposed violation of the code governing the operation of such places, or at her husband, is a matter of speculation. She refused to tell his business connections. One of the guesses is that he may have gained the enmity of some of the gangsters who make their headquarters in Cicero.

FORMER CHICAGO GIRL, STRICKEN IN HOTEL, DIES

Mrs. Margaret Blaisdell, 54 years old, of Great Barrington, Mass., who was found unconscious yesterday in a room at the Hotel Sherman she had engaged two days before, died last night at St. Luke's hospital. The coroner's office report said death was due to poison. Dr. Cyril L. Hale, house physician of the hotel, said there were several bottles of medicine and tablets for the alleviation of pain in Mrs. Blaisdell's room and he thought it probable she might have taken an overdose. Mrs. Blaisdell was before her marriage a Chicago girl. She was the daughter of Charles Gossage, one of the leading merchants of Chicago several decades ago. She was here on business.

Mrs. Blaisdell is survived by her daughter, Sarah, now living at Great Barrington, and two cousins living in Chicago. The latter are Mrs. Dr. Gill and Mrs. Allyn D. Warren, 223 East Delaware place.

COMFORT HOUSE IN INDEPENDENCE BOUL. BOMBED

Two bombs were exploded early this morning in a comfort station being erected by the west parks board in the park between the drives on Independence boulevard, just south of Roosevelt road. The roof of the structure was blown off and the windows shattered.

Park officials said the station is one of a series they are building throughout the west parks system and the work had been let to a contractor. They could give no reason for the bombing. Police, however, found there was some opposition among nearby residents to the site of the station.

BRENNAN WINS AS DRY LAW IS MADE BIG ISSUE

Home Rule Is O.K.'d; World Court Hit.

The Republican State convention at Springfield yesterday adopted a platform which did not mention liquor. It indorsed the Coolidge administration and the Small administration in part. A number of Lundin delegates were seated. Details on page 2.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 23.—[Special.]—Illinois Democrats today put into the state platform a light wines and beer plank, as dripping as the Anti-Volstead platform upon which George E. Brennan launched his race for United States senator.

They acclaimed prohibition as the predominant issue in the state campaign and set forth that the Brennan candidacy on the cry for modification affords the first "real referendum" on the wet and dry question.

There was a lively controversy between downstate drys and the wets.

The vote by which the wet plank was adopted was 182½ to 867½. On the roll call forty-three counties voted wet, twenty voted dry, thirteen were split, and twenty-six counties did not vote.

Wild Cheers for Brennan.

It was the old fashioned sort of convention, with large and enthusiastic crowds. The demonstrations for Mr. Brennan when he appeared behind the reading desk were as lung filled as the house chamber has probably ever echoed.

All the party heroes, Jefferson, Jackson, Grover Cleveland, and Woodrow Wilson, were paraded by Bruce Campbell, the keynoter. The first mention of beer and light wines brought the house to its feet in a flag waving, throat splitting din. Singing calmed them down, the hymn being, "Hail, Hail, the gang's all here," led by a saxaphone and an accordion in the gallery.

Gov. Small came in for a terrific arraignment in the platform. His administration was termed "a stench in the nostrils," and Small was called "the worst governor any state has ever had to endure." The attorney general was called upon to start action to determine by what legal right Gov. Small remains in office. The platform also criticized Col. Frank L. Smith, Republican candidate for the senate, as "a political partner of Small."

George Tells of Himself.

Mr. Brennan was the headliner. Without any oratorical trimmings he gave them a new sort of political speech, a blunt sort of utterance, starting off by saying he was in the insurance business, the oldest manager of a concern of its kind in Chicago, that politics is not his means of support and that running for office has never been one of his ambitions.

Brennan beamed as he told them he was against "pussyfooting" on any issue, and he started off by outlining his position on the world court. Summarized, his declaration was that he was for the league of nations when presented by President Wilson, which was not accepted, and that at this time it would be "folly" to get into the world court.

"If I had been a member of the senate last January," said Mr. Brennan, "I would have voted against the world court. My Republican opponent could have done no more."

Cheer Stand on Court.

This utterance on the world court issue, brought as tumultuous a demonstration from the delegates as did the wet plank later.

Mr. Brennan took up the farm question, and said that if elected he would do everything possible to bring about agricultural improvement, but he disclaimed any intention of posing as a panecea peddler.

Then to the wet and dry question and the effects of prohibition and Volsteadism as revealed after six years of operation.

Opportunity for Referendum.

"Let's have a referendum on the question," he said. "My candidacy offers the opportunity for it."

"A return of the saloons is no part of my proposal. I am opposed to that. I am for temperance and against prohibition."

The controversy between down-state drys and the wets flamed up as soon as the platform was read. Joseph Page of Jerseyville, a veteran editor, who was a bosom friend of the late Roger

C. Sullivan, and is a pal of George Brennan, and has been a Democrat for fifty years, wanted the wet plank thrown out.

"For fifty years," he said, "I've been a Democrat, and never once voted for a Republican ticket or a candidate. Let me talk to you Cook county fellows. There are as many dry Democrats as dry Republicans. I move we strike out the Volstead plank.

Calls It a Mistake.

"On the wet issue George Brennan is a platform in himself. There is no need to nail it in the state platform as Democratic doctrine. This is going to be a mistake."

A Winnebago county delegate, J. A. L. Warren, candidate for congress in the Twelfth district, likewise smote the wet plank, saying it meant nullification.

"Prohibition," he said, "is the child of Democracy, and we cannot lay it on the doorsteps of Republicans to perish."

There were gales of laughter at this, and the decks were cleared for action, each side to have five minutes. Michael L. Igoe, the platform framer, started the debate off.

The Giant of Prohibition.

"I was in the house," said Mr. Igoe, "when the state prohibition bill was passed. The night before, I saw a giant at the Leland bar. I saw him carried into the elevator and put to bed. Next morning I saw him in the house waving a big flag and he made one of the greatest prohibition speeches I ever heard. That's the kind that gave us prohibition."

Anton J. Cermak of Chicago offered an amendment for repeal of the state search and sezure act; a recess was taken, and Cermak changed his clause to make it call for amendment of the Illinois prohibition act in conformity with any modification of the Volstead act. It was regarded as adding nothing to the wet plank—"but I've tried for twenty years to get such a plank in," said Cermak.

The platform went through and university trustees were nominated as follows:

Mrs. Beulah Wilson Campbell, East St. Louis; Frank T. O'Hair, Paris; William Tracy Alden, Chicago.

AMUNDSEN WILL START POLE HOP A MONTH EARLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OSLO, Norway, April 23.—The Byrd polar expedition, due at Tromsoe on Sunday, has hired the polar ship Hobby for assistance between Norway and Spitzbergen.

The Amundsen expedition's ship, the Skaaluren, arrived at King's bay, Spitzbergen, today with Capt. Roald Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, his American partner. The ship's crew had to blast a way through the ice with dynamite. The temperature at Spitzbergen now is 14 degrees below zero.

The Norge, Capt. Amundsen's dirigible, in which he will try to fly to the north pole, is expected to reach Spitzbergen Tuesday or Wednesday. The original plan was for the Norge to start from King's bay at the end of May, but it is now said it will start a week after its arrival, owing to the competition of other expeditions.

BONZANO NAMED POPE'S ENVOY TO CHICAGO MEETING

Cardinal Bonzano, formerly apostolic delegate to the United States, yesterday was named the personal representative of Pope Pius XI to the Eucharistic congress to be held here in June. During his stay in Chicago he will be the guest of Cardinal Mundelein who last night sent him a telegram of congratulation on his appointment.

Cardinal Bonzano is understood to have been named papal delegate because of his wide knowledge of America and its affairs gained through his twelve years' service as the diplomatic representative of the vatican at Washington. During that time he was a visitor to Chicago several times and is well known to numerous Catholic clergymen of the city.

VAUCLAIN, YANK ENGINE BUILDER, GOES TO RUSSIA

[Copyright: 1926: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, April 23.—Samuel Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive works, leaves Paris tomorrow for a month's trip to Russia to see for himself what conditions are under the soviet régime.

"I have confidence in and admiration for the Russians," Mr. Vauclain said, "and I am going to Russia only on an observation tour. I have no other intentions and I am not seeking business."

The locomotive builder said labor expenses in America would preclude any hope of selling machines to the Russians, and added he did not intend to try to install a factory in Russia. He denied rumors that he is interested in Russian oil.

HAIR ON HEAD FAILING? RATS SUPPLY CLEWS

That everlasting hope that a man will not become bald headed was considerably increased last night by reports of Hsi Chun Chang of the physiology laboratory of the University of Chicago before the Institute of Medicine at the City club.

Following several experiments of removing the thyroid gland from rats, Mr. Chang reported they lost hair. Upon feeding a suitable amount of desiccated thyroid to the animals he found the growth of the hair was normal.

Undernourished animals also suffered from poor growth of hair, but growth was accelerated by feeding them a thyroid preparation.

Women Quit Razors; Rub Legs with Pumice Stone

BRENNAN GIVES VIEWS ON COURT AND PROHIBITION

Launches Campaign with Home Rule Plea.

Springfield, Ill., April 23.—[Special.]—George E. Brennan, in his first speech to "his fellow citizens of Illinois," as Democratic nominee for the U. S. senate, spoke of the charge of bipartisanship that has been raised.

"I was bipartisan in 1921," he said, "when the Small-Lundin-Thompson machine in Cook county, drunk with power, sought to supplant ten Republican judges of long and faithful service with ten pliant tools of the machine. The integrity of the Cook county judiciary was threatened. I believed then as now, that the bench should be free from partisan political control. Therefore, in the face of much opposition in my own party, I became responsible for having those ten Republican judges nominated by the Democratic convention along with ten Democrats. They were elected by more than 100,000 majority and were saved for further honorable service to the people.

Fought for Home Rule.

"I was bipartisan when Gov. Small fathered a state tax commission bill that would have destroyed home rule in the assessment of property for taxation in every county in the state. I have been bipartisan in like circumstances at other times and expect to be again. I am a citizen before I am a partisan.

"My candidacy for United States senator is on that basis. It is an appeal to citizenship first—an appeal to the open eyed men and women of all parties who can squarely face facts and vote without party prejudice for the common good."

Continuing, Mr. Brennan took up the issue of the world court. He spoke of his admiration for the ideals of Woodrow Wilson.

"When Woodrow Wilson," he said, "sought to establish the league of nations, he sought to do a great thing for the human race and for civilization. He sought to put war out of the world.

Not Rightly Accepted.

"If the political leaders of Europe and America had accepted the league of nations idea with the same sincerity in which it was proposed there is no reason for doubting that at least a beginning to make it workable might have been effected. That did not happen.

"In the years that have passed, the import and significance of Woodrow Wilson's conception appear to have been forgotten by the political and governmental leaders of the principal nations which pretend to adhere to the league of nations.

"On every hand there is mutual distrust and suspicion, where there is not open enmity. New wars are contemplated before the wounds of the last war are healed. In these circumstances, and until there is a clearing in the political atmosphere in Europe, it is folly for this country to become entangled in any part of the league of nations machinery, including the so-called world court.

"Because of these circumstances, if I had been a member of the senate in January, I would have voted against the world court resolution. My Republican opponent could have done no more. On this question there is no issue between him and me. If he still attempts to make the world court an issue, his quarrel is with his own party platform and President Coolidge."

Mr. Brennan then took up the farm problem and said: "While I am not posing as the Moses who will solve all these perplexing difficulties, I do say that if anybody has a plan or a program that will assure better prices to the farmer for what he raises, and particularly a larger share of the profits of his toil, I shall be for it."

Chicago and Downstate.

Touching other issues he said he was "for home rule for the cities of Illinois. You may ask, what has the senatorship to do with home rule? My answer is this:

"The interests of his state, as a state, are among the chief concerns of a United States senator. The best interests of Illinois are not well served by the continuance of conditions that are typified in the situation in Chicago. It is only simple justice to let that great city, or any other city, govern itself in these details that are peculiar to itself and in which it pays all the cost of government.

"There is no good reason why the people of Chicago and of downstate should ever be at cross purposes. We belong to one another. There is no hostility in Chicago to downstate people or interests. If there is downstate hostility or suspicion of Chicago it is not well founded.

"Downstate interests cannot be harmed by conceding to Chicago and Cook county their constitutional proportion of representation in the state legislature and in congress. That representation will not be [illegible] I feel confident, to the disadvantage of downstate, and possession of it will strengthen the bonds of unity and cooperation throughout the whole state. As a United States senator I would deem it my duty to employ all of the influence of the office in promoting this closer harmony.

"I am making repeal or modification of the Volstead act the dominant issue of my candidacy, because the people of the United States have given it that rank. It is the one question uppermost in everybody's mind from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the gulf.

"Since this is so—and who can deny it—let us have a referendum on the question. My candidacy offers the opportunity for it. My election will assure congressional action. It will signify more than just another vote on the senate roll call. When Illinois votes to end the disgrace of Volsteadism, as I believe it will, the federal law makers will no longer fear to vote their convictions.

"Wipe Out Volsteadism."

"Volsteadism should be wiped out because it is in conflict with good legislative and governmental practice as well as in conflict with the fundamentals of human nature. It is admitted that the act cannot be enforced by federal authority alone.

"The question is not whether the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquor shall be prohibited and prevented. It has been proved, it has been admitted by the prohibition officials—that prohibition as represented by the Volstead act is impossible. The question is therefore whether we shall continue a pretense of prohibition that makes millionaires of bootleggers and that regulates the sale of alcoholic liquors, not by law, but by the power of gunmen and murderers in the employ of bootleggers.

"Drunkenness has increased especially among the youth of the land. Crime wave after crime wave has swept acros sthe country. Corruption among employés of the government has reached unheard of proportions. Moonshining and bootlegging have been developed and stabilized as millionaire making industries. Thousands upon thousands have been blinded, crazed and killed by the poisonous concoctions brought into existence through Volsteadism.

"Volsteadism is destroying respect for all law and for government itself. Among the youth of the land—girls as well as boys—it is producing conditions that make fathers tremble and cause mothers to weep in agony.

"Is the picture overdrawn? Look around you. Then read the answer in your own hearts. The sensible, the honest thing to do, is to modify or repeal this unenforceable statute and restore to the states their rights in this field of purely domestic legislation.

"A return of the saloon is no part of my proposal. I am opposed to that. I stand for such modification of the Volstead act as will permit the lawful manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. I am for temperance and against prohibition.

"Having become a candidate for United States senator, I shall do the best I can to win. My appeal is to the common sense patriotism of Illinois—to the citizenship that loves liberty and hates hypocrisy—to the men and women who can look facts squarely in the face and vote without party prejudice for the good of all when they go to the polls election day."

HIGH POINTS OF DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN PLATFORMS

Springfield, Ill., April 23.—[Special.]—The more important planks in the Democratic state platform, as adopted today, follow:

FARMS—The farmers carried their case to President Coolidge and he came to Chicago a few months ago and offered the farmers no relief of any kind, but told them to get together and coöperate and do the best they could for themselves. He offered them nothing. The Republicans in congress, under orders from the White House, are getting ready to adjourn without giving the farmers any adequate or beneficial relief. We believe that if the government, by tariff, puts up the price for the eastern manufacturer and for the labor he employs; if the government by law puts up railroad rates, so that the railroads shall not lose money, then we contend that the government shall enact appropriate legislation so that the farmers, who are the bone and sinew of the nation, shall not be sacrificed.

VOLSTEAD ACT—We favor the modification of the Volstead act so as to permit the people of the several states, in the exercise of their sovereignty, to authorize the lawful manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. We favor practical temperance rather than theoretical prohibition. We pledge the Democratic party to amend the Illinois prohibition act in conformity with any modification, of the Volstead act.

SMALL.—The administration of Len Small for the past five years has been a stench in the nostrils of all self-respecting citizens of Illinois. Extravagance has permeated every department of the state, so that, excluding expenditures for roads, waterways, and soldiers' bonus, the annual expenditures for the state government have been more than twice as much as they were during the last Democratic state administration.

Small has disqualified himself from continuing to hold the office of governor by reason of a violation of the constitutional provision making ineligible for state office any person who unlawfully withholds money from the public treasury. He has prostituted his office by extorting contributions from state employés for the ostensible purpose of paying one million dollars which the Supreme court has held that he owes the state, but in reality to buy the next general assembly to prevent his impeachment.

Extravagance and inefficiency has been the watchword of his administration and pardons have been given for corrupt political purposes. Through these methods, Small has built up a corrupt political machine so that the decent element of the Republican party are no longer able to cope with it. Decency and a proper regard for the fair name of the state of Illinois demand that this intolerable situation cease.

The only relief lies in the success of the Democratic party, and we call upon all self-respecting Republicans to unite with us in our efforts, so that Small and Smallism may be forever banished from the state, we pledge the dence of our good faith we pledge the people of Illinois that the Democratic members of the next general assembly will support a rule that will require each state official and each department to furnish an itemized statement of all expenditures made from appropriations.

We further pledge that the Democratic members of the next general assembly will join with Republicans, who are opposed to Small's methods of government, in organizing the general assembly to the end that his corrupt control thereof may be ended.

We demand that the attorney general institute proceedings to determine by what legal right Small is holding the office of governor. It is our view that this is a public duty which should be performed by the attorney general without further delay, and in any movement that he may make to that end we pledge him the full support of the Democratic party.

SMITH AND SMALL.—The people of the state of Illinois would like to known the reason why Small, in the last hours of the recent senatorial campaign, threw the whole weight of his administration's influence into the breach for Frank Smith. We charge that Smith's nomination was due exclusively to his alliance with Small and the notorious Lundin; that such alliance was responsible for his overwhelming victory in Small's home county, Kankakee.

We charge, moreover, that Smith, because of his long association with Small's administration, as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, must accept his full share of responsibility for the crimes of omission and commission of that administration.

We believe that there is no better time than now to begin erasing every vestige of Small influence in the state of Illinois, and that the best way to begin is to see to it that Small's political partner and official subordinate be defeated at the polls in November. No self-respecting citizen can conceive of Small's influence and power reaching into the United States senate through the person of his choice at the primary election.

REAPPORTIONMENT.—Our constitution requires the general assembly to reapportion the state each ten years. There has been no congressional or senatorial reapportionment since 1901. We enter our solemn protest against the continuance of this indefensible conduct and demand that the next general assembly shall immediately, upon affecting an organization, proceed to reapportion the state as to senatorial and congressional districts.

HOME RULE.—In accordance with Democratic principle of state rights and free and unhampered local self-government, we favor the greatest measure of home rule for the cities of our state, including the right to regulate and control their local public utilities.

WATERWAYS.—We favor the immediate construction of an adequate waterway system.

HIGHWAYS.—We favor the extension of hard surfaced highway until every area of the state has been included in its blessings. It is unfortunate for Illinois that for five years hard road planning and construction have been subject to the political necessities of the executive head of our state administration. Roads have been traded for influence and votes in every area of the state.

Other planks favor: Separate ballots for state and national candidates. A state farm colony for subnormal children. Generous appropriations for charity and education. Adoption of the revenue amendment in November. Laber and women are given recognition in special planks.

THE REPUBLICAN DOCTRINE

Springfield, Ill., April 23.—[Special.]—The seven main planks of the Republican state convention follow:

LEAGUE AND COURT.—Participation by the United States in the affairs of the league of nations is repugnant to the doctrines laid down by the founders of the republic and jealously adhered to during the entire life of our nation. Because the permanent court of international justice was created by and is the judicial arm of the league of nations, our adherence to this court must inevitably require us to participate in the affairs of the league. [The Hague court of arbitration is approved.]

COOLIDGE.—We reaffirm our faith in the principals and doctrines of our party and declare our belief that the prosperity and progress of the nation require the continuing guidance of a Republican executive and a Republican congress. President Coolidge's administration, his economy program in particular, is lauded.

NATIONAL POLICIES.—Continued tax reduction; maintenance of the protective tariff; a minimum of government interference in the private business and the rights of labor; complete recognition of the equality of the citizenship of women; war veteran relief; protection of the states from federal intrusion on their inherent rights; protection of citizens from mob violence; proper regulation of transportation; promotion of commercial aviation; extension of the merit system; honest enforcement of laws.

MIDDLE WEST.—Emergency legislation for the establishment of federal agencies effectively to control the distribution of our exportable surplus of farm products in such manner as will restore the industry to a profitable basis and give to the producer an American price for his products, the loss, if any, of such control of surplus distribution to be born by the producer. This we deem to be imperative for the preservation of the greatest industry of our state, and to be essential to the welfare of the middle west, of the nation and of our party.

TRANSPORTATION. — Completion of lakes to gulf waterways. An increase in Panama canal toll rates to minimize discrimination against the middle west in transportation charges.

SMALL ADMINISTRATION. — The state administration is lauded for good roads, regulation of utilities, protection of health, care of state dependents, veteran relief, aid to schools, progress on the waterway, fair treatment of labor.

TAXATION. — We believe there should be concerted and coöperative efforts among state, county, and municipal bodies to lighten the burden of taxation, and pledge Republican officials to this course. Also, to permit the equal distribution of our tax burden, we recommend the proposed amendment to our state constitution which will be submitted to the voters in November.

Smith Steers G. O. P. Ship Clear of Lundin Typhoon

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 23.—[Special.]—Frank L. Smith steered the Illinois G. O. P. through dangerous waters today and came out on a smooth sea after a Lundin typhoon threatened to rip the old Republican ship from stem to stern.

The Republican state convention was about the tamest conclave the party ever staged in Illinois, but to make it so Smith, chairman of the state committee and nominee for United States senator, had to live up to his reputation as a party harmonizer.

Smith both gave and received concessions to prevent a party row. When the program was finally worked out behind closed doors, the convention met in the state arsenal an hour and forty minutes behind schedule, the delegates hurried through with the state platform, renominated the three university trustees whose terms expire this year, and adjourned sine die. There will be no fall convention.

What the Convention Did.

High lights of the convention include:

A complete sidestepping of prohibition as a state issue.

Seating of a bobtailed Cook county delegation of 361 Lundin delegates, less than half the 792 delegates to which the county was entitled.

A short indorsement of Gov. Len Small's state administration with some of the more controversial subjects omitted.

An indorsement of President Coolidge and the Republican majorities in congress and reaffirmation of faith in the basic doctrines of the Republican party.

A declaration against American adherence to the world court.

A program for the middle west, including farm relief, speedy completion of the Mississippi valley waterway system, and a sufficient increase in Panama canal tolls to minimize discrimination against the middle west in transportation charges.

Indorsement of the proposed revenue amendment to the Illinois constitution.

Lundin Sticks on Job.

Fred Lundin came to the convention as chairman for the Lake county delegation and as boss of the Cook county delegates named by the Morrison hotel rump convention of the Lundin (1920) committee called by Secretary Charles J. (Doc) Peters last Monday.

But Smith and his following would recognize only those fifteen wards and one country town district (Evanston) actually represented at the Morrison convention, insisting that the wards whose committeemen went into the buffer convention called by Vice Chairman Andrew Metzger as a side show to the Crowe-Barrett county convention the same day could not be deprived of their rights, although they, as well as regular Crowe-Barrett-Galpin 1916 committee, declined to send a delegation to the state convention.

Deserted by more than one-half of the original 1920 committee, Lundin was compelled to accept conditions as he found them. Cook county was represented on the old 35 ward basis.

The 1924 state convention had established precedent by recognizing the 1920 committee as the official committee for Cook county.

With his remnants still in good standing, Lundin, with Gov. Small, was willing to accept the balance of Smith's program on condition that the governor's administration received sufficient attention.

Gov. Small also insisted on renomination of Dr. William L. Noble of Evanston as university trustee instead of E. E. Barnett of Chicago, suggested by the Alumni association. Dr. Noble, with Mrs. Helen Matthews Grigsby of Pittsfield and Mrs. Laura B. Evans of Taylorville, were renominated.

Gov. Small was the only speaker to hint at a wet and dry issue in the coming campaign. In taking a rap at the Democrats he said their program "began with bunk and ended with booze."

Smith Opposes Court.

Col. Smith, addressing the convention while the resolutions committee deliberated on the question of a platform, vigorously reiterated his opposition to the entry of America into the world court.

"Let us keep out of the strife and political maneuvering of European countries by following to the letter the international doctrine and policies of such foremost American statesmen as Washington, Jefferson, and Monroe," he said.

He did not mention Gov. Small's administration or reapportionment.

"SELF-DEFENSE" FREES CHAUFFEUR WHO KILLED FARE

Charles C. Meek, a taxicab driver, was found not guilty of the murder of Carl A. Zetterberg by a jury last night in Judge William V. Brother's court.

Meek's defense was that he had driven Zetterberg, a stone cutter who lived in Schiller Park, to a number of roadhouses and that when he finally stopped at one and asked his fare of $6.95, Zetterberg assaulted him. That occurred on Oct. 24, 1925, and Meek admitted on the witness stand that he had shot Zetterberg.

His attorney, Martin Walsh, made a plea of self-defense which was accepted by the jury. The state, at the beginning of the trial, had announced that a hanging verdict would be asked, but in closing arguments had not pressed for such a verdict.

Girl Scouts Sponsor Two Plays This Afternoon

The dramatic class of the Association House settlement, 2150 North avenue, under the auspices of Girl Scout Troops 3 and 5 of St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston, will give two plays this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the St. Luke's parish house, Evanston. The first of the plays is "The Piper's Pay," by Margaret Cameron, and the second "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," by Eulera Jennings. Both have been directed by Mrs. Viola Walrath. The proceeds will be divided among the Ida Shaffer memorial fund, the Association House settlement, and the Girl Scout troops.

MRS. ZALIMAS IS ACQUITTED OF SLAYING MATE

Embraces Jurors After Second Murder Trial.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Buddy Jones, robbery, sentenced to 10 years to life in the penitentiary by Judge John P. McGoorty.

Bursting into hysterical sobs and cries as the verdict acquitting her of the death of her husband, Dominic, was read, blonde and buxom Mrs. Bernice Zalimas yesterday tossed to the winds what little restraint there is in her emotional makeup. She rushed to the jurors, threw both arms about the necks of those nearest her, embracing them fervently in her exuberance.

The plump, baldheaded, and bespectacled jurors thus saluted smiled fatuously and a trifle foolishly. Others moved up closer, while the bashful few sidled toward the exit, and an impressionable male reporter murmured, "O, to be a juror!"

Out Over Two Hours.

Two hours and a half were occupied by the jury in deliberating on the evidence introduced before Judge Worth E. Caylor in the second trial of the personable Lithuanian cloak model, who nearly a year ago was convicted of the murder and sentenced to fourteen years in prison. The Supreme court reversed the verdict and ordered a new trial.

None of several dramatic incidents during the last days of the trial had a more petrifying effect on the courtroom than the action of Eugene McGarry, defense attorney in both trials, who during his closing argument asserted his belief that aresenic taken in small quantities, such as was found in the vital organs of Zalimas, would not be fatal.

On the suggestion of Assistant States Attorney Harold Levy, McGarry swept up in his fingers some white powder alleged to be poison, an exhibit at the trial, and swallowed it. Some time later he collapsed, sobbing, but it developed that he had merely been overcome by his own emotions.

Going to Leave City.

"I prayed to God, and he answered my prayer," Mrs. Zalimas said, beaming with smiles. "Now I have got justice, and I am going to leave Chicago for a while, and try and forget all about it. I may go to New York, perhaps to Europe—I don't know. But I'm going away somewhere right away."

Dominic Zalimas died on November 19, 1924, five months after his marriage. His 23 year old wife was held to the grand jury when a coroner's physician reported having found arsenic in his stomach. She was accused of having poisoned her husband because of love for Leo Kalinowski, a baker.

Attorney McGarry in closing his case attacked bitterly the finding of the physician, William D. McNally, charging that McNally had juggled the decimal point in the figure showing the amount of arsenic discovered during the post mortem, and declaring that Dr. Irving Porges, another physician, had been prepared to testify that pneumonia was the cause of death, before hearing that Dr. McNally reported his findings.

REALTY MAN CALLED FORGER.

August Kuehn, 58, a real estate salesman, 3215 Leland avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of a $300 check forgery.

COUNTY WINS SKOKIE MARSH FIGHT IN COURT

Tract to Be Part of Forest Preserve.

Skokie valley, famous for its picturesque marshlands, will be preserved as a playground for the citizens of Cook county instead of being converted into a new north shore residential district, Superior Judge Michael L. McKinley ruled yesterday.

The judge dismissed a petition for an injunction brought by W. D. Washburne, 1014 Sheridan road, Evanston, against the forest preserve commission. He tried to restrain the condemnation of 2,020 acres in the Skokie swamp so that it might be made into a forest preserve.

Funds Idle Since 1921.

As a result of the ruling the forest preserve commissioners will take immediate steps to condemn the property and purchase it from the present owners. The funds provided have laid idle since 1921 because of litigation. When the county obtains title to the land artificial lakes will be constructed, paths will penetrate every acre of the property, and a golf course will be laid out.

Testimony at the trial revealed that the valley is a unique beauty spot in the middle west. Rare plant life and almost innumerable species of birds are found there in such abundance that students from all the middle western universities visit the marsh to study.

It was Skokie's scenic beauty, its flaming sunsets in particular, which caused the long delay. Attorney Washburne, represented by former Judge Lorin C. Collins, filed a petition claiming that the wealthy residents of Winnetka and Glencoe, whose mansions line the east side of the valley, did not wish to lose the view of delightful sunsets over the valley. Fearing that the marsh would be drained, subdivided, and built up with small homes, these home owners used their wealth and influence to force the county board to condemn the tract, the bill charged.

To Be City's Playground.

Evidence offered at the hearing, however, by Attorneys Ross Hall, Edwin Walker, and George Mason, representing the forest preserve commission, convinced Judge McKinley that the commission was within its rights in condemning the property. Moreover, the judge predicted in his decision that within twenty years the Skokie preserve would be Chicago's greatest playground.

Professors from the universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, and Chicago testified that the plant and bird life of the marsh made it an object of unusual interest. Nearly 300 species of flowers grow there, and the place is visited by 125 different types of birds.

Ten Boys in Family

Because they have a family of ten strapping boys, they also have a fine chance to win first prize offered by George W. Dixon through the Boys' Week federation for the largest family of boys in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Connors of 9314 Constance avenue, believe. So they have entered the lists of competitors by sending in the names and ages of the boys to the federation at 21 North La Salle street.

Beginning with Thomas, who is 29, the boys are George, 27; Harry, 25; Roy, 23; Earl, 21; Archie, 19; Frank, 16; John, 9; William, 7, and Fred, 4 years old. Each of the boys, and their father before them, was born and reared in South Chicago. Mrs. Connors is a native of Wisconsin.

The two older boys are married and have children of their own. They reside in the same neighborhood as their parents.

Heretic Bishop to Address Chicago Reds on May Day

Chicago Communists will celebrate May day, internationally observed on May 1 by so-called revolutionary proletarian organizations, this year in the Coliseum. William Montgomery Brown, former Episcopal bishop, who was unfrocked by his church for heresy, is scheduled to make the principal address. Chicago members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America will celebrate with a program of music in Ashland auditorium. Cyrena Van Gordon and musicians of the Chicago Symphony orchestra have been engaged.

SEES AIR TRAVEL EXTENDING ZONE FOR COMMUTING

The commuting zone will be extended 100 miles within the next ten years was the forecast made yesterday by Lee Thompson Smith, president of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, in a speech before a meeting of the Chicago Managers' association.

Smith said the airplane is rapidly becoming a vital factor in the development of cities and far sighted owners of downtown properties, he asserted, will guard the values of their land and buildings by assisting in the nation-wide movement to establish landing fields within easy access of business districts.

Chicagoans, asserted Smith, have a comparatively easy solution of the problem, pointing out that he had been informed that land can be made east of the loop by filling in some of the lake shore line for less money than it would cost to purchase land anywhere within eight miles of the loop district.

REVIVE PLAN TO CONSOLIDATE 2 BIG LOOP BANKS

After lying dormant for several years plans for a merger of two of Chicago's downtown banks have been revived. Negotiations for a consolidation of the State Bank of Chicago and the Central Trust Company of Illinois are being conducted, but probably will not reach a final stage for several weeks.

Officials of both banks said yesterday that the merger seems probable, though actual consolidation is not expected for two or three years, during which the State Bank of Chicago will erect its recently announced skyscraper at La Salle and Monroe streets.

The gossip of La Salle street yesterday was that if the consolidation goes through Joseph E. Otis, president of the Central Trust, will become chairman of the merged banks, while Henry A. Haugan, president of the state bank, would retain the same title. The Central Trust has had no chairman of directors since Charles G. Dawes relinquished the position on becoming Vice President of the United States.

DEVER WARNS OF PUBLIC REVOLT ON HOME SEARCH

Law May Go Too Far, He Tells Senators.

newspapers carried whole columns about what was said nere the other day, and that was what brought me down here to answer the charges made. And I answer them today as I answered a moment ago what you referred to; that it is absolutely and unqualifiedly untrue.

Then came the mayor's sharp criticism of the state courts:

"These state judges have to go before the Chicago community for nomination and for election. They have got to get the votes of the Chicago community. The Chicago city administration is enforcing an unpopular law. The judges, being human, see what is going on. They know they are going to come up for reëlection.

"They know that if they are with the unpopular law they are going to be beaten for office, so they react humanly and make it difficult for us to succeed, in a large way, before some of them—not all of them."

Conditions Bad in County.

Conditions are better in Chicago proper, the mayor asserted and reasserted, but in some of the independent Cook county towns round about Chicago, scandalous.

This was his summing up on Chicago proper:

"It is obvious to any man, no matter how prejudiced he may be, that they (the organized bootleggers) have been driven out of Chicago, because when we went into office they were up one street and down another, going concerns in a thousand places, and there are none there now. If you want to buy liquor in Chicago you have to search for it; you have to get a taxi driver or some initiated person to get it for you. It is driven out of Chicago, and I know what I am talking about.

Towns Cause Dever to Despair.

But certain independent county towns that really are a part of Chicago, although not under Chicago jurisdiction, are his despair, and he said:

"Beyond the limits of Chicago is a series, all around the city, of fast growing communities, villages, and towns. Never, at any time, has there been any effort on the part of either local, federal, or county officials to enforce the law in those great communities except in cities like Evanston and Oak Park, where they have always had fine, clean, progressive government."

To the badly governed independent county towns the bootleggers have gone and this is what has happened, Dever testified:

"All about us, and running out into the country, is a whole horde of places that have no business to exist any place in any civilized community. They are to the last degree as vile as anything can be. And no effort to suppress them at all by anybody!"

Says Dry Act Makes Cowards.

The mayor did not confine his testimony to the scandal of illicit liquor as actually drunk but tried to impress on the senators the effect which present efforts to enforce the law in the face of a large amount of popular dissent are having on public men and the public service.

One of those effects was to make judges and aldermen cowards.

"A young American," he said, "takes his place in the Chicago city council or upon the Chicago bench. He knows that if he is honest in his efforts to enforce the liquor laws he will serve only one term, provided he comes from certain districts in the locality. It is just as plain as the fact that we are standing here today and has been a very depressing circumstance with us in Chicago.

Selected on Volstead Views.

"I say to you gentlemen that the personnel of our city council is selected in large measure upon the views members of that body may have on the prohibition question. There are certain wards in which a man cannot be elected if he says he favors modification of the Volstead law. It does not make any difference how able he is, it does not make a particle of difference that he has lived a long and creditable life of great public service; if he dares to say in that ward that he favors modification, he will assuredly be defeated.

"And it is quite within the range of prpbability that there will be elected in his stead some incompetent man who simply has taken the popular side of the prohibition question. The converse is as true. In certain wards it is hopeless to expect to elect a man who would have the temerity to say that he is a prohibitionist.

"Municipal government, which has become of such supreme importance in the progress of the nation, is deteriorating rapidly, and must deteriorate, because the men getting into public office are coming in on such an unethical, or at least an unscientific, program."

Senators Ask Recommendations.

Those sentences the mayor uttered with deep earnestness. His tone was grave and his manner vigorous. He leaned half across the table where the four senators—Reed of Missouri, Harreld of Oklahoma, Goff of West Virginia, and Gillett of Massachusetts—confronted him and looked straight into the antagonistic Harreld's eyes.

They asked him for his recommendations, for his suggestions for betterment, and for any light of experience that would help to clear the present distracting situation.

He replied:

"What we need is this: Patient, courageous, intelligent, tolerant study of the whole problem. There is not a man in America who has any right to come before you and dogmatically say that this or that is the way to cure this evil.

"But I have the very definite belief, developed out of an experience that has come to but few men, that something should be done."

Good Government Periled.

Then he unfolded phases of his own desolating experience, saying:

"It is an every day, yes, an hourly, difficulty with us in Chicago—this prohibition enforcement problem. The mayor of that city has great power. He is responsible for the school board, the library board, the great hospitals, the police, the fire department, and yet, notwithstanding the growing need for attention to these highly important matters, our attention is engrossed from morning until night with this particular subject of liquor law enforcement.

"It is almost impossible to give anything approaching good government along general lines while this one subject presses so strongly upon our attention. I find myself immersed in it to the very great damage to the city.

"Ponder this: That often, O, so very often, the minds we have to deal with are gentlemen who have forced their way into public service because of the attitude they have taken, one way or the other, on this prohibition question.

Hopes for Better Day.

"I am hoping for a day when our efforts may be given to something else. I have a human longing either to pass the burden of this great subject on to somebody else or, from the aid of constructive legislation, to be relieved of its annoyance.

"I am asking for that measure of relief that will save our great cities. It can be done. It was done in Canada. I am not urging Canada's program at all, for I do not know what you ought to do, but that you ought to do something seems to me as clear as the noonday sun."

One first and definite thing he felt sure should be done and that is, "Drive ballyhooing and blah out of the consideration of the question."

Olson was again his target when he fired that shot.

"Mr. Olson says," said the mayor, "that 5,000 stills are operated in Chicago now. He took a comfortable round number. He might just as well have said 10,000. The fact is, they are known to be widespread in Chicago, as in every other city of the country. No man knows whether there are 5,000 or 8,000 or 10,000 or 2,000 stills in Chicago.

Against Raids on Homes.

One thing that the mayor was sure ought not to be done, and that he would never do, was to release his police upon the homes of Chicago without search warrants; a thing, however, he has been asked to do.

"Why, Mr. Chairman," he exclaimed. "Suppose I were to authorize Chief Collins to drive into these private homes of our citizens with his police force, and with sledge hammers break in, if necessary, what would be the effect socially upon our organization in Chicago? What would happen in the way of law and order and government——"

Senator Reed interjected: "What would be the effect upon the constitutional rights of the people?"

"If we are going to drop everything else, and if we are going to violate, if not the letter, certainly the spirit of our institutions by the wholesale use of search warrants, we will be striking a fatal blow at the integrity of government itself, and I want to say that I am not for it and I will not be for it while I am the mayor of Chicago."

Again Senator Reed: "Suppose you were to undertake to stop these stills with the police, as Olson said he could do in twenty-four hours, could you wait to get search warrants at all?"

MAYOR DEVER—They have asked us, and they have asked the chief of police of Chicago within three weeks, to make a drive into private homes and tear these things out without search warrants. The chief brought the problem to me, and I said: "We claim that we are for law enforcement. We claim that we are trying to bring about respect for law and order in Chicago. Do not you dare to violate the law." We will not violate the law.

Then more hammering of the federal government's chief of law enforcement in the northern district of Illinois.

"Mr. Olson's statements are impracticable, untrue as a matter of fact. The police could not do it. The police will not do it. If it means that we must invade the homes of our people we won't do it, and we will make no pretense to do it."

Calls Situation Desperate.

Reverting to his analysis of the effect of prohibition on the selection of men for public office, Dever said:

"That is the desperate situation in this country today. It affects not only the mayor of Chicago, but all our judges, our state's attorney, our great county organization—it affects the whole structure of government in that great city."

Only study and good feeling and earnestness and the bringing together of the contending forces can provide any real solution, the mayor declared, and, taking a leaf out of the home book, he told the senators one thing that could not be done: "You cannot have successful government in Chicago if we impose upon the people laws, however wise we think they are, that the people themselves do not want. If you attempt to do so you will bring about pandemonium, and we have pretty nearly reached that stage in our municipal progress at this time.

"There is a time when public opinion will not stand for even legal methods if they become too oppressive."

Andrews Is Optimistic.

Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, in charge of enforcement, followed Mayor Dever, and will again testify tomorrow, the closing day of these three weeks of hearings. Today Gen. Andrews testified that owing to better coöperation between his force and the coast guard the notorious "rum row" is practically dissipated.

He also feels that the result of the new Canadian treaty will be the stopping "in a very short time" of the smuggling of intoxicating beverages. The abuse of the sacramental wine privileges has also been hard hit. A new regulation had resulted in a reduction of more than 50 per cent in the amount of sacramental wines, he said.

Formula No. 6 for a completely denatured alcohol the general has wiped out. That brand of alcohol was as free for distribution at first as water, because it was thought that it could not by any possibility be renatured for beverage use. But Gen. Andrews found that such ingenuity, ability, and money had been used in making a new kind of still that only one-half of one per cent of wood alcohol was to be detected in the beverage that the new stills made. So he had to withdraw the formula.

CITY WELCOMES DEFENDER DEVER AS HERO TODAY

Parade Planned to Show Joy Over Testimony.

Homeward bound after his two day fight for "the fair name of Chicago," Mayor Dever will receive a welcome here this morning expected to eclipse any like reception ever given to an official of the city.

Cheers of thousands of people, it is predicted, accentuated by band music, will be the first greeting as the mayor and Chief of Police Collins step off the Capitol limited at the Grand Central station at 9 a. m. Speeches, a loop parade, and a reception at the city hall will follow.

Final plans for the homecoming welcome were laid last night at the Association of Commerce, which has appointed a committee of prominent business men to supervise the ceremonies. William R. Dawes, president of the association, will head the committee.

Great Reception Is Due Him.

"Mayor Dever, in a national way, has cleared the charges against our city," a statement issued by the committee said. "Chicago owes him a reception commensurate with the great public service he has rendered."

Orders were sent out from the police department detailing a squad of twenty-five men to patrol the station and another squad of the same size to care for the city hall. Motorcycle policemen, followed by the police band, will lead the parade.

Leaving the station, the procession will move north to Wells street, to Jackson, east on Jackson to La Salle, and thence north to the La Salle street entrance of the city hall.

Reception Committee Named.

Members of the reception committee, in addition to Mr. Dawes, will be W. H. Mann, George Hull Porter, George Woodruff, George Rossetter, W. E. Pierce, William Eastman, George Foster, John D. Black, John W. Thomas, T. J. Wright, John T. Conley, F. A. Mitchell, C. R. Hammond, R. I. Randolph, and W. J. Kelly.

In all parts of the city yesterday the mayor's testimony before the senate wet and dry committee, that Chicago is doing everything in its power to enforce the dry act, but has found the task almost impossible, was a leading topic of conversation.

Sentiment, especially in the city hall, seemed to be overwhelmingly in accord with his attitude. With but one or two exceptions, members of the city council agreed with the mayor.

"So far as I can see, the trip was both timely and effective," asserted Ald. Ernest M. Cross [10th]. "I agree with Mayor Dever that Chicago has done its best to enforce prohibition, but that it is unenforcible. I believe a majority of the people feel the same way."

The statement of Ald. Cross was typical of a score of others made by councilmen from various wards. Although several thought the impression made by the mayor may be overemphasized, prevalence of sentiment against the blaming of Chicago for the failures of the Volstead act was strong.

"I think it's time the police stopped snooping around for hip flasks and basement stills and put in their time catching criminals," declared Ald. John Toman [23d]. "That's what they're hired for—to get the crooks, not to enforce fool reform laws. The mayor is right when he says booze can't be dried up. I'm for him."

Mills on Opposite Side.

Ald. Wiley W. Mills [37th], representing the minority, refused to censure the mayor's trip, but declared that "there is nothing to justify the claim that the prevalence of crime in Chicago is due to prohibition."

Ald. Mills said the present reaction against Volsteadism is misguided. The chief causes of crime, he said, are not reform laws, but the lack of employment, war psychology, the automobile and insufficient prosecution of law violations.

MOTHER DISCOVERS HER MISSING SON IN RADIO SHOP IN LOOP

JOHN S. MECK.

Nearly five months ago John S. Meck, 18 year old Northwestern university student, disappeared from his home in Glencoe. Detectives were engaged and a frantic search was made. Yesterday he was found. His hiding place was a radio shop at 8 South Dearborn street, not far from the center of the loop.

It was his mother, Mrs. S. R. Meck, who found him. She remembered that he had been dissatisfied as a student and often asserted that he wanted to learn the radio business. So she circularized all the radio stores and factories in Chicago. Young Meck's employers informed her he was at work in their laboratory.

John has been living in a south side rooming house. But he's going back home now, with permission to get his education where he wants it. His father, Prof. S. R. Meck, is principal of the Jonathan Burr school and lives at 810 Vernon avenue, Glencoe.

BALK McERLANE RUSES TO SLIP BACK TO FREEDOM

Police Prevent Maneuvers to Release Gunman.

Swift maneuvering on the part of the police prevented Frankie McErlane, wily leader of a gang of beer running hoodlums, from slipping to freedom yesterday.

But as for McErlane's pal, Walter Stevens, the notorious gunman paroled by Gov. Small, the police had to be satisfied with delivering him to the parole board with a letter shedding full light on Stevens' recent escapades in crime, and recommending that he be sent back to prison for parole violation. The police reckoned that Stevens' friendship with the governor will soon ease him on the street again, if in fact he was not freed last night.

Easy to Raise Bond.

McErlane, arraigned in the federal court before Commissioner Herman Beitler for violation of the prohibition law, was jubilant when his bond was fixed at $5,000.

"I guess we won't have much trouble making that," said the gangster's counsel, Ben Short, smilingly. And they didn't.

But Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker and his deputy, Capt. John Stege, had considered that possibility, and after a conference with Sheriff Ben Strong of Lake county, Ind., determined the course of action which threw the wrench in McErlane's oiled cogs.

Gets Fugitive Warrant.

Sergt. Herbert Seyferlich of the detective bureau was sent before Judge Immenhausen at the Des Plaines Street court and obtained a fugitive warrant, charging McErlane with the murder at Cedar Lake, Ind., of Thad S. Fancher, a lawyer. The warrant ordered McErlane to be held without bail.

Then when McErlane's friends swiftly put up the $5,000 bail on the prohibition charge, and in high spirits started with him out of the federal building, Capt. Stege met them in the lobby, and grabbing McErlane, read him the fugitive warrant. Last night McErlane was back in the basement dungeon at the bureau.

Fears Indiana Charge.

The booze boss was disconsolate at the turn of events. He was determined, the police declared, to avoid going to Indiana to face the murder charge, which Chief Schoemaker said was sufficient in his opinion to send McErlane to the electric chair.

"Here is an opportunity for the federal government to aid the Chicago police in getting rid of one of the worst offenders, not only of the state laws but of prohibition laws as well;" Chief Schoemaker said. "McErlane should have been on the way to Indiana tonight, and I can see no reason why the government cannot take immediate steps to take McErlane back to Indiana instead of waiting a week, during which one as smooth as this gangster may work a lot of political connivings to get loose."

Sheriff Strong says that he has two witnesses, one of them a convict serving a life sentence in the Michigan City prison for complicity in the Fancher murder, who will testify that McErlane fired the shots that killed the attorney. The convict, John O'Reilly, testified at his own trial that a man answering the beer leader's description was the killer.

The police were rather doubtful that Gov. Small would issue extradition papers. They pointed out that once before authority for the return of McErlane to Indiana was given, but was annulled before Sheriff Strong could take him to Crown Point.

"If we can get him to Indiana we can convict him," Sheriff Strong said.

Use Old Rum Charge.

The plan of the police, which was supported by Assistant United States District Attorney James G. Cotter, is to seek McErlane's removal to Indiana on the prohibition charge, which grew out of the wild booze party which resulted in the Fancher murder. On May 1, when McErlane is due to appear before Commissioner Beitler, Mr. Cotter will ask that McErlane be removed to Crown Point for trial in the federal court there. If that is accomplished Sheriff Strong will then be enabled to serve his murder warrant, and render unnecessary the appeal to Gov. Small.

Must Keep Him in Jail.

The problem in the meantime, as Capt. Stege saw it, is to keep McErlane in jail. He feared that some judge might order the beer king, who is credited also with a strong political power, released on bail, even though the charge is first degree murder.

So he issued orders that should any bond be presented for McErlane's release, a squad was to be sent immediately to the home or courtroom of the judge issuing it, to insure that the bond and the judge's signature is genuine. Until such assurance was given, McErlane is to be held, was the order.

In sending Walter Stevens to the parole office, Capt. Stege notified the board in writing that the gunman had been found in the company of notorious criminals, armed with revolvers and shotguns, which under the law is a parole violation.

Stevens was not in the county jail last night, the police learned, but they assumed that the parole office had in some way taken good care of their ward.

GIRL TAKES LIFE TO MEET FRIEND WHO HAD DIED

Lays on Track; Mangled by Fast Train.

Kansas City, Mo., April 23.—[Special.]—Miss Norma Freeman, 21 years old, died today at Olathe, Kas., with the hope she would join in death a friend whom she loved.

It was with such a hope that she left her home last night to place herself on the Santa Fé tracks outside Olathe and await death. Still conscious when taken from beneath the train, she reiterated her desire to die and join the spirit of her music teacher.

After hearing of the death of Miss Minnie Alferman of Pleasantview yesterday, Miss Freeman apparently made calm preparations to take her own life. She had taken piano lessons from Miss Alferman for five years.

Upon hearing of Miss Alferman's death, Mr. Freeman telephoned his daughter at the Kansas City Railways company, where she was employed. Later he telephoned to tell her of the funeral arrangements. Miss Freeman said she would buy some flowers and take them to the Alferman home.

She carried out her intentions, staying beside Miss Alferman's body about half an hour. Then she went home to Olathe.

She found her parents preparing to go to the theater. Through the dinner she laughed and conversed in a normal manner. After the family had gone the girl sat at the piano and played compositions which Miss Alferman had taught her. At 10 o'clock she stopped and telephoned the Santa Fé railroad.

"What time does the night train come through?" her sister heard her ask. The girl told her sister she was going out and left the house.

At 10:35 the engineer of the Santa Fé stopped his train at Cemetery Crossing, near Olathe, with the sensation that he had run over some one. The train crew found the girl beneath the wheels. She still was conscious.

"I believed the train would kill me instantly," she said.

GERMAN EXPORTS EXCEED IMPORTS BY $60,000,000

March Figures Augur Aid in Dawes Payments.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, April 23.—Official figures on Germany's foreign trade, issued today, show that the March surplus of exports over imports totaled 240,000,000 marks ($60,000,000). Since the imports included gold and silver to a value of 38,000,000 marks ($9,500,000), the total excess for merchandise proper amounts to 278,000,000 marks ($69,500,000).

Above Dawes Demand.

If that month's achievement becomes a normal monthly average, which is quite possible in the opinion of many German economists, an annual surplus of 2,800,000,000 marks ($700,000,000) will be realized, or considerably more than 2,500,000,000 marks ($625,000,000), which is the maximum Dawes annuity. The March statistics, therefore, demonstrate that there is a possibility that the reich will be able to pay its reparations debts when they fall due.

In February the exports increased by $140,000,000 marks ($35,000,000), while the reduction in imports was 16,000,000 marks ($4,000,000). The value of raw materials bought abroad decreased only 1,000,000 marks ($250,000), showing that the German manufacturers are on a stable basis of productivity.

Large Orders from United States.

Easier conditions on the money market, reduced taxes on business, and large orders from abroad, notably from America and Russia, are among the factors which have aided in the reversal of German foreign trade, which has aroused widespread optimism in financial circles here.

PICK CHICAGO AS HEAD OFFICE OF AMERICAN BAR

The national headquarters of the American Bar association will be located at Chicago, if the report of a committee, headed by former Gov. Charles S. Whitman of New York is accepted, it was announced last night at a banquet in honor of Mr. Whitman given by the Chicago Bar association.

Mr. Whitman said that he, Gurney Newlin of Los Angeles, and William C. Kinkaid of Cheyenne, Wyo., the two other members appointed to select a city, had agreed upon Chicago as the logical headquarters. Their report will be submitted to the convention at Denver in June.

The former governor spoke on law enforcement. He declared that American juries are almost too merciful.

FIND MOVIES ARE NOT INJURIOUS TO FANS' EYES

Dallas, Tex., April 23.—(AP)—Motion pictures have no serious effect on the eyes of cinema fans, physicians reported here today at the closing session of the American Medical association.

If one can read, write, or work without eye fatigue, there is no harm in attending movies, Dr. A. Ray Irvine and Dr. M. F. Weyman of Los Angeles concluded in a paper giving data on a series of experiments.

The smoking of a single cigar perhaps lessens the vision more than a long period at the movies, Dr. Irvine suggested. Reading of current magazines was found to cause greater strain than viewing the pictures.

HURT MARCH 25; DIES.

John Gall, 47, a mill worker, 149 Des Plaines avenue, Forest Park, died yesterday afternoon at the American hospital. His right hand was injured in a planer March 25 at Barr & Collins' mill, 7459 Franklin avenue, Forest Park. An inquest will be held today.

British Spinners of U. S. Cotton to Close for Week

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 23.—The Master Cotton Spinners' federation today decided to close the mills spinning American cotton for a week, beginning May 3. This decision affects 150,000 operatives. The move is intended to rehabilitate the trade of those spinning American cotton.

Lumbermen in Meeting Urge U. S. Reforestation

Reforestation is of vital importance to national welfare, the National Lumber Manufacturers' association declared in convention yesterday. Fire prevention, taxation, and the public acquisition of appropriate forest lands present a serious responsibility for legislators, and must be attended to before reforestation is assured on the scale required, a resolution said.

FRANCE MAKES NEW OFFER TO FUND WAR DEBT

U. S. Commission Passes on Terms Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 23.—[Special.]—The American debt funding commission today received from the French government, through its ambassador, Henry Berenger, an offer to settle the French debt, now slightly more than $4,304,000,000.

Secretary Mellon, chairman of the commission, only announced that the commission would meet tomorrow morning to consider the offer. Nothing was made public as to the terms. President Coolidge is very hopeful that a settlement will be reached, because he believes that it will mean much to the financial stability of the world.

Hint of Terms Offered.

It is understood that the proposition put forward by Ambassador Berenger as the starting point of discussion, was of a very definite character. A scale of annual payments which France believes represent her "capacity to pay" is said to have been included. Reliable authorities were of the opinion that the French ambassador had presented at the outset what his government believed to be the most favorable terms possible of acceptance.

It was reported that the annual payments contained in today's initial offer ranged from $25,000,000 annually during the first five years, to from $60,000,000 to $80,000,000 during the next seven years, and then to a maximum of $120,000,000 during the latter part of the 62 year period.

Reed Attacks Italy Terms.

After a day of caustic debate, during which the Coolidge administration was denounced as a tool of the great financial interests, the senate today, by a vote of 43 to 24, refused to reconsider the Italian debt settlement. The measure now goes to the President for his signature.

Democrats who voted with the Republicans for the agreement, Republican senators who backed it, Italy and France, President Coolidge and his administration were lashed by Senator Reed [Rep., Mo.].

Calling the plan the "greatest steal in all history," Senator Reed charged that the administration of Calvin Coolidge is owned and controlled by the great interests of this country.

Takes Rap at Mellon, Too.

"I am no enemy of capital," he asserted, "but when capital moves in and takes possession of the government, it is time to protest. There is no demand by the banking interests on this administration which has not been met with the cringing attitude of a spaniel dog called to heel."

Mr. Reed remarked that Mr. Mellon stayed in the cabinet despite the fact he, being a director in many banks, had been illegally appointed.

"When Mellon was appointed," he said, "he was a director in sixty-eight different concerns, manufacturing everything from whisky to aluminum. In the past, it is said, the great financial interests stood outside and influenced the government within. With the appointment of Mellon, the big interests have now moved in and taken possession.

Then Denounces Big Bankers.

"Why did Morgan & Co. and the big bankers want the war debts cancelled? I'll tell you. They wanted them cancelled so their chances of collecting the money which they had lent to Europe would be improved.

"These interests have rallied to the support of the Italian agreement for the reason that it is simply a three-fourths cancellation of the debt owed to this country by Italy. We can collect this debt but we never will collect it as long as we are represented by men who want to give it away. Italy knows that until it settles this debt, its credit is worthless. The trouble with the franc is that France has not settled her war debts. I want to say to Senator Smoot [Rep., Utah], that if France says she can't pay, tell her to turn over to America the islands in the West Indies which command the Panama canal."

SEEK QUICK ACTION

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, April 23.—Premier Aristide Briand this afternoon divulged to the chamber of deputies' finance committee the terms of France's new offer to settle the war debt to the United States and which Ambassador Henri Berenger submitted to the American debt funding commission in Washington.

The premier stressed the fact that the government is anxious to reach an accord with Washington without delay, and therefore he is willing to abandon the demand for a safeguarding clause and accept a compromise which will guarantee the safety of the treasury's gold reserve and protect French exchange against serious fluctuations in making transfers.

The cabinet unanimously agreed that is was advisable to rush the agreement with the United States debt commission.

Hope for Quick Senate Action.

The government is anxious to have the United States senate vote approval of the funding agreement before the adjournment of the present congress, as it is feared that otherwise the settlement would be subject to bitter attacks in the campaigns of senators who seek reëlection in the autumn.

If the senate ratifies the agreement, France will make the first semi-annual payment of $12,500,000 on Aug. 1.

The premier said the French proposal provides for a total payment of $6,740,000,000 over a period of sixty-two years, which is $540,000,000 more than Joseph Caillaux offered. From 1926 to 1930, inclusive, the annuities will be $25,000,000; in 1931 the payment will be $30,000,000; in 1932, $40,000,000; in 1933, $50,000,000; in 1934, $60,000,000; in 1935, $70,000,000; in 1936, $80,000,000; in 1937, $90,000,000; in 1938, $100,000,000; in 1939, $110,000,000; in 1940, $115,000,000; in 1941, $120,000,000; and from 1942 to 1988, $125,000,000.

Hopes to Obtain Loans.

The premier warned the deputies that funding the debt would not necessarily help the exchange on the franc, but stated it would enable the government to obtain credits.

The Tribune learns that France is negotiating with a group of American financiers for the sale of certain government owned properties in the city of Paris. One site is an enormous tract named Champs Mars, near Eiffel tower, where in 1900 the Paris exposition stood. It comprises 100 acres along the Seine, in the heart of the city. Another is a broad belt around the city, where fortifications, now being demolished, stood.

DISMISSES LAWYERS, KILLS SELF TO PREVENT DIVORCE BY HUSBAND

Beloit, Wis., April 23.—[Special.]—"You may drop the case, I have found a different way," wrote Mrs. W. A. Harris, 40, to attorneys whom she had engaged to contest a divorce action filed by her husband.

Police, breaking into the home when the woman's sister became alarmed, found Mrs. Harris dead of asphyxiation on the kitchen floor with a gas jet open. She clutched an open Bible in one hand and on her breast was a letter to her husband.

Mrs. Harris was the wife of W. A. Harris, a supervising architect and building superintendent. They had been married about three years. A summons in his divorce action had been served on her Wednesday.

Apprehensions of her sister, Mrs. Nellie Bower, were aroused by receipt of a letter from Mrs. Harris, asking her to hurry to the Harris home as soon as the letter was received.

SEES FAITH IN FOREIGN PEOPLE IN BOND SALES

D. W. Morrow Talks at Commercial Club Dinner.

Making no direct reference to any nation whose debts to this country are in the process of refunding, Dwight W. Morrow of J. P. Morgan & Co., New York, asserted before the Commercial club members and guests at the Blackstone hotel last night that good faith on the part of foreign governments is the determining factor in all international loans.

Mr. Morrow's talk on "The Investor in Foreign Bonds" was in part an argument that loans never can be collected by force and that neither this nation nor England ever has even tried it. He said that upon belief in a nation's good faith rests the investor's willingness to buy that nation's bonds. "Faith, the foundation of credit, is more priceless than property," he said.

No War to Collect Debts.

"It is sometimes stated," Mr. Morrow continued, "that loans to foreign governments made by our citizens throw upon our own government the responsibility of acting as a collection agent," he said, "and even that these loans may, for purposes of collection, involve the use of armed forces of our government. I think it will become quite clear by studying historical precedents that there is no warrant for such a belief.

"Entirely apart from the immorality of hazarding human lives in modern warfare, there is conclusive practical reason against such a course in that war in the great majority of cases does not, and cannot, accomplish the desired result."

Wide Interest in Foreign Bonds.

Mr. Morrow began his address with a reference to the fact, which he noted while on the train coming to Chicago yesterday, that The Tribune of yesterday contained in its financial news a list of quotations on 128 different issues of foreign bonds bought and sold in the United States market of Thursday. These bonds represented approximately 30 countries. He said that a few statistics of bond houses showed that 80 per cent of the thousands in this country who, for example, bought a recent Japanese issue to be used for the rehabilitation of Tokio, were investors in lots of $5,000 down to $100. Those thousands of people who had saved were scattered all over the country, and in buying the bonds were animated by faith—natural human faith—in the integrity of the Japanese people. He cited similar statistics regarding the German loan after the Dawes plan became effective.

Mr. Morrow said that he would like to know—for contrast—how many foreign bond issues were traded in just ten years ago. [The Tribune of ten years ago, April 23, reported exactly six foreign bond issues in the day's trading.]

Defaulter Hurts Itself Most.

"The intelligent investor," he said, "recognizes that in the long run a government that defaults upon its obligations hurts itself even more than it hurts its creditors. It must never be forgotten that there are rules of conduct accepted by the silent approval of civilized men, the breach of which hurts the one committing the breach much more than the one against whom the breach is committed."

Mr. Morrow recalled the transparency at Brest when our soldiers were returning: "We have paid our debt to Lafayette. Who the hell else do we owe?"

He said we owe one thing more—a strengthening of our good will toward and our faith in the ultimate peaceful working out of the troubles that still beset Europe.

Mr. Morrow was introduced to the members of the Commercial club by Rufus C. Dawes, its president.

CENSUS BUREAU BARS 'GREATER CHICAGO' COUNT

Chicago's hopes for pushing Paris out of its place as the world's third largest city by including suburban towns in its population figures met a setback yesterday from the federal census bureau.

In a letter to A. F. Gorman, city clerk, R. M. Stewart, director of the bureau, pointed out that such a plan would probably cause confusion, and complications by bringing in towns in other states, such as Gary, Ind.

"I do not see how we can include a greater territory, either for Chicago or any other city, unless the boundaries of the city are actually extended—as was the case when Greater New York was formed," Mr. Stewart said.

The 1920 census gave Chicago a population of 2,701,709. Since that time it has passed the 3,000,000 mark. The proposed new census plan which was suggested in a resolution passed by the council on March 31, would increase the figure to approximately 4,000,000.

Foods That Win Them

A cereal youngsters eat without coaxing—get Puffed Wheat

GIVING children a cereal food is one thing; making them like it is another. Most children must be coaxed.

Puffed Wheat, probably the most unique cereal food known, overcomes that factor in a delightful way.

It tastes like toasted nutmeats and crunches in the mouth like fresh toast; children revel in it like a confection. A food, at last, that's "good" for them, that they eat because they love it.

It is whole wheat steam exploded to eight times its natural size. Approximately 20% is bran, but to eat it you would never know it. None of the bran is purposely removed. Vital elements of wheat are retained.

Make it tomorrow's breakfast. Try, too, as a bedtime snack that will not impose on the digestion. Obtain at any grocery store.

ACIDURO (Acidophilus) MILK

This is Nature's greatest weapon for combating chronic constipation and intestinal putrefaction, a frequent accompaniment of modern civilization. It is advocated by leading physicians for lack of physical and mental vigor. It builds health and enables the body to better resist disease.

ACIDURO Milk is made from pure whole milk inoculated with Aciduric bacilli under strict scientific control. Milk is from Eagle Elms herd of Federal and State Accredited Holstein cows, owned by Judge Harry Olson, and other similar herds. The culture and production are under the supervision of Prof. A. A. Day, bacteriologist, and is distributed by the Ira J. Mix Dairy Co.

It is a delightful beverage—refreshing and vitalizing. The aciduric bacteria once established in the lower intestine prevents gas formations and alimentary intoxication. It is an excellent tonic. Thousands drink it daily. Ask your physician about it. Drink it regularly.

ACIDURO Milk is now available at leading drug stores. Mail orders accepted. The product will keep fresh for two weeks. Phone or write for complete information.

PROGRESS AND A CONTRAST.

After nine years of effort, much of it fruitless, it is possible to report progress on the project to straighten the south branch of the river between Polk and 18th streets. The city, the railroad companies, and others concerned have reached an agreement under which the work will be completed at an expense of only $1,639,000 to the city, although the total cost will be $9,200,000. The railroads, which bear the rest of the expense, will be compensated in part with land. The straightened river will take up less room than the present winding course requires and the gain of 193,000 square feet will enable the roads to increase the capacity of their terminal yards, which are now overcrowded.

The negotiations on behalf of the city were conducted by a committee of citizens nominated at the request of Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works. The committee was composed of James Simpson, president of Marshall Field & Co.; Theodore Robinson, vice president of the Illinois Steel company; William R. Dawes, president of the Association of Commerce; Arthur G. Leonard of the Central Manufacturing district, and Silas Strawn, the lawyer, who acted as chairman until he was sent to China to represent the United States government. The members of the committee devoted long hours to the negotiations. Their names and their abilities commanded respect and confidence. They convinced the railroad men that the offer was fair and mutually advantageous, and for that they deserve the thanks of all citizens.

The city's share of the expense can be paid over two or three years and probably will be met from corporate funds. The sum asked of the city is a small one in the light of the benefits that will flow from it. Until the river is straightened, talk of a new south side terminal development is likely to lead nowhere and there can be little progress in cutting the loop streets through to the south.

The agreement negotiated by the citizens' committee becomes binding when ratified by the city council. Ald. Kaindl, chairman of the committee on railway terminals, expects council indorsement by July 1. He thinks work on the new channel can begin in September. It will be an important day in Chicago's history when the digging begins. It cannot come too soon.

It is astonishing but true that Chicago, which built the drainage canal, made the greatest boulevard system in the world, and has now worked out an agreement with seven railroads to straighten the river, is stumped by the traction question, which less progressive cities have solved.

BOULEVARDS TO THE ZOO.

The proposal to create a zoological garden in the forest preserve at Riverside was approved by the voters of Cook county at the recent primary elections. The two to one majority which the zoo proposition received indicated the anxiety of the citizens of the county that this major attraction should be added to the present attractions of the Chicago region.

From the point of view of location the new zoo will be ideally situated. The 172 acre tract lies along the Des Plaines river, near enough to be convenient, yet far enough out to make the trip there and back a pleasant afternoon's outing.

The need now is for adequate boulevard and highway arteries to the zoo site. It is the general need of the west side of the city, intensified by this new west side magnet, which will draw hundreds to the west every weekday and thousands on Saturday and Sunday.

Roosevelt and Pershing roads, 22d street, and Ogden avenue—the existing routes of travel to the zoo—will be swamped with traffic as soon as the great animal gardens become a reality. Chicago, and particularly the west side, will possess a treasure finer than that of any other city, but will not be able to enjoy it unless east and west boulevards are put through immediately.

The street bond issues passed at the same time that the zoo was approved provide for a few east and west street widenings—22d street, between Archer and Calumet avenues, and Polk and Taylor streets, between Canal and Halsted streets—but these are a mere beginning of what ought to be. The west side has needed street connections with the rest of the city for years. Never so much so as today, with the new zoo about to become a focal point for hordes of visitors.

SMUG AND SELFISH.

An example of the fundamental spirit of all so-called reform and of prohibition in particular slipped out the other day before the senate committee investigating the 18th amendment and its enforcement. S. L. Strivings, master of the New York State Grange and representative of the National Grange, under cross-examination by Col. Codman, wet whip, made the following admissions: The farmers favor prohibition. They do not want the urban worker to have beer and light wines. But they are not willing to give up the privilege granted them under section 29 of the Volstead act of making fruit juices and cider containing much more than 2.75 per cent of alcohol.

That testimony is a summation of the human element behind prohibition. The man who has what he wants would legislate every one else into the same pattern.

The drys have what they want. The farmer, with his cider and his home made wines, has what he wants. Rich men, their cellars full and able to buy more, have all they want. Heavy drinkers, the kind who drink to get drunk, have what they want in the stuff peddled by the bootlegger. It is the man of moderate means and temperate tastes who gets it in the neck. He wants beer and wines and no saloons, but he can't get what he wants because the desires of the others are satisfied.

In the days before prohibition, when every man had what he wanted according to his tastes, drinkers did not force nondrinkers, by legislation and state and federal enforcement, to do what the drinkers wanted and have what the drinkers had. Yet that is the very thing the drys, and those otherwise provided for, do now.

Prohibition is smug selfishness at its worst. And if there is any other among the undesirable qualities of human nature so maddening and irritating as smug selfishness, we have yet to find it.

THE DAIRYMAN PAYS.

The state officials charged with the testing of dairy herds for tuberculosis have unexpectedly ordered the federal testers off the reservation. State and federal officials are supposed to coöperate in the work. Thus far all the coöperating in Illinois has been done by the federal men. When state officials said their appropriation was so small that all of it was needed for retesting herds already examined, federal veterinarians volunteered to do first testing and nothing else. The work had proceeded on that basis for only a few days when the state government put a stop to it.

Illinois dairy farmers are the victims of the extraordinary conduct of the state administration. Chicago is in no way injured. The farmers complained when Chicago insisted that its milk come from healthy cows. The farmers knew the indemnity from state and federal funds would not be enough to buy healthy cows to replace condemned ones. Nevertheless, as soon as they realized Chicago was in earnest, most of the farmers asked that the test be given to their herds as soon as possible. Many dairymen were willing to waive the state indemnity so that they could resume selling the milk from their healthy animals in the only profitable market they had. The state administration has deliberately halted the work of testing, for reasons which are by no means clear, and in consequence hundreds of farmers have been cut off from their principal source of revenue without hope of relief.

The farmers are entitled to know what is behind the state administration's tactics. The explanations which have been volunteered from Springfield explain nothing. The dairy farmers of Illinois may count upon the support of Chicago in the emergency, although Chicago is now receiving all the milk it needs from tested herds. The city did not insist upon the tuberculosis test in order to ruin the farmers who for years have been supplying Chicagoans with milk. Chicago will do all it can to assure the farmers of their rights.

AN IMPORTANT EUROPEAN ACCORD.

The Franco-German agreement abrogating most of the clauses in the Versailles treaty aimed at curtailing German aviation and the accompanying accord permitting commercial flying by both countries over each other's country is an important step toward European harmony.

Air transport in Europe has been in a tangle, especially since 1923. Up to that time the situation was not so complex because the restricting clauses of the Versailles treaty were in full force. Germany was held down by the nine rules of 1922, while the Versailles treaty gave allied nations the right to cross German territory at will. They lost this right by the expiration of that clause of the treaty, Jan. 1, 1923. Germany immediately retaliated by refusing passage over her territory to any foreign machine not complying with the limiting rules the allies had laid down for German aircraft, which amounted to barring foreign machines altogether.

French aviators attempting to keep open the air routes between Paris and the east were arrested by the Germans and their machines confiscated when trouble forced them down on German soil. The French were compelled eventually to abandon the line between Paris and Prague.

Stretching as it does from the Baltic sea to the Alps, and separating the Netherlands and Denmark along the North sea coast, Germany holds the key position of aviation in Europe. Commercial airplanes, in order to pay in money and time, must be long distance machines. To be successful in Europe they must cross international boundaries. The important route of air travel in Europe is east and west, and Germany lies directly across the path. To pass north of Germany means to cross the open Baltic; to pass to the south means a forced crossing of the Alps, a possible task but too risky for scheduled passenger traffic.

The result up to this time has been the formation of two groups of countries interested in commercial aviation. One group, including France and England, which adheres to the international air navigation convention of 1919, which excludes Germany. Another group, including the Scandinavian and Baltic countries, Hungary, Austria, Holland and Switzerland, centering about Germany and unable to ratify the convention as long as Germany was left out.

This division made for additional misunderstanding in Europe. It was another cause of friction, and one growing in proportion as air transport increased in importance. The agreement between France and Germany is the first consequential letdown in the barrier between these two great European factions. It is the all-important one. France and Germany have agreed to resume aerial relations; ambassadors of the air will be sent and received, beginning next month.

WORTH TRYING.

[Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Republican.]

Representative Tincher has presented his administration "billion dollar farm bill."

Undoubtedly the Tincher bill is not perfect. There are so many complexities and so many varying opinions to this farm relief business that it is almost impossible to frame a perfect measure. But since it is a starting point and is believed to have the approval, if not the actual support of the administration, it would seem that the logical thing to do would be to hustle it into legislation.

From the strategical standpoint enactment of the Tincher bill would be good politics. If the alternative is chosen and the bill is not passed then the party will lay itself open to the charge that it wouldn't even enact an administration bill.

But there are even better reasons than political for the enactment of the Tincher bill. Farming conditions, although infinitely better than they were two years ago, are not what they might be. Prosperity is not yet actually here for the farmer. Passage of this bill would entail a $100,000,000 appropriation as that is the cash reserve upon which the coöperatives would get their $1,000,000,000 loans. If $100,000,000 will hustle along the return of prosperity to the farm, as backers of the bill say it will, then enactment is cheap at the price.

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

KEEPING THE MOUTH CLEAN

IN an experience with several large department stores in Boston, Dr. Emmons found that very few people have clean mouths. The proportion was one in five. His figures referred to clerks in department stores, but the probability is that the same figures apply, in a general way, to the general run of people. In fact, my guess is, that the girls in department stores average considerably better than the average run of people in this particular.

About half the people referred to by Dr. Emmons had what he called fair mouths. The people in this group needed to have their teeth cleaned and polished, and to have some small fillings and some extractions. Nearly one-third had what was called neglected mouths. Most of the people who had recurring attacks of toothache were in the third group.

Toothache is preventable. Any person who is subject to toothache need only have his teeth put in order to prevent recurrence of the disorder. No other treatment is anything more than a stop gap.

Of course, gum boils are even more representative of neglect. The people who are subject to gum boils are convicted, without further evidence, of having neglected mouths. The lawyers call this prima facie evidence, if this court be not in error. The person who has a mild pyorrhoea, with periodic attacks of pain and tenderness, is likewise in the group of those with preventable troubles.

In the stores supervised by Dr. Emmons the employés pay for the dental service they receive, but the rates are on a very reasonable basis. The store furnishes the space and the equipment, and the work is done on the employer's time. The cost for material and for the time of the dentist and dental hygienist is paid by the employé.

The tendency of persons to neglect their teeth is met by a system of well organized appointments with penalties for appointments that are not kept. Emergencies, such as treatment of toothaches, lancing of gum boils, and extractions, are done in the office. In most of the stores, periodic treatments are given for pyorrhoea in the earlier stages. Roots are treated, as are gums. In some, simple fillings are put in. In most of the department stores, the more difficult fillings and more serious dental work is not done. Such cases are referred to family dentists, neighborhood dentists, and dentists known to do good work. Some effort is made to protect employés against exceptionally poor work by outside dentists and against gross overcharges.

Some of Dr. Emmons' conclusions are as follows:

Preventive medicine offers no more generally needed or more effective health measure than dental service.

The industrial dental clinic fits into the scheme for community dental service.

COFFEE IN MODERATION.

B. E. H. writes:

1. Is it harmful to drink coffee in moderation?
2. What is a reasonable amount?
3. Is a reasonable amount of coffee bad for the nerves?
4. Is coffee constipating?

Don't forget that cups vary in size. There is the tea cup and the coffee cup. My coffee cups hold two tea cups of liquid. I use the teacups.

REPLY.

1. No.
2. About two ordinary cups daily.
3. No. The reference is to healthy people.
4. No.

A coffee cup that holds as much as two teacupsful is larger than the cup I mean.

NUTRIMENT IN MEAT JUICES.

C. H. D. writes:

1. Can one obtain as much nourishment from the juice of broiled steaks and other meats as they would if the solid part of the meat was eaten too?
2. Are all nutritive elements of the meat contained in the juice only? If not, what ones are, and what are not?
3. Is the juice easier to digest than the solid part of the meat?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No. On the other hand, most of the nutriment is in the solid tissue.
3. Probably so, but not much.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 24, 1861.

EDITORIAL. — We hear whispers every day that there is a vigilance committee in this city preparing to hunt out secessionists and punish them in its own way. For the good name of Chicago, we hope no such organization will be permitted here. We know not who is responsible for its existence nor what is the code by which its victims are to be tried and punished; but we do know there is no crisis which justifies the introduction of lynch law, and that all attempts in that direction should be frowned down. Ours is a poor cause indeed if it will not bear criticism of individuals here and there.

ROCKFORD, Ill.—Rockford's first company leaves tomorrow for Springfield via Chicago under command of Capt. Navins. This is but the first installment. More will follow as occasion demands until this unholy rebellion is put down. The excitement is constantly increasing, every one feeling the call of his country and ready to render such service as may be wanted in the cause of constitutional liberty, either on the field of battle or in such other service as may be required.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The war excitement is intense. The Baltimore riot has kindled a spirit of revenge under which thousands are rushing to arms. Some 8,000 volunteers are already enrolled. Reports have been about all day that Baltimore has been shelled—that a mob had burned the cathedral because the archbishop had displayed the American flag, and that Col. Fremont had arrived at New York from England with a quarter of a million muskets.

NEW YORK.—The state authorities have decided to muster into immediate service the 30,000 volunteers authorized by the legislature. The common council voted $1,000,000 to arm and equip regiments and half a million more for the families of volunteers.

LAPORTE, Ind.—The first volunteer company from this place left for Indianapolis. About 3,000 people assembled at the depot to witness their departure. Over $6,000 has been subscribed for the support of families of volunteers.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Gov. Randall issued a proclamation urging the formation of companies of minute men standing ready to answer other calls of the general government.

CHICAGO.—Joseph Kipley discharged himself from the position of superintendent of police. He called on Mayor Harrison and asked if he was to be retained during the next two years. The mayor told him he was not, whereupon the chief issued a general order appointing Assistant Superintendent of Police John E. Ptacek as acting superintendent.

CHICAGO.—Ald. John Coughlin has quit the "bathhouse" business for good. He sold out his last bathroom at 187 Madison street and announced that in future he would devote himself to the banking and insurance business, with the labors of a statesman on the side.

CHICAGO.—Formal announcement of the retirement of John M. Clark from the presidency of the Chicago Telephone company to take effect on May 1 was made. It also was announced that John I. Sabin of San Francisco will be his successor. While the present officials of the company say the change in its officers is not a step in the direction of the practical consolidation of all the telephone companies of the middle west, little doubt remains that closer working relations will be established.

NEW YORK.—The Central Railroad of New Jersey agreed with the representatives of the trainmen on its line on a new wage scale. Head baggagemen will receive $2.20 and their assistants $2.10 a day. Brakemen will receive $2 and $1.80. On freight trains the flagmen will receive $1.95 and the brakemen $1.83 per 100 miles.

NEW YORK.—The marriage of Miss Isabel Goodrich Stillman and Percy Avery Rockefeller took place in St. Bartholomew's church, Madison avenue and 44th street.

CHICAGO.—After a conference at the Auditorium Annex lasting several days the plow manufacturers of the United States practically have completed the formation of a $50,000,000 trust. Chicago will probably be made the headquarters.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 24, 1916.

EL PASO, Tex.—Local police received a report that fighting had begun between Carranza and American forces at Satevo. According to the police, the information came from reliable sources in Juarez and they believe it is true. It was said that several Negro soldiers had been killed on the American side.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Behind the formal announcement that President Wilson had approved a plan for the redisposition of the American troops in Mexico, there was a plain intimation that the Washington government had determined to maintain a military status quo beyond the border until the Mexican de facto government had demonstrated its ability to capture or crush Villa and his adherents and prevent a repetition of the Columbus, N. M., raid.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. John Barr McCutcheon died at her residence, 39 East Schiller street. She was the mother of John T. McCutcheon of THE TRIBUNE, George Barr, Benjamin F., and Jessie McCutcheon Raleigh.

BALTIMORE, Md.—J. Franklin Baker, the home run king, hit the sawdust trail in the Billy Sunday tabernacle with four other players of the New York American league team—Boone, second baseman; Cook, outfielder; Mullen, first baseman; Walters, catcher, and Dugan, Yankee trainer.

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Oscar A. Brindley, an instructor at the United States army aviation school here, announced that he would attempt a flight from either San Diego or Los Angeles to New York City to demonstrate an electric automatic stabilizer. He will be accompanied by A. J. Macy, a Chicago electrical engineer and inventor of the stabilizer.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

STARS.

If they would only let us see the stars
As friendly twinkling eyes in heaven's face,
Kindly and intimate, not very large
Nor in such unimaginable space;
Or as the glistening diamond-dust of dew
Upon the pleasant meadows of the sky;
Or as the silver lace upon the gowns
Of gentle maids who smilingly pass by;

Or as the notes of music written o'er
An ample staff where all might see and sing
Like choristers who read a common score—
They would seem very close and comforting.
But when with labored art some meddling sage
Reckons the orbit of each separate star,
Tells of light-years, and calculates their age,
They are too old, too monstrous, and too far.

Stunned with immensity and drunk with space,
Bewildered pilgrim in a world too wide,
I seek the shelter of some narrow place
Where things of frail and timid beauty hide:
A rocky tidal pool wherein a hand
Ruthlessly dipped would be a blow of fate;
The print of wind-waved grass-tips on the sand
A careless gesture might obliterate.

How shall I live with all these million suns
Circling the universe in fiery rings—
I who am content to contemplate
The quiet beauty of the smallest things?
For I can never feel myself at home
Beneath a roof a billion miles above,
Or wholly happy underneath a dome
So much too vast for humble hearts to love.

DREAMS.

To the Spinner of the Taffrail Log: And you, too? I thought I was the only worker by day who kept all my old, cherished dreams for night, but was never too tired to dream: never too tired to see the angry, white sea and a Spanish galleon, to live with ancient peoples who lived and loved life for its beauty and adventure. What would you do if you worked in the public library, that domicile of glorious ambitions and forlorn hopes, and saw grubby, searching hands pass by all the finest and pause on a mediocre and lifeless thing? But don't you ever visit those exquisite jades in the Art institute and think of Donn Byrne and oriental princesses and the Ming dynasty, and pause in your flight down Boul Mich and covet all the etchings and woodcuts and then, the symphony, where life is portrayed in forms of tones and notes, crashing cymbals and the fine, muted strings of throbbing violins?

And, then home, after vainly pursuing these things as substitutes for the real. Home, but not to the little, old rambling weather beaten and time worn English cottage, back from a friendly, winding lane and a creaking gate, and an orchard with the poignant sweetness of apple blossoms in the spring. Home, where one may ramble with Cabell and Stephens, with Snowshoe Al and Oscar Mink, where the fond, printed words turn into real people who lurk in the shadows or come at your desire.

You see, Spinner, even substitutes have a value! AOR.

HOW YOUNG FOX FOOLED THE FLEAS.

R. H. L.: There was a Fox down in the Dunes which was bothered greatly with Fleas. Being a smart young Fox, he set about to lose them. He said to Mrs. Fox, "I have Fleas," but she came back with, "So's your Old Man," which did not stop him, not Young Fox. He got a green Stick with the Leaves on it, took it firmly in his Mouth and headed for Lake Michigan. At the Water's edge he did not hesitate, but waded out slowly, giving every Flea a Chance. When only Mr. Fox's nose was out of water, and every Flea had Fled to the green Stick, the smart young Fox tossed his head, threw the Stick away, and swam back. And, dear children, that is how Mr. Fox lost his Fleas. KIKI.

THE JACKSON PARK LAGOON.

Chicago, April 20.—Where in the world can be found a park in the heart of a great city to equal Jackson park for the varied and interesting attractions it holds for the tourist and the visitor? The natural facilities it offers for recreation and enjoyment are incomparable.

The commissioners are to be highly commended for the keen interest taken in the fostering of the spirit of sport, but it is lamentable to contemplate the fate of the historic associations of the park. The famous Columbus flotilla has been practically wiped out, the Liberty villa burned down, the Japanese houses face destruction, and the stately architecture of the Fine Arts building is fast crumbling away. Neglect is responsible.

The beautiful lagoon is now in danger of obliteration, and if steps are not taken immediately to preserve this great stretch of water it will be only a short time before it will become a mere dog pond. The electric launches that used to bring joy to the children were docked all last season for want of water to sail. This year the condition is worse, and it is doubtful if rowboats can safely navigate the waters. Patrons of the lagoon contribute over $13,000 annually for boat hire, and it is evident that very little of this revenue has been expended for upkeep.

The golf links, bathing beaches, and harbors are self-supporting, and the refreshment concessions also yield a handsome return. No matter how the receipts are spent, the one outstanding fact remains that something must be done to save the lagoon for the thousands that find pleasure in rowing. TEPEE.

FILIPINO COURAGE.

Chicago, April 21.—Clever Sencio, the little brown boxer who hails from that picturesque island possession of this great republic, died alone in his room in a Milwaukee hotel in direct consequence of his gallant and heroic fight against Bud Taylor. He fought like any other Filipino would have fought under the same circumstances. Sencio fought exhaustedly and died gamely just when a critical world was lavishing on him its tribute of genuine sportsmanship. He did not surrender. This is not the first instance in which a Filipino chivalrously fought to the last rather than accept the humiliation of defeat or surrender. This tragic incident ought to impress upon the mind of the average American that the Filipinos do know how to fight whenever circumstances justify it. PABO SOLIS KATIGBAK.

THE NONE TOO INNOCENT GIRLS.

Chicago, April 21.—I think it is high time we stop babying these mature girls who are ever ready to go out on a lark, and then, when it ends disastrously, put the entire blame on the boys, and selfishly expect the sympathy of the community. I think the experiences some of them had to undergo has been more instrumental in preventing promiscuous flirtations than any punishment meted out to the boys, who are not always entirely to blame.

Furthermore, the actions and mode of dress of some of the girls are nothing short of scandalous. EDITH JONES.

BROKEN GLASS IN THE STREETS.

Chicago, April 21.—The excessive and unusual amount of broken glass found in the streets of Chicago indicates that people are becoming more careless in handling that which costs motorists of the city much money and more trouble.

May we have some coöperation from milkmen, who handle bottles, and also city employés, who replace glass globes on the street lighting systems?

I have noticed on several occasions that milk drivers do not bother to pick up bottles which they drop accidentally, and that the city employés deliberately drop the remainder of the glass globe which they are replacing upon the street.

Coöperation from the general public would help everybody and would be appreciated by all. RAYMOND G. SCHMIDT.

TERMITES IN KANSAS.

Chicago, April 21.—You carried a story about St. Paul's church on the Midway being undermined throughout the inside timbers by a species of ants called "Termites." Prof. W. C. Allee of the University of Chicago claimed it was due to dampness.

In Kansas—especially in Sedgwick county, between Norwich and Cheney—these ants twenty years ago (and ever since) were so destructive that people were forced to build concrete buildings. That is one of the driest sections in the state. There was no decaying timberland for them to come from, yet they were there. H. A. FRANCIS.

No "Red Tape"—No embarrassing questions

You don't need to put up any bond, nor sign your life away. Nor do we ask you a lot of embarrassing questions. Renting a car from us is just about as simple and easy an operation as one can imagine. It's really so simple you'll be surprised.

Did you ever try to rent a car to drive before the Yellow Drive-it-Yourself System of Chicago was started? Do you realize that this was the first concern to regard the renting of cars as a real business—as a "service" the public wanted and were entitled to have—and the first to put enough brains, energy and money into it to give you a real "service"?

The entire history of this Company has been one of progress and improvement. From the day we started, our one idea was to make our service better. Instead of starting with second-hand cars, the only kind one could rent in those days, we bought new ones—the finest made. We simplified the methods of renting—eliminating all the previous "Red Tape." We added insurance features which protect you. We opened stations convenient to everyone. Now we announce another improvement.

'Phone us the kind of car you want—We'll deliver it, without charge

You can now get a car from us in two ways. You can call at any of our stations—we have 10 in Chicago. Or, (if you are registered, and want a car delivered) just call our nearest station on the 'phone, tell them the kind of car you want to drive, and when you want it, and it will be delivered to your home or place of business.

We make no charge for this extra service. All we ask is that you drop our man back at our station. If it doesn't happen to be convenient for you to do so we make a charge of only 35 cents to cover his time and cost of getting back.

Right now we cannot provide this delivery service on Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays. But on all other days, between the hours of 8 A. M. and 8 P. M., if you are registered, you need only 'phone us. If you are not registered step into any of our stations and do so. It costs nothing to register and it takes only a few minutes.

We are sure this added service will fill a long felt want. Thousands of our customers have asked for it. Try it. We know the ladies will like it also, when they want to make a call, or need a car to get to a luncheon or theatre. You know we rent cars to ladies as well as men.

We now operate 1500 cars and 10 stations in Chicago

Two years ago we started with less than a dozen cars and had one station. Now we operate more than 1500 cars and have 10 complete Chicago stations, as well as stations in New York, St. Louis, Cleveland and Louisville. That's the best proof in the world that we give the people what they want.

Last year 214,000 people rented cars from us. Some were folks whose cars were in the shop; some were folks who wanted a larger car for a day or two. But most of them were people who don't own cars and use ours regularly—for business and pleasure—because they have found our service more satisfactory and more economical.

Our service is intended for every one—for the man who is working on a small salary as well as the man who has a big bank account. As a matter of fact many of our best customers are folks whose weekly income is around $25, or $30.

The next time you want a car—try our service. You'll find it convenient, pleasing—and very economical.

SENATE ORDERS JUDGE ENGLISH TO APPEAR MAY 3

Will Plead to Charges; Trial Date Not Set.

Washington, D. C., April 23.—[Special.]—An order summoning Federal Judge George W. English of the Eastern Illinois district, to appear before the senate on May 3 to answer charges of usurpation of power and other high misdemeanors in office was issued by the senate today.

The summons was issued immediately after the senate had resolved itself into a court of impeachment to act upon the charges preferred against Judge English by the house. When Judge English appears, a plea of guilty or not guilty will be entered in his behalf and time will be allowed the judge to reply to the charges if he wishes. At that time a formal date for the opening of the trial will be set.

Trial May Go Over Until Fall.

Just when the senate will decide to hold the impeachment proceedings is still a matter of conjecture. Some senators wish to wait until fall, others wish to go ahead immediately. The legal question also enters, as there is some doubt as to the legality of holding impeachment proceedings while the house is not in session.

If the trial is held this summer and the legal authorities agree that the house must be in session during the proceedings, it is possible that congress may run on until sometime in July. Senator Cummins [Rep., Ia.] said today that if congress finishes the work laid out for it, it will be here until June 15 on routine business alone.

Senator Cummins administered the oath making Vice President Dawes president of the court.

9 Months' Tax Payments Jump $183,888,029

Collections of internal revenue for the period beginning July 1, 1925, and ending March 31, 1926, amounted to $2,112,870,180, compared with $1,928,982,150 for the period beginning July 1, 1924, and ended March 31, 1925, an increase of $183,888,029. Income tax collections for the period from July 1, 1925, to March 31, 1926, amounted to $1,420,036,317, compared with $1,299,846,579 from July 1, 1924, to March 31, 1925, an increase of $120,189,738. Miscellaneous taxes for the period ended March 31, 1926, amounted to $692,833,863, compared with $629,135,571 for the period ended March 31 1925, an increase of $63,698,291.

Redistribution in This Session Seems Unlikely

All hope for a reapportionment of congressional representation during this session of congress was killed today when the house census committee, in spite of suggestions from Republican leaders, refused to reconsider its earlier decision not to report a reapportionment measure until after the 1930 census has been had.

The vote against reconsideration was 9 to 6, the same vote which was recorded against a favorable report on the bill sponsored by Representative Barbour [Rep., Cal.] and which prompted him to make an unsuccessful fight for consideration of his bill on the floor. Members of the committee declared today there is nothing in the situation to prevent consideration of reapportionment in the fall.

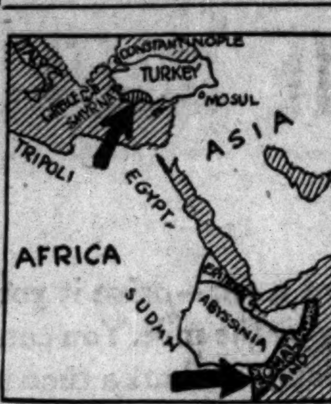
Senator Wants War Prevented by Basic Law

A concurrent resolution providing for an amendment to the constitution making war illegal and prohibiting congress from appropriating money for war purposes, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Frazier [Rep., N. D.]. "For two years the Woman's Peace union, a national organization, has advocated the enactment of a similar measure," Mr. Frazier said in advocating the measure. "The amendment introduced this morning provides a means of consulting the people for the first time since the adoption of the constitution about the policy of disarmament which may be successfully achieved, the Woman's Peace union believes, only through a constitutional amendment like the one proposed. This amendment, the union points out, should receive the active support of all those who think war is out of date; all who realize that war creates more disputes than it settles; all who are convinced that war never lessens greed or hate, never eradicates any antagonism or causes of disagreement; all who have decided that war more often destroys than protects life, liberty, and justice."

ROBBED OF CHECK BOOK AND AUTO.

Two men leaped on the running board of an automobile driven by James Villarney, 4131 Sheridan road, and with drawn revolvers ordered him to drive to a quiet place, where they took his check book and his car.

DIM TURK'S STAR



The map shows the scope of the proposed Greco-Italian plot to partition Turkey and divide spoils in Asia Minor. Greece plans to seize Constantinople and turn it over to the league of nations. Greece is to regain Smyrna and Italy is to get large industrial concessions. Meanwhile, Italian troops have been defeated severely by tribesmen in Somaliland.

PLOT TO SEIZE CONSTANTINOPLE FOR LEAGUE TOLD

Part of Italo-Greek Plan to Pluck Turkey.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, April 23.—While there were no overt acts today to tighten the tension in the Mediterranean which is alarming the capitals of Europe over the prospects of a clash between the dictators of Greece and Italy on one side and the Turks on the other, THE TRIBUNE is able to give further elaborations of the secret agreement between Premier Mussolini and Premier Pangalos for their land grabbing scheme in Asia Minor.

More Light on Plot.

The following points of the secret pact came to light today:

1. Italy, in the event of hostilities, will go as far as Lake Egerdir, in Anatolia, and then will cut down due southwest towards Adalia. Formerly they were going as far as Port Selinti, but this would clash with the British interests in Adalia.

2. No concessions in the rich oil territory near the Black sea will be made to Jugo-Slavia, but instead that country will get a corridor down to Saloniki, with a railway and part of the port.

3. Greece is to march into Thrace, occupy Constantinople for a week, and then hand over the city to the league of nations.

4. The economic development of Asia Minor will remain in the hands of the Italians.

5. Greece will regain possession of Smyrna and virtually all the territory lost in the war.

Toned to Suit Britain.

The modifications of the conditions so as to suit the British interests in Asia Minor and Albania and the solution of the Constantinople problem by handing it over to the league are due, it is said, to representations made by Sir William Tyrell, permanent undersecretary of foreign affairs, to Rome when he made formal calls on the Italian foreign minister. In return for concessions in Turkey, Great Britain will get Italy's promise not to interfere with its concerns in any other way.

"France Italy's Friend."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 23.—Premier Briand, replying in the chamber of deputies today to the Socialist deputy, Fontanier, regarding intrigues in the Balkans and Mediterranean, said the most cordial relations exist between France and Italy.

"The Italians are a great people," said the premier. "They are increasing yearly in enormous proportions. Naturally there is a sort of boiling over among them, and this steam, under strong pressure, will seek external expansion.

"Beyond certain public statements which might astonish us, but which are explicable by the condition of politics in Italy, remember that diplomatic relations do not show that Italy intends to trouble the peace of the world."

Ex-Narcotic Sleuth Denies U. S. Charges; Case to Jury

Taking the stand in his own defense yesterday, Alonzo P. Baxter, deposed narcotic agent, on trial for violation of the Harrison act, denied vehemently that he had sold drugs to addicts in exchange for stolen jewelry. Baxter admitted, however, that he had paid Earl Benedict, a confessed drug user, $100 for some jewelry, but declared he did not know it was stolen property. The jury then went out, with orders from Federal Judge James Wilkerson to return a sealed verdict.

VISIONS CANADA AS INDUSTRIAL VASSAL OF U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ottawa, Ont., April 23.—"Unless Canada changes her policy, the present generation will see Canada absorbed into the United States industrially," Representative Nicholson, Ontario Conservative, said in the house of commons today in pleading for a reinstitution of the 35 per cent automobile tariff against the states. Even now, Mr. Nicholson asserted, Canada is gradually being absorbed by the United States, whose policy, together with what he denounced as the peurile policies of the King government, is flooding the Canadian market with American goods and taking away from Canada the best of the young people.

He quoted from the Toronto registrar showing that in 1924 a hundred young men a day were leaving Canada for the States, while the present exodus from that city is seventy a day.

Three thousand representatives of central and western Ontario, comprising the largest delegation that has ever come to the Canadian capital to interview a federal government, protested before the King cabinet today against the 15 per cent reduction in the automobile tariff. Most of them were dependent on the industry. No hope of a reinstitution of the tariff was given by Prime Minister King or Finance Minister Robb.

EXPERTS' TRIAL HINTS AT 15% IN POLITICAL TOLL

Merigold Cash Payments Feature of Day.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

"Fifteen per cent" was the significant figure that arose out of a sea of accounts and checks submitted in evidence and analyzed yesterday in the suit of THE TRIBUNE to recover for the city the money paid the 1920 real estate experts, on trial before Judge Hugo M. Friend.

Approximately that percentage, it is claimed, found its way from the accounts of the three experts, Ernest H. Lyons, Edward C. Waller, and Arthur S. Merigold, into the Thompson-Lundin political machine then in control of the city hall.

Lyons' Share of Cash.

The testimony of Ralph S. Geddes, public accountant, who was examined by Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, showed this situation as an illustration:

Total received by Lyons for his work on city beautiful improvements, $577,426.41.

The amount paid him out of the B or specific bond improvement funds, $52,960.44.

The amount paid him out of the "S" or miscellaneous account, which was the subject of dispute as to regularity, $524,465.97.

Fifteen per cent of the payments of the "S" account, it was shown, would be $78,699.90.

The total commissions paid to Percy B. Coffin, leader of the Thompson-Lundin organization and now a Lundin lieutenant, $77,020.

From Lyons to Coffin.

This was shown in checks drawn by Lyons presented as evidence.

The percentage of these payments to Coffin to payments to Lyons out of the disputed 'S.' accounts, it was shown, would be 14.68.

The defense has claimed that Coffin entered into an agreement with Lyons to look after his office work during the period in question for 10 per cent of the gross receipts of the office.

On Sept. 14, 1920, Mr. Geddes testified, Merigold received $41,655.20 and paid to Arnold H. Brautigam $10,413.80, which was only 25 per cent in contrast with the previous 40 per cent. A check of Merigold's, the witness said, for $6,248.28, or 15 per cent of the city money, was found drawn on the Fort Dearborn National bank made payable to "currency" and indorsed by Merigold and also by his secretary, Catherine W. Doelle.

15 Per Cent Appears Again.

After that, it was shown, this practice was kept up, 15 per cent regularly disappearing in "currency." On some of the checks it was indicated just what bills were to be paid, in thousands, hundreds, fifties, tens, etc.

RIVER YIELDS MISSING MAN'S BODY.

The body of William Mantha of West avenue, Elmhurst, who has been missing for two months, was taken from the river at 16th street yesterday afternoon by South Clark street police. Mantha was employed at the La Salle street station by the American Railway Express company. His widow said she knew of no reason why he should commit suicide.

CLOTHES, LEGS, AND BEAUTY JAZZ BRITISH COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 23.—Betty Blythe's troubles over her stage trousseau continued to amaze the court today during the hearing of her suit against C. B. Samuelson for salary and expenses for the part she was supposed to play in the film version of Sir Henry Rider Haggard's story, "She."

The film star wore navy blue, with gray fur and a close fitting silver straw hat.

"I am no beauty," she testified. "I have only a certain amount of histrionic beauty, but I do know how to wear clothes and how to design them."

The counsel for the defense said that the actress refused to wear certain clothes because they covered up too much of her figure and handed over her photograph in what is described as a pink dress with a band around the waist.

"I am looking for the dress," said the attorney.

"Is it not a fact that you refused to wear this dress because you wanted a slit up the side in order to show your leg?"

Miss Blythe gave an indirect reply.

BURGLAR ENTERS WITH FALSE KEY.

Burglars believed to have used a duplicate key gained entrance to the home of Albert Carlson, 1303 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, while the family was away yesterday and carried off $50 and a suit of clothes. The burglary was discovered last night when the family returned home.

BLAIR SERVED WITH $100,000 SUIT SUMMONS

A summons in the $100,000 damage suit brought against him by Miss Geraldine Markham, chorus girl, for injuries received in an automobile accident, was served yesterday upon Wolcott Blair in his home at 720 Rush street. At the same time word was received from the east that Miss Markham denied reports that she would drop the suit. She declared that her attorney, James C. O'Brien, had full authority to act for her, and that the case was entirely in his hands.

EXPECT GUILTY PLEAS IN CO-ED ASSAULT TRIAL

Grand Jury Will Report to Judge Today.

Sycamore, Ill., April 23.—[Special.]—Reports that Emerson Wilson, Stanley Hurt, and Leonard Rich will plead guilty to a charge of assaulting Miss Dorothy Westervelt, Northern Illinois Teachers' college co-ed, gained circulation here tonight.

It was regarded as certain that the grand jury has voted indictments against the youths and will report them tomorrow. The jury recessed yesterday soon after hearing several more witnesses, and this was taken to indicate that action was speedily taken on the evidence.

Two Attorneys Withdraw.

Reports that the boys will plead guilty were strengthened by the announcement tonight that F. W. Gardner of Rochelle and J. W. Cliffe of Sycamore, defense attorneys, had withdrawn from the case.

In case pleas of not guilty are entered State's Attorney Poust indicated today he would ask Judge W. J. Fulton to set an early date for trial and to increase bail. Rich is now at liberty on $5,000 bail. The other two are in jail here.

Rich is at his home near De Kalb, where it is said his mother is seriously ill as the result of a nervous collapse which followed her son's arrest.

Girl Taken Home.

Miss Westervelt, who testified before the grand jury yesterday, was taken back to her home in Shabbona. She is still in a weakened condition as a result of the attack which occurred a week ago Sunday. She fainted after her appearance before the jurors.

HESLY IDENTIFIED AS SLAYER OF DEPUTY SHERIFF

Daniel Hesly, who confessed to the $37,000 Indiana Harbor mail robbery, was identified yesterday as the man who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Walter Fisher of Will county. Fisher was slain near Orland on the day Hesly made away with the pay roll of the Inland Steel company.

The identification was made in Crown Point by Barney Hostert, garage man of Mokena, who drove Deputy Fisher in a chase after Hesly who had robbed Dr. Ernest G. McMahon of his automobile. Dr. McMahon also identified Hesly.

Chief Leroy Davidson of the county highway police said he would appear before the grand jury today in an effort to secure a murder indictment against Hesly. If the indictment is returned extradition proceedings will be started at once.

CHANG RULES IN PEKING AS WU MOVES UP ARMY

Powers Fear Clash of Chinese Victors.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PEKING, April 23.—Gen. Wang Han-ming, Manchurian appointee as commander of the Peking garrison, paid official calls today. He was accompanied by Gen. Chang Tso-lin's son, Gen. Chang Hsueh-liang, and the commanders of the Chihli and Shantung armies. They explained that the purpose in occupying Peking and suburbs was for the preservation of order.

The legations are apprehensive as to the reliability of the Shantung troops under Gen. Wang, since he commands brigades formed of bandits enlisted as a condition for the release of foreigners seized in 1923.

The situation was further complicated, in the eyes of the foreign powers, by the arrival today of Gen. Wang Hwai-ching, Gen. Wu Pei-fu's appointee as Peking commander on the recommendation of the safety committee. He was accompanied by three brigades. The latter were unable to enter the city because of the presence of Shantung troops.

Wu Calls Agreement Broken.

Gen. Wu is much dissatisfied with the Manchurian attitude, asserting that the agreement for the non-occupation of Peking was violated. He also wants warrants for 208 Chinese under Red influence, including several recent cabinet ministers.

The vernacular press published a letter addressed to Gen. Wu from the soviet ambassador, M. Karakhan, inviting him to join the Kuominchun (national armies) against Gen. Chang, which Gen. Wu curtly refused as unwarranted interference in Chinese affairs.

Gen. Wu and Gen. Chang certainly are in accord on ridding China of bolshevist influences, but they disagree on all internal questions, as shown by the Manchurian appointees to essential Peking offices, which includes political control of the telegraphs.

Chang Backed by 80,000 Troops.

It is estimated that 80,000 troops favorable to Gen. Chang are within a radius of twenty miles of Peking, while Gen. Wu continues to move his troops northward. The latter is menaced to the rear by troops of Hunan and Kwangsi provinces, while Gen. Chang is confronted with threats on the Siberian borders owing to his determination to force Moscow to recall M. Karakhan.

Although checked in the north, indications are that the communist faction is about to reassume control of the Canton government of south China.

Chang and Russia Agree, Report.

MOSCOW, April 23.—(AP)—M. Serebriakoff of the soviet railway commissariat, who was empowered to negotiate a settlement of the recent dispute with Marshal Chang Tso-lin, the Manchurian chieftain, has signed an agreement with the marshal. Consequently Chang has withdrawn his note to the soviet consul general at Mukden, Manchuria, which made complaint against the soviet ambassador to Peking, M. Karakhan, while Russia also has withdrawn its note condemning the Mukden authorities for their attack on M. Karakhan.

Soviet Flag Is Unfurled at Shakespeare Memorial

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, April 23.—Angry crowds here watched the unfurling of the red soviet flag among the flags of sixty-three nations as part of the ceremonies held in connection with the birthday of William Shakespeare.

TROOPS GUARD 3 NEGROES HELD ON GIRL'S STORY

Madisonville, Ky., April 23.—(AP)—Madisonville slept tonight by the measured tread of Kentucky national guardsmen. The troops, 500 strong, were sent to preserve order at the grand jury hearing of three Negroes held on charges of attacking a young white woman. The Negroes were indicted today and the trial of one was set for April 27.

Brig. Gen. Ellerbe Carter, in charge of the troops, announced tonight that the troops would remain on guard at the jail until after the trial.

Early tonight crowds, curious rather than vengeful, gathered about the town, but no evidence of violence was seen.

The courthouse was guarded by machine gunners during the hearing, and the courtroom was closed to all except court officials and newspaper men. All were searched as they entered the building.

WHOLE FLAKE
OATS

Ask your grocer

Said a grocer recently: "I can't see why anybody buys any kind of rolled oats but Armour's Whole Flake. Look at this! See how much bigger and whiter these flakes are! Just like old-fashioned rolled oats—and yet they cook in 5 minutes into the creamiest, most delicious dish you ever tasted."

This Good old-fashioned rolled oats

cooks in only 5 minutes! No other brand can compare! Doctors recommend it for its balanced food value, its vitamines, its mineral salts, and healthful, laxative bran. Thousands of women now refuse all imitations, because Armour's is better and costs no more. Insist on Armour's Whole Flake Oats.

Also
Armour's QUICK Oats
Cooks in 3 minutes
Entirely different! Cooks quicker than Armour's Whole Flake Oats—yet contains the body-building, energizing food elements, and laxative bran which your family needs so much at breakfast. Try it!

a low PRICE isn't ALWAYS a BARGAIN

A SHRIVELLED, pithy orange, bought at three cents isn't a bargain. It's woefully expensive. It's a total loss of three cents—for its food value is little or none.

A big, luscious, thin-skinned orange, on the other hand, purchased for a cent or two more is a much better buy because it is rich in nutritive value. You radiate real satisfaction when you've devoured the last juicy morsel. You're getting something for your money.

That goes for all foods! Good food is the secret of health. You can't afford to feed your family with questionable foods at any price. You save nothing and lose enormously.

Our prices are often lowest but the quality is always highest. Satisfaction is guaranteed. And in addition, we offer you free telephone and delivery service.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a billious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Itching, painful rash on hand yields to Resinol

Huntington, L. I., N. Y., Dec. 20:—"I want to tell you what your Resinol Ointment has done for me. Some time ago, I had a red, scaly rash between my fingers that came from using too much harsh soap and soap powder. It itched badly, especially at night. I am a housekeeper and every time I had to put my hands in water the pain was intense. One evening I read a Resinol advertisement in the paper and decided to buy a jar. I did and after I had used it for about two months, my trouble was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Ward Chapman, R. F. D. No. 1, c/o G. James.

JOHN BROWN AID, LUKE PARSONS, DIES IN KANSAS

Last Survivor of Famous Band of Free Staters.

Salina, Kas., April 23.—(AP)—Death that he had confronted so often as a youth today laid its hand on Luke F. Parsons, 93, last survivor of the famous John Brown band. The old free stater had been ill for several weeks.

When Parsons came west into Kansas in the spring of 1856, the country was in the throes of the free state-slave state agitation. He joined John Brown and his five sons in their fight to make Kansas a free state, and was with him in all his battles against the Missourians who sought to control Kansas politics and to extend slavery into the state.

Although selected by Brown as one of his ten picked men for the raid into Virginia at Harper's Ferry, Parsons could not accompany him.

Wounded at Fort Titus.

Parsons was day clerk at the famous Eldridge or Free State hotel at Lawrence, Kas., when it was burned by raiders and the printing presses destroyed.

In the attack on Fort Titus, near Lecompton, Kas., the headquarters of the border raiders, Parsons was wounded. In that action the first two balls fired from an old brass cannon were molded from type picked up around the newspaper offices in Lawrence following the raid. As the shots sounded the captain in charge of the attack cried: "Those are the second edition of the Herald of Freedom (one of the newspapers destroyed at Lawrence). How do you like it, eh?"

Was Osawatomie Here.

In the battle of Osawatomie, Kas., fought Aug. 31, 1856, Brown had but a handful of men to oppose more than 400 border raiders from Missouri. Parsons and ten other men were selected by Brown to hold a blockhouse.

"Take more pains to end life well than to live long," Parsons was told by Brown when they went into the fray.

Following the hanging of Brown, Parsons became the first sheriff of Saline county, Kansas. He entered the sixth Kansas cavalry at the outbreak of the civil war, serving nearly four years.

The latter part of his life was spent on a farm near here. A few years ago he moved into Salina.

CICERO STARTS ANNUAL HEALTH PROMOTION WEEK

Sunday will mark the opening day of the annual Health Promotion week in Cicero, according to a proclamation yesterday by President Joseph Z. Klenha of Cicero.

He and Commissioner of Health J. J. Hood urged the residents to continue their fight against disease, saying that their past efforts had caused the annual death rate to drop from 13.7 per cent to the thousand persons to 11.5 per cent last year.

Dr. Hood said that infant mortality had dropped ten per cent in 1925.

MILLWORKERS' CHIEF DECIDES AGAINST STRIKES

Owners Compromise on Pay Demand.

There will be no strike of Chicago mill workers on May 1, according to Harry Jensen, president of the carpenters' district council, who last night announced that the demands of the 4,000 mill employés will be submitted again to the employers next week.

Jensen said the mill workers by a vote of 2,233 to 535 voted during the week to enforce their demands for establishment of a five day week, a wage increase from $1.15 an hour to $1.25 an hour, and also the right to insert article 13 in the new agreement. The latter is a clause, employers say, that forbids the use of nonunion made frames, and sash, doors, and all interior trim, buffets, pantry and medicine cases, all fixtures, in a building where the carpentry is done by union men.

Balks at Article 13.

S. F. D. Meffley, secretary of the Chicago Millwork association, informed Jensen several days ago that members of the association wouldn't consider the wage increase demand, nor the five day week proposal, nor article 13, which the mill owners regard as illegal. Meffley informed union headquarters, however, that the mill owners would agree to give their employés a contract providing a wage scale of $1.15 an hour for six months and then a boost to $1.20 an hour for the second six months of the year covered by the agreement.

This year the mill owners organized an association and prepared to fight any demands they believed unwarranted. After several meetings it was decided that in the event Jensen attempted to enforce his set of demands on May 1 the mill owners will declare for an open shop and hire union and nonunion mill workers alike.

Decides Against Strike.

It was said the stand of the mill owners resulted in Jensen's announcement that there would be no strike, regardless of the four to one sentiment in favor of a walkout.

Officials of the Decorating and Painting Contractors' association met yesterday in the Adams Express company building at 115 South Dearborn street, announcing later that painters had signed an agreement with them was erroneous.

DEMANDS ON U.S. TREASURY WORRY OUR 'WATCHDOGS'

House Committee Scans All Bills Carefully.

Washington, D. C., April 23.—[Special.]—Appropriations aggregating more than $200,000,000 are contemplated in the numerous bills awaiting action by the house rules committee.

Other bills, including one for agricultural relief, which will require more than $100,000,000, as well as that providing approximately $150,000,000 for expansion of the army air service, are about to be reported from other committees, it was explained by Representative Snell [Rep., N. Y.], chairman of the rules committee. His statement was in answer to critics who charge that world war veterans' legislation and measures to liberalize the civil service retirement laws are being blocked in his committee.

"We are trying to protect the federal treasury," declared Mr. Snell, "and in doing that, we must get all these bills before us, including the agricultural relief and army aviation measures, so that we can have a complete financial picture before us. We must separate the essential bills from those not so necessary."

Measures now on the calendar provide increased pensions to civil war veterans, cost $61,00,0000 to $70,000,000; civil service employés' retirement bill, cost $25,000,000 to $35,000,000; equalization of pay for active and retired army and navy officers, cost $834,000; veterans' legislation, cost $38,000,000; the rivers and harbors bill, cost $37,000,000, and bills providing creation of military parks, monuments and increases of federal judges' salaries.

President Coolidge is much disturbed over the pressure which is brought to bear on congress to enact legislation which will increase the expenditures of the government through permanent charges. The President fears that this would make it difficult, if not impossible, to maintain a balanced budget and that it might result in a deficit.

Chicago's First Suburb

Ray Rice

Chicago

Dear Mr. Rice —
I am glad to learn that you will reserve for me a modest tract in the extensive development to be known as Dunham Woods. I asked to be let in because of a sort of sentimental interest in the Dunham property. When I was a boy in Indiana we knew that the Dunhams over in Illinois had a magnificent estate in a very favored region and raised prize-winning draft horses.
Later on, when I lived in Chicago,
I found out more about the Dunham home. The old farm and the woodland pastures will be the ideal site for an interesting residence suburb.
You are to be congratulated on arranging with Mr. Dunham for the putting through of a very unusual and substantial project.
Sincerely,
George Ade

JOSEPH PENNELL, FAMOUS ETCHER AND AUTHOR, DIES

Illustrations Won Prizes at Many Expositions.

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Joseph Pennell, internationally known etcher and illustrator, died late today of pneumonia at his apartment at the Hotel Margaret in Brooklyn. He was 65 years old.

Mr. Pennell was almost as noted as an author as he was an illustrator. He and Mrs. Pennell collaborated in 1910 on "the authorized life of James A. McNeil Whistler." He was a contributor to the leading magazines.

Mr. Pennell was born in Philadelphia July 4, 1860, and became a pupil of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. He married Elizabeth Robins.

Winner of Many Prizes.

His illustrations won him medals at Paris, Philadelphia, Chicago, and Buffalo. In 1900 he was awarded a gold medal at the Paris exposition. Other gold medals were awarded him at Dresden, 1902; St. Louis exposition, 1904; Liege, 1905; Milan, 1906; Barcelona, 1907; Brussels, 1910; Amsterdam, 1912, and San Francisco, 1916.

Mr. Pennell was a teacher in the Art Students' league, recently specializing in etching and lithography. He taught right up until his illness last week.

His Works Found Everywhere.

He was one of the few illustrators whose works are contained in the national collections of almost every civilized nation. Mr. Pennell's last book, an autobiography, was called "The Adventures of an Illustrator." It deals with his artistic and æsthetic experiences in England, Italy, France, and America. It relates his experiences with Whistler, Sargent, John Hay, Bernard Shaw, John Van Dyke, William Dean Howells, George W. Cable, and many others.

SOLDIERS' FIELD BONDS UPHELD IN SUPREME COURT

Completion of Soldiers' field in time for the Army-Navy football game here in the fall and to handle the huge assembly planned by the Eucharistic congress in June was assured yesterday when the Supreme court at Springfield reaffirmed the decision upholding the validity of bonds issued by the South Park board for the restoration of the Fine Arts building in Jackson park and all other public improvements.

Work on the stadium and five viaducts over the Illinois Central tracks from Michigan avenue into Grant park and several other major improvements was due to stop this morning unless the high court returned a favorable decision.

In attacking the validity of the $5,000,000 bond issue for the Fine Arts building, Attorney William E. Furlong, 19 South La Salle street, hit at all the bond issues of the park board for all other improvements and the commissioners were unable to sell bonds for any purpose while the case was pending.

The Supreme court held with Furlong in its first decision. On a rehearing granted the park board the high court reversed its decision and reaffirmed it yesterday on a rehearing granted Attorney Furlong.

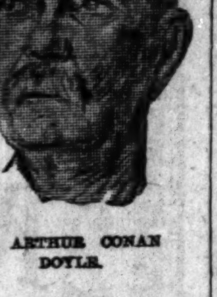
Two British Writers Invade U. S. to Tell About Real England

By Sidney Dark.
[English Critic.]

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—Before leaving for America, Gilbert Frankau, whose novel "Masterson" is a great success here, announced to the press that he was going on a mission to explain the real England to the citizens of the United States. America will find him both clever and entertaining.



ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE.

Another literary gentleman with a mission is Britten Austin, whose short stories are in great demand by the editors of American periodicals. Like Mr. Houghton, Mr. Britten Austin is persuaded that Europe is hastening to Mr. Mantalini's "demnition bowwows." In his volume of short stories, "The War God Walks Again," he describes with very great skill the horrors of the coming war which he apparently regards as inevitable, and of the coming revolution in which London will be given over to the Reds. It is all very disconcerting, but Mr. Britten Austin does not possess the Wells touch as a prophet.

There is one good ghost story in Conan Doyle's "The Land of Mist," which is really not fiction at all, but spiritualistic propaganda. Apart from this story I confess to have found the book intolerably dull. Conan Doyle is, of course, in deadly earnest and no one will doubt his sincerity. But the earnestness of the propagandist has destroyed the skill of the literary artist, and in this new book there is none of the flair or of the color and movement of his famous romances.

There is a rumor that Oxford university intends to confer on King Alfonso of Spain the degree of LL. D., and this has brought a vigorous protest from Blasco Ibañez, who is a perfervid republican. Ibañez, by the way, spends most of his time nowadays on the French Riviera.

H. G. Wells has arranged for the publication of another novel that is incidentally longer than any of its predecessors. It is to be called "The World of William Clissold," and Wells has himself described it as "an immense book about everything under the sun." It is to be published in two volumes in the late summer. A limited edition of five hundred copies, signed by the author, and issued in six volumes, will doubtless be eagerly bought by wealthy book collectors.

According to M. Pierre Mille, there is a constant and even increasing demand in France for the writings of the romantics of the nineteenth century. The publishing houses are constantly issuing new editions of Dumas père, Hugo, Balzac, Musset, and Baudelaire.

Carl Sandburg's poems have been issued in an English edition with a preface by Rebecca West in which she says that Sandburg is "like Robert Burns, a national poet." Miss West is obviously fearful that his genius may not be appreciated in England, for she adds that, "his lines will not reveal their music, and indeed have none to reveal, unless they are read with a middle west accent."

Frankau to Find "Spiritual Home" in Chicago on Monday

Gilbert Frankau will arrive in Chicago on Monday after one of the most spectacular visits in New York that it has been the pleasure, or the wearing out, of a visiting English author to have. That is because Mr. Frankau, being himself a journalist as well as a novelist, and being passionately interested in something besides himself—in the anti-labor movement in England—is always and eternally "good copy" for newspapers.

He has been interviewed and talked to and beaued around and tea-ed until he must feel that New York, if not all America, is a maelstrom. I saw him for a while when I was there, a very eager, very intense youngish person who immediately he knew I was from Chicago began to tell me with what avidity he was looking forward to his visit to Chicago. "I think that Chicago is going to be my spiritual home in America," he said, and he meant it.

Gilbert Frankau is in the exact opposite position from the usual English author who visits us. Most of them are tremendously popular here and only slightly well known in England. For instance, Archibald Marshall, who comes across the continent like the original conquering hero, so immensely popular is he with American readers, is scarcely known at all to Englishmen when you ask about him. Gilbert Frankau, on the other hand, is one of the very best sellers in England.

"Masterson" his latest novel, was a success from the moment it was published, and he has never had a failure. He is the son of another famous English author, "Frank Danby," but his popularity has far outclassed his mother's.

Britisher Pens Two More Vivid Books About Life on Sea

"Whalers and Whaling" and "The Ship Under Sail," by E. Keble Chatterton (Lippincott).

Two new books about the sea have just come from the prolific pen of the English authority, E. Keble Chatterton. In "Whalers and Whaling" he has presented a vivid picture of whaling ships, of the lives of whalers, and of the dangers and thrills which filled their days. He has gone back to contemporary accounts for his material and has brought his material up to date in a chapter on the present whaling industry. "The Splendor of the Sailing Ship Through the Ages" he subtitles his other book, which is a clear and concise account of how sailing ships progressed from the dugout to the five masted bark of the 20th century.

Donn Byrne Puts Beauty Into Novel of Modern Ireland

By Fanny Butcher.

"Hangman's House," by Donn Byrne. [Century.]

DONN BYRNE.

It has been many years since "Messer Marco Polo" was published. Each of those years has seen the addition of thousands to the devotees of its author, Donn Byrne. And to the original hundreds and the added thousands the news that their favorite author has written another novel is like the glad tidings.

Well, here it is. And for the eager suppliants, aquiver with yearnings, it will be kinder to tell what it is not right away than to describe its blessings.

"Hangman's House" is not, like "Messer Marco Polo," told by a delightful old Irishman who makes his tale vivid with Celtic embroideries of phrase. It is not a tale of ancient times like "O'Malley." But it is just as Irish, just as rooted in the soil as either of its most popular predecessors. It is a novel of present day Ireland, a tale of a hapless marriage and of a great and finally fulfilled love told in an atmosphere which is Ireland itself.

To those who found the old man in "Messer Marco Polo" one of the most delightful story tellers in the world, "Hangman's House" will be a disappointment, for there is only one minor character who has his picturesqueness of language. But to those who have long wanted a story of modern Ireland done by some one who has his own roots deep in Irish soil, "Hangman's House" will be a satisfaction.

To me, "Messer Marco Polo" is far and away the most delightful thing that Donn Byrne has ever done, but it is something which is unique. That particular thing cannot be done over and over again. To do it would prove its author negligible rather than a creator. As a novel—and leaving that gem of lovely prose out of the question—"Hangman's House" is the best thing that Donn Byrne has ever done. It is typically Byrneian in the fact that it is rather a beautifully painted picture than a story. Donn Byrne is rather an artist in the English language than a great craftsman of plot. As you remember his plots are always less memorable than the way he embroiders them.

"Hangman's House" is the story of a layer of Irish society interested in racing and politics and fox hunting, and there are in the book as thrilling descriptions of races and hunts as you will find in many a book. There were a few too many of them for me, but the very repetition of them gives the book a certain impressiveness.

It is also the story of the love of a man for a woman—a woman married to his cousin, a ne'er-do-well and there are poignant scenes recorded of the young man's tender care for his beloved.

It is the story of the workings of a revolutionary society, with a romantic and picturesque character at its head

But most of all it is a beautifully written description of modern Ireland and of life there. For that reason it is unlike any book for years, for there has not been a novel with that setting written by an American forever and ever, it seems.

There is one incident in the novel which is not only terrifically important in the story but which seems somehow to sum up the whole character of one of the four principals in the tale. The husband of the heroine, enraged at her, walks down and in cold blood shoots her favorite racing mare. That act builds such a barrier between the man and his fellow kind that he is even made unwelcome by tavernkeepers. He finds himself sinking lower and lower in the social scale because no one will have anything to do with a man who has shot a horse. His servants all leave him. He lives in squalor, shunned by every one. It is a very impressive panorama of the social disintegration of a human being through one act of passion. He was an unpleasant and unpopular person enough before that, but he was accepted as a human being. After it he was felt to be something lower than the lowest animals.

"Hangman's House" is certain to be one of the most popular novels of the year. It is just enough different from the usual run of tales to have piquancy for jaded readers, and it is the only novel of modern Ireland. It is written with great beauty. Its only obvious defect is that there is a little too much of the beautiful writing about it. The story is at times smothered in the style. But that is not a defect to frighten readers away. Rather, it is one to lure some who are a little worn out with the swift and fleet tales which are usually offered them.

Alluring Travels of Marco Polo Are Fascinating Reading

"The Travels of Marco Polo," edited by Manuel Komroff (Boni & Liveright).

"That's a Marco Polo" was a phrase used even in our own century in England, and it meant that the narrator was telling a whopper. The record of Marco Polo was made in the early days of the fourteenth century. The glamor of their fancifulness has been dispelled only lately by the findings of modern travelers. And that means, of course, that the record Marco Polo made was an almost miracuously accurate one.

After his death there appeared in every Venetian carnival a comic figure who made gross exaggerations and whose chief duty was to amuse the crowds. He represented the famous traveler. With such a history of the record itself, the Travels of Marco Polo assume an amusing as well as an historical value to us of the present day. That they have been carefully edited into a connected narrative, filled with, even to readers of today surfeited with thrilling books of travel, facts and descriptions of the most alluring sort.

Marco Polo was a skilled observer of interesting facts. The great Kublai Khan found in him an amusing narrator, and the young man bound himself to the complaisant emperor by his observations. He kept small note books, wrote down whatever amusing or interesting facts that met his eye in his constant travels over the great Mogul empire, and, with his notes in hand, embroidered the hours for the emperor. When, in a battle between the merchants of Genoa and Venice he was captured and thrown into prison, he sent for his note books and with the aid of another prisoner set down the record of those hours of story telling.

The fact that for many centuries this volume was the only European record of Asiatic mediaeval culture—and discountenanced—makes it, as I said before, an even more alluring document than it would have been if it had been taken as gospel. Many modern readers have found in the travels fascinating evenings. The present edition will bring many more to others, for it has been edited with affectionate regard for the literary style as well as the facts, and has been printed in a delightful format.

Mukerji's Venture Into New Field Is Not Up to Standard

"The Secret Listeners of the East," by Dhan Gopal Mukerji.

The author of "Caste and Outcaste," of "My Brother's Face" (which is as interesting a book about modern India as I have ever read), and of those delightful juveniles, "Kari the Elephant," and "Hari the Jungle Lad," has entered another field of writing in his new book, "The Secret Listeners of the East."

He has gone into the mystery and intrigue of business. In this his first novel he tells the story of the murder of two English government men and the kidnaping of two others through a society of revolutionists, who call themselves the secret listeners of the east and who cut off the ears of their victims as proof that they have been taken by the society.

It isn't to be compared to Mr. Mukerji's other books. There is nothing of the brooding, mystic quality that there was in "My Brother's Face." There is none of the mystery of the east about it. It is just an ordinary, not too well done mystery story, which deals with an international intrigue.

Judge Gemmill Draws from Experience in Volume of Essays

"The Kingdom of Hearts," by William Nelson Gemmill (Jordan).

Judge Gemmill has written in "The Kingdom of Hearts" a series of essays on the relationship of men and women, the material for which he gathered during the two years that he spent as judge of the Court of Domestic Relations. The essays deal—often humorously—with the disagreements and the methods of agreement between the sexes. Judge Gemmill cites some of the amusing cases which have come to his notice, as well as drawing from history and legal records. He subtitles his book "New Rules for the Oldest Game in the World."

"Lady of the Abbey" Is Amusing Novel, but Lacks Irishmen

"The Lady of the Abbey," by George A. Birmingham (Bobbs-Merrill).

GEORGE A. BIRMINGHAM.

George Birmingham has spent much of his writing time lately on books not quite of the ilk of "Lalage's Lovers" and "Spanish Gold," which are—with "Priscilla's Spies"—as good funny books as have ever been written. They are of a definite genre, they have the incomparable Irish wit, and they're the kind of novels that demand nothing, but don't leave you with the feeling that you had better have been learning to skate backwards or do the Charleston or something else useful with your time.

His latest is called "The Lady of the Abbey," and although it isn't as amusing and exciting and altogether delightful as the early books it is much more of all of those adjectives than most light novels are. The reason it isn't, of course, is because there is only one Irishman in it, and he is so slightly in it that he really doesn't light up the story much.

The tale is a fanciful one of an abbess and her convent and a rich American who had married a king of some little country and who wanted to have her son restored to the throne (after his father's abdication and death). The abbess and the convent come into the story because the abbess consents to take care of a shipload of guns and to deliver them to the nobles who hope to restore themselves with the monarchy. The whiplash of the story comes when the reader discovers the abbess' real ideas. The abbess had been a great figure in the great world, and she still retained many of her worldly qualities, chief among them a tendency to swear with fluency and color.

"The Lady of the Abbey" is an amusing light novel, better written than the average of novels, if not so amusing and delightful as the early Birminghams.

CONFESSIONS

Sylvia Townsend Warner's first novel, "Lolly Willowes," has had the distinction of being the first book chosen for the Book-a-Month club by a jury of five, consisting of Henry Seidel Canby, Heywood Broun, Christopher Morley, Dorothy Canfield, and William Allen White, a signal honor for any novel and a stupendous one for a first effort. "Lolly Willowes" is a fantasy, charmingly written. When I asked its author what book she would rather have written than any other she replied:

Dear Miss Butcher:

Before the act of confession one should investigate one's conscience. I have looked into mine. I find it a tissue of innumerable fluctuating entires. But beneath all these there is one enduring covet.

The authors I envy perhaps never wrote a word in their lives, and no one knows their names; but they gave us such things as "Cinderella" and "The Sleeping Beauty," "Clerk Saunders" and "The Wife of Usher's Well."

Yours sincerely,

Sylvia Townsend Warner.

Writers Find Value in Tip on Fiction by Edith Wharton

"The Writing of Fiction," by Edith Wharton (Scribner's).

In a small book which is done with all of her usual perfect skill Edith Wharton has told of "The Writing of Fiction." The essays in it are rather general conversations on the art of writing than specific suggestions about what to do and what not to do. For the writer, however, I know of nothing more stimulating than this little book—it takes all of the chatter about fiction writing out of the class of gush and jabbering and puts it into the class of scholarly talk.

A TALE OF TWO RACES
By WALTER WHITE
Author of The Fire in the Flint

Walter White exposes an aspect of Negro life hitherto untouched, in his story of Mimi Daquin, a colored girl who "goes white" and marries a millionaire.

The fact, generally unknown, that some 355,000 Mulattoes disappeared from the census figures between 1910 and 1920, with a corresponding increase in white of the same age, indicates that Mimi Daquin is representative of a large class.

"An excellent novel which should be read with increasing wonder by those who are unfamiliar with the less sordid circles of Negro life. . . . With this second book Mr. White takes on quite a new stature.

What has Christianity accomplished?

Where does it stand today?
What does it promise?

The world is asking these momentous questions. Men and women, in their thoughtful hours, are demanding something more than mere opinions and controversy. And now, in answer to the challenge, comes this inspiring work, from some of the most distinguished leaders of the world—

An Outline of CHRISTIANITY
The Story of Our Civilization

Nothing approaching this in scope and purpose has ever been attempted before. Leaders of thought, of all races and creeds, have joined forces to interpret fully every phase of Christianity. Celebrated thinkers,—Catholic, Protestant, Jew, Moslem and Hindu,—historians, economists, sociologists, scientists, lawyers, educators, humanitarians, have collaborated and have found themselves in full accord. The result is an illuminating, engrossing story, free from conflict and confusion, complete in every detail.

No matter with what church or denomination you may be affiliated, or whether you have conceived your own religion, or have learned to do without one—this great work will bring to you inspiration, courage, faith and hope.

AN OUTLINE OF CHRISTIANITY stands as a monument to this age. No description can do it full justice. It is a work which must find its way into every home. To be in tune with life itself you should have these matchless volumes to read and reread.

The New York Times in a front-page feature review by P. W. Wilson, says:

"Amid its unfolding drama runs the history of civilization. These men are writing what they sincerely believe. They are scholars who have given their lives to arriving at what they hold to be the truth and communicating it to others.

"Like the Bible itself, 'The Outline' is a composite witness of the spiritual in human affairs.

"Generations of readers will leave the imprint of use on these pages. To absorb the volumes as a whole would be an education. Any one at any time can open 'The Outline' anywhere and find something that stimulates interest."

A crashing, dashing, dazzling polytechnic display!

Rufus A. White, WBCN, 7:15 to 7:50, using forceful words to draw mental travelogue pictures of Peru and Bolivia vividly to reproduce the glory of the Incas, make the mountains personal, and kindle in us a thousand scenes as vivid as though we were actually taking the trip under ideal circumstances.

WMAQ, 8 to 9, from woman's world's fair; Marion McAfee, a soprano whose merits increased in proportion to her recital's length; Princess Running Eagle (Blackfeet Indian), suggesting that Chicago women hang their babies in baskets on their back when shopping; Belle Forbes Cutter, soprano, of perfect radio voice; Ruth Bloomenthal, violinist.

W-G-N (from New York), 8 to 9:30; mixed quartet brilliantly singing Lehmann's song cycle, "In a Persian Garden."

WLS, 8:35 to 9:15 (also later), first public appearance of the Woman's Symphony Orchestra of Chicago, Richard Czerwonky, conducting, in a long and very choice classical program, including "Fingal's Cave" overture (Mendelssohn) and "Scenes Alsaciennes" (Massenet), complete, and many others, all played brilliantly.

W-G-N (from New York), 9 to 9:30, concert orchestra in semi-classical program, and, by coincidence, playing Richard Czerwonky's "Serenade."

WLS, 9:15 to 9:45; Young American Artist's series program; Kathleen March Strain, contralto, singing American compositions, and Marie Kettering, pianist, giving works by John Alden Carpenter, Leo Sowerby, and unfamiliar works by Liszt a most commendable airing.

WMAQ, 9:20 to 10, from woman's world's fair theater; Baroness Olga von Turk-Rohn, brilliant coloratura soprano, winning prolonged applause in the theater and here; Marion Hall, violinist, playing attractively; La Salle string quintet playing universally liked high class popular numbers.

KYW, 9 to 9:30, Imperial Male quartet, concerted numbers most enjoyed.

W-G-N, 9:30 to 10, the Phantom violinist and his Phantom announcer.

Ruth Orcutt and Eleanor Koskiewicz, pianists, WEBH, 9:35 to 9:56, repeating their two piano number, Tschaikowsky's Concerto in D flat minor, this sounding heavier and grander than when originally played by them at this station on April 9.

The Woman's Symphony orchestra of Chicago, WLS, 9:45 to 10:23, concluding their program with short classical numbers.

The presentation, "In Salutation to Father," WHT, 10, by mixed quartet and pipe organ. WHT'S first anniversary program tonight. Congratulations.

DAWES SUPPORTS LEGION DRIVE TO ENROLL MEMBERS

In a letter to Capt. James C. Russell yesterday Vice President Charles G. Dawes vigorously advocated support of the Illinois drive to increase the membership of the American Legion.

"I am glad to know that the Illinois department of the American Legion is making a special membership campaign this month, and I hope it will be highly successful," wrote Gen. Dawes.

"The Legion is an effective force in our national life, and it can be made more effective if more of those who served in the armed forces during the world war would ally themselves with it. Organized effort always is more effective than individual effort.

"I am proud of my membership in and association with the Legion. I am sure the former service men of Illinois not now in the Legion would feel the same way about it if they would join the organization."

MOSCOW FLOODS RUN THOUSANDS OUT OF HOMES

MOSCOW, April 23.—(AP)—The Moscow river today was rising over its left bank, inundating the suburban sections of the city and threatening a serious flood in Moscow itself. The situation has been declared grave, and firemen and the militia were mobilized to guard the city.

Great multitudes lined the Kremlin water front, watching the river as it flooded adjacent areas, cutting off the suburbs and driving thousands of persons away from their homes. Scores of houses near the bronze bridge were flooded.

The Bauman region, inhabited mostly by workmen, resembled a lake, the dwellers escaping over the roofs and shouting to firemen, "Rush boats, otherwise we drown."

SERVICES HELD IN CALIFORNIA FOR MRS. ALBERT DAY

Simple funeral services for Mrs. Fannie Pynchon Day, wife of Albert M. Day of Lake Forest, were held at noon yesterday in the Little Church of the Flowers at Pasadena, Cal., where her death occurred on Tuesday. Mrs. Day had spent the winter in Pasadena with her husband.

Members of the family, including her son-in-law, Tiffany Blake, and three of her daughters, Mrs. Margaret Day Blake and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell of Chicago and Mrs. Edward L. Yeomans of California, and a number of friends were present at the services. Her other daughters, Mrs. Frances C. Farwell of Lake Forest and Mrs. James Gamble Rogers of New York, were unable to attend.

Mrs. Day also is survived by eight grandchildren, several great-grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Henry R. Mallory of New York, and two brothers, George M. Pynchon of New York and John Pynchon of Chicago.

It was announced that no services will be held in Lake Forest where burial will take place. Mr. Day will remain three or four weeks with Mrs. Blake and perhaps other members of the family in the Huntington hotel at Pasadena.

Mrs. Day was a lineal descendant of William Pynchon, leader of the colonial founders of Springfield, Mass., where she was born in 1845. To all who knew her she represented the finest tradition of the American gentlewoman. In 1864 she married Mr. Day, also a member of an old Springfield family, and they moved to Chicago in 1877.

For twenty years Mr. Day was active head of the Presbyterian hospital here. He is now president emeritus of the institution.

15 DIE; HUNDREDS HURT AS MOSLEMS AND HINDUS RIOT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 23.—Advices reaching London tonight indicate the recrudescence today of the Hindu-Moslem riots in Calcutta.

In a telegram from the Bengal capital, dispatched at 1 a. m. Saturday, the Daily Telegraph correspondent says, "Fifteen persons were killed and hundreds were wounded and removed to the hospital. The city now is calm, but a feeling of apprehension prevails." Another dispatch says the rioters killed the Calcutta chief of police.

Calcutta was the scene of savage fighting between the Hindus and Moslems from April 2 to April 6, resulting in the loss of thirty-five lives. Hundreds were wounded and large numbers of rioters were arrested.

Dana W. Hall, Member of Ginn & Co., Is Dead

Dana W. Hall, 60 years old, 6432 Kimbark avenue, a member of the firm of Ginn and company, educational book publishers, died yesterday in the Augustana hospital after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Hall was graduated from Colby college in 1890. He entered the Ginn firm's employ 30 years ago. In 1908 he was made a partner. Funeral services will be held Monday. Burial will be in Mount Greenwood cemetery. A widow and one son survive.

THOMAS W. RITCHIE, vice president of W. C. Ritchie & Co., box manufacturers, will be buried today in Rosehill cemetery. Services will be held at 4 p. m. in the cemetery chapel. Mr. Ritchie, who was 55 years old, died suddenly of heart disease Wednesday night at his home in Indian Hill.

JOHN LARSON, 77 years old, 2822 North Springfield avenue, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday. He was stricken while preparing for bed, it is believed. He had been a resident of Chicago for fifty years.

ROSEHILL MAUSOLEUM

Compassed About Forever With Beauty

What more fitting expression of your reverence for the memory of dear ones passed on than to protect their earthly remains in surroundings of infinite beauty!

The sweep of marble corridors, the fine bronze work on strong gates, the carving on mighty stones faithfully represents your devotion—watchfully strong, yet exquisitely lovely, without change. Reverently laid to rest in the sure security of beautiful Rosehill, they sleep throughout centuries untouched by devastating time.

Single crypts in the new addition to Rosehill Mausoleum may be had for as little as $450. These, as well as the most costly, are doubly assured of perpetual, watchful care by a trust fund and the Mausoleum Building Special Reserve Fund. Inquiries, by mail or in person, will receive prompt and courteous attention, with no thought of obligation.

Y. W. C. A. OPENS DRIVE MONDAY TO GET $186,182

A luncheon Monday at the headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. at 59 East Monroe street, will launch the annual canvass for current expenses and capital expenditures for 1926 under the chairmanship of Mrs. William L. Hodgkins, head of the metropolitan finance committee. The amount to be secured for the budget is $186,182.

The Chicago branch of the organization made rapid strides last year. It has received three large bequests—the Harriet Hammond McCormick Memorial, which will house 500 girls when erected; the gift of the Mrs. Carrie McGill residence at 4938 Drexel avenue, and an additional $50,000, and the Victor F. Lawson legacy of $100,000.

During 1925 the Y. W. C. A. housed 12,700 girls at the Central, Indiana avenue, and West Side branches.

Rites Will Be Monday for John J. Sullivan

Funeral services for John J. Sullivan, retired police sergeant, will be held at 9:30 a. m. Monday at the chapel at 2168 North California avenue and at Our Lady of Grace church. Sergt. Sullivan died Thursday night at his home, 3413 Drummond place, after a lingering illness. He was 70 years old.

The Adopted Wife

By Amelie Rives
(Princess Troubetzkoy.)

SYNOPSIS.

Celia Gibbs, whose mother died when she was an infant, is left an orphan at fourteen by the death of her father. Gibbs was an artist, but he was known more for his eccentricities than for his paintings. He was of a cold, brutal disposition and treated his only child cruelly.

Hilary Fraser, a dilettante bachelor of thirty-eight, is one of Gibbs' few friends. After the artist's death he is astonished to learn that Gibbs has bequeathed to his care and charity the orphaned Celia. Hilary's sister, Laura Eversham, assumes the responsibility of Celia's education. She places her along with her own daughter in a convent in France. When the girls finish school Laura takes Celia into her house to live. Laura's daughter marries an Englishman and goes abroad. Shortly afterward Laura dies. In desperation over Celia's situation Hilary proposed that she marry him in order that she might live in his house with propriety. She is satisfied with the arrangement until she overhears some acquaintances gossiping about her "white marriage" and for the first time she learns that her father had left her penniless and that she is living on Hilary's charity. She is deeply disturbed by this knowledge and she grows restless. When Padraic O'Shea, a young musician, pays her marked attention she is flattered by it and encourages him. He suggests that she divorce Hilary and marry him, but this she will not do. He tells Hilary that Padraic wants to marry her and he also suggests that she divorce him. She is hurt at the suggestion and quarrels with Hilary. Later she tells Hilary that she has decided to marry Padraic and she prepares to go away with him.

INSTALLMENT LIV.

CELIA'S FANCY.

Celia had now about an hour and three-quarters at her disposal before train time. After posting the letter and parcel to Hilary she took a taxi to the Colony club for the sealed envelope that Padraic was to send there by special messenger at three o'clock. It contained her passenger and Pullman tickets, and when she was in the taxi again she opened it.

Her heart quickened as she looked at the tickets, then seemed to drop suddenly. They made things almost too real somehow. . . . Then she snapped the elastic band once more about the inner envelope that held them and put them away in the suede bag.

The next address she gave the taxi driver was that of M. Etienne, Coiffeur de Dames. It was a small place, being so very select, and charmingly fitted up with genuine Louis XVI. furniture, enameled white with Natier-blue brocade.

A young woman with cendré hair, exquisitely arranged, came forward to meet her.

"Can I see M. Etienne?" asked Celia.

"Hélas, madame, M. Etienne ees verree occupy. Wood not madame consent to see M. Louis? Zee brozzaire of M. Etienne?"

Celia had not spoken in French on purpose. She did not wish to do anything just then that Mrs. Hilary Fraser had done.

"Yes, thanks. I will see M. Louis," she replied.

"Alors, will madame be so amiable as to vait . . . here?"

She opened a door, disclosing a small, pretty room with a Louis XVI. dressing table, its mirror framed in flowers of Saxe, a powder chair of the same period, and all the implements of the coiffeur's profession ready to hand.

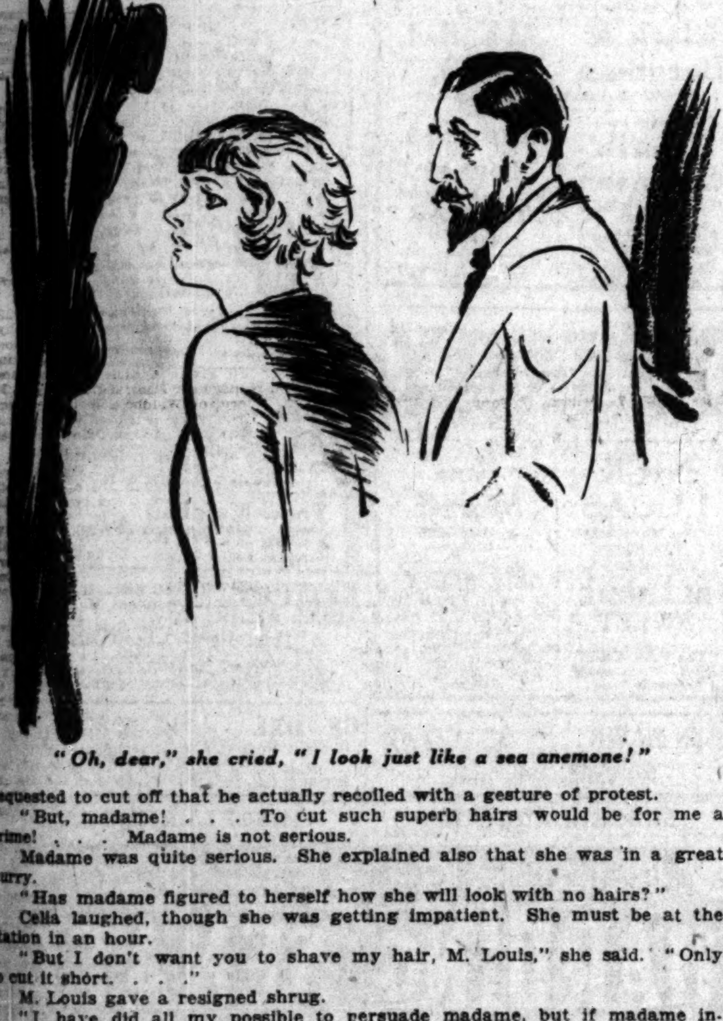
In a few moments M. Louis entered, grave, slight, rather pale. His small, pointed beard made him look more like an artist than a coiffeur. Had any one suggested this to him he would have replied, still grave, that he hoped he was both.

"M. Louis?" asked Celia.

He bowed. "Oui, madame. Madame desire?"

"I wish you to cut off my hair, please," said Celia, removing the big black hat.

The young Frenchman was so startled by the sight of what he was requested to cut off that he actually recoiled with a gesture of protest.



"Oh, dear," she cried, "I look just like a sea anemone!"

"But, madame! . . . To cut such superb hairs would be for me a crime! . . . Madame is not serious.

Madame was quite serious. She explained also that she was in a great hurry.

"Has madame figured to herself how she will look with no hairs?"

Celia laughed, though she was getting impatient. She must be at the station in an hour.

"But I don't want you to shave my hair, M. Louis," she said. "Only to cut it short. . . ."

M. Louis gave a resigned shrug.

"I have did all my possible to persuade madame, but if madame insists. . . ."

Madame did insist.

"Alors—I will cut her hairs to resemble those of un page du Moyen Age—a middle aged page," he translated, nearly setting Celia off again.

But she controlled herself. There was not a moment to spare even for laughter.

"Please do," she urged eagerly.

Taking from a drawer a pair of shears, he approached her with an expression of pained disapproval. He disliked intensely the thing he was called upon to do. Bobbed hair had not then become a fashion. Mrs. Castle had only lately clipped her curly locks; a very few foreign and some English women wore short hair, "frizé" or "bouclé" for the most part; but as a rule it was only les femmes emancipées, artists, and suffragettes who dared appear with cropped hair. M. Louis' disapproval of the whole lot was unqualified. As for Celia, he thought her not only cracked but obstinately idiotic. Her sole allure was in her magnificent tresses. "Pauvre dame," he reflected, "avec son manque d'intelligence et son manque de goût . . . c'est pathetique!"

He laid the shears on the dressing table and, with slim, agile fingers, began to décoiffer her. The loosened shower fell over the scooped out back of the chair and lay for some inches on the carpet.

"Mais . . . c'est incroyable . . . inoui," he muttered. "It is not to believe such hairs!"

He made one last attempt.

"Madame is fixed? Madame will not reconsider?"

"No, no! Hurry, please!"

"Alors. . . ." sighed M. Louis.

He began to braid it into three great plaits, looking and feeling as if he were preparing to decapitate her rather than merely to sever her superb hair from her foolish head.

"Eh bien, madame," he said when the plaits were finished, "maintenant, je vais les couper. . . . I go now to cut."

It was said in the tone that an executioner might have said: "Make your peace with God . . . the ax is about to fall."

"Very well," replied Celia.

At the grind of the shears through the first braid a fancy came to her. M. Louis was a male Atripos. His shears were severing not only her hair but her past from her. The first braid represented her childhood.

"Let me see it!" she cried excitedly.

He laid it sadly and solemnly across her knees as though it were a dead baby.

"Ah, madame. . . . C'est a pleurer! . . . It is to cry!" he murmured.

Then he cut off the second one.

"There goes my girlhood," she told herself exultantly.

"C'est fait," said M. Louis with a dramatic flourish of the shears, "et moi, j'ai perpétré un crime, madame!"

To Celia, who had been glancing at herself in the mirror from time to time during the operation called by M. Louis a crime, there was no great change visible, for he had brushed back her hair before plaiting it. But as she moved her head it felt deliciously light, and when she thrust her fingers into the shortened mass and rumpled it delightedly the metamorphosis of her appearance became plain.

Her hair, like all very pale gold hair, was an ashen blonde near her head, and the coiffeur's shears had left her with a thick crown of light fawn color, which in its now too tousled state resembled that of a Russian moujik or a football player after an arduous game. She gasped, unable to withdraw her eyes.

"I have warn madame," said M. Louis compassionately.

The sight of her moplike head atop of her long throat began to dismay her.

O, dear!" she cried, "I look just like a sea anemone!"

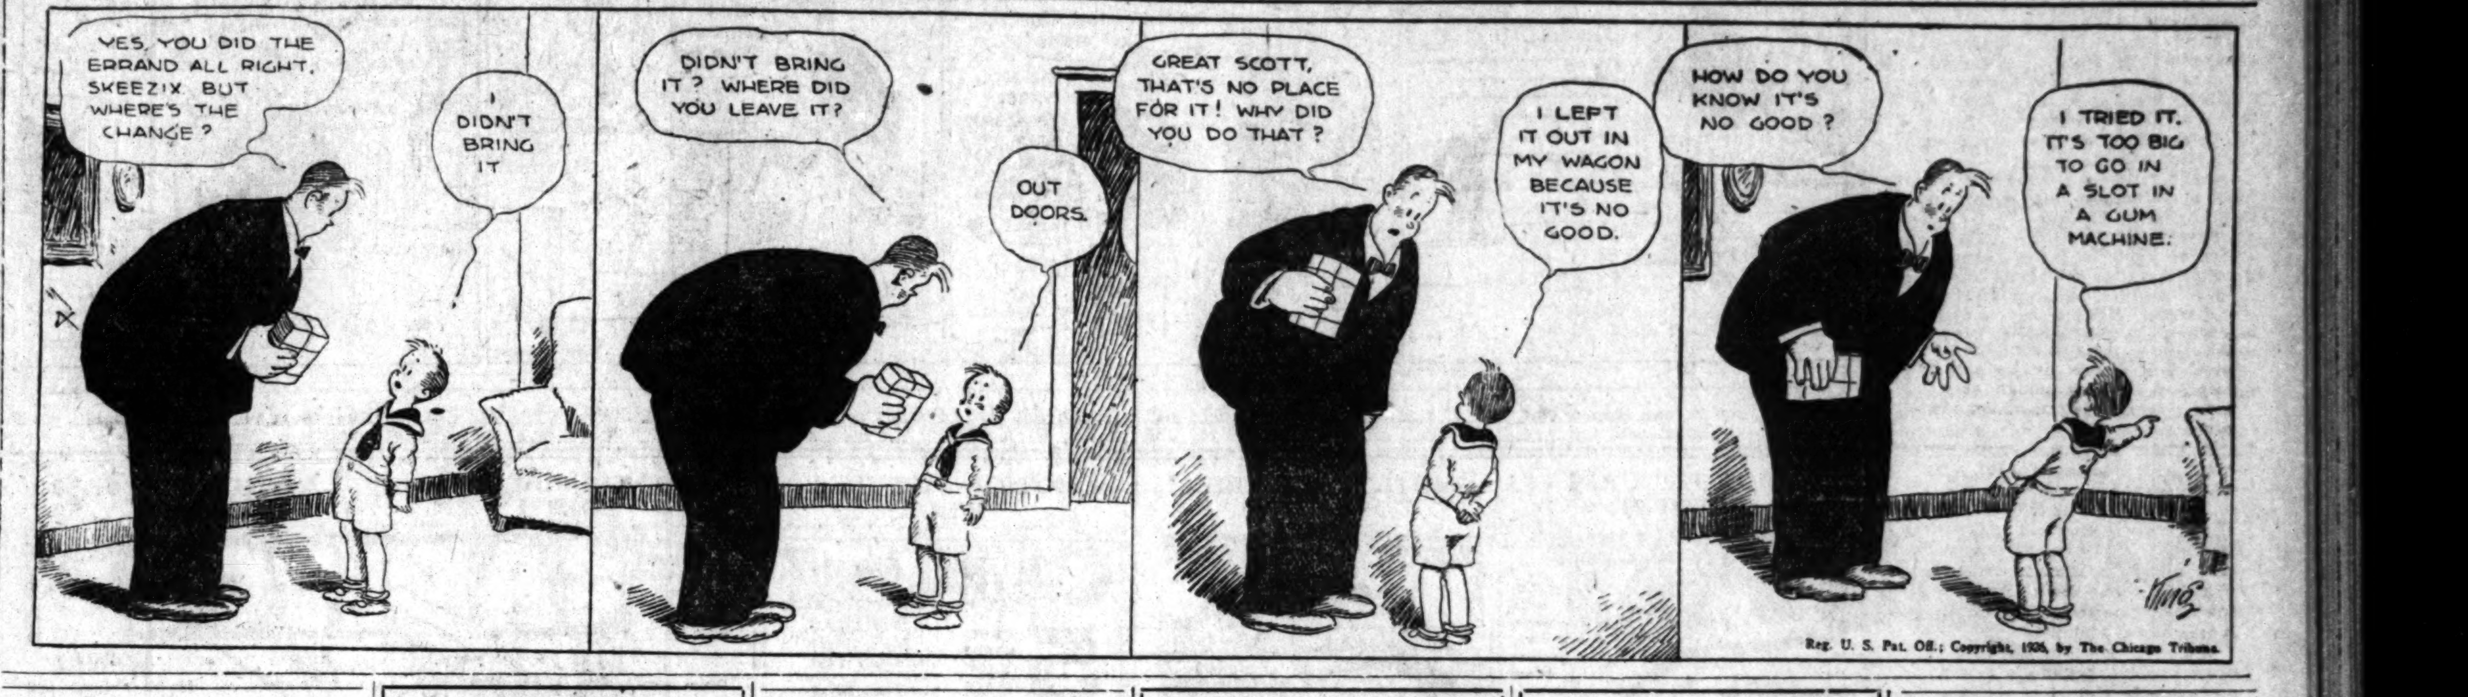
GASOLINE ALLEY—IT DIDN'T STAND THE TEST



YES, YOU DID THE ERRAND ALL RIGHT, SKEEZIX BUT WHERE'S THE CHANGE?
I DIDN'T BRING IT
DIDN'T BRING IT? WHERE DID YOU LEAVE IT?
OUT DOORS.
GREAT SCOTT, THAT'S NO PLACE FOR IT! WHY DID YOU DO THAT?
I LEFT IT OUT IN MY WAGON BECAUSE IT'S NO GOOD.
HOW DO YOU KNOW IT'S NO GOOD?
I TRIED IT. IT'S TOO BIG TO GO IN A SLOT IN A GUM MACHINE.

Y. W. C. A. Votes on Admittance of All Faiths

Dceision Is Expected by Noon Today.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Harry Chamberlain of Toledo, O., and Mrs. John Hanna of Dallas, Tex., were named today as candidates for the national presidency of the Y. W. C. A., now in biennial convention at the Auditorium here. Mrs. Frederick W. Paist of Philadelphia declined to become a candidate for a third consecutive term. Candidates for other offices, as suggested by the naming committee, are as follows:

For vice president—Mrs. Charles W. Gilkey of Chicago and Mrs. F. W. Stevens of Grand Rapids, Mich.

For second vice president—Mrs. Edward Dunham of Trenton, N. J., and Mrs. George Wilson of Portland, Ore.

For secretary—Miss Hazel Butterfield of Beatrice, Neb.; Miss Ina Scherreber of Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Miss Elsie West of Summit, N. J., and Miss Hyallie Fiedler of Pasadena, Cal.

The voting will close at noon tomorrow and results of the election will be announced Tuesday. By tomorrow noon it is expected the convention will have made history on the question of changing the pledge of the association, which permits only those of Protestant Evangelical faith to become members. The matter is one of the biggest things ever proposed in the annals of the Y. W. C. A., and interesting discussions permeated the auditorium today while other business was being disposed of preparatory to taking a vote on the subject.

The change was first proposed in 1922, and required an amendment to the constitution to permit of a vote four years after agitation for the adoption of a new policy was heard. The sole provision is that three-fourths of the association officers be of Protestant Evangelical faiths. Another matter of great interest, which, however, may be delayed until next year, is the proposed amalgamation of the Y. W. C. A. to the Y. M. C. A., a plan by which the Y. W. would benefit by the finances of the Y. M. C. A. The merger is looked upon with disfavor by a great number, who believe it would serve to make the Y. W. only a subsidiary to the Y. M. C. A.

[Root Studio.]

Mrs. F. A. Hill Jr. is program chairman for the benefit concert to be given on Tuesday, May 4, at Orchestra hall for the Mary clubs, an organization named for Judge Mary Bartelme of the Juvenile court, which provides homes for girls who come under her jurisdiction.

The Mendelssohn club, with Miss Helen Hedges as soloist, will give its services for the concert and the entire proceeds will go to the maintenance of the two homes already established—one in Evanston and one in Austin.

These clubs were organized in 1914 and 1916 with thirteen prominent Chicago women as sponsors. Judge Bartelme is honorary president, Mrs. Harry Hart is president, Mrs. Harry Boyd Hurd, Mrs. George F. Koester, Mrs. L. E. Raymond, Miss Florence D. Bartlett, Mrs. Robert Cutting, and Mrs. L. W. Oliphant are members of the board of directors.

Woman's World Fair Closes Today; Start Plans for Next Year

Nearly five thousand names of women visitors were signed in the big autograph book at the Woman's World's Fair yesterday which is being prepared for presentation to Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

So great is the interest in all the exhibits of the fair, which closes tonight, that Miss Helen Bennett, managing director, announced her intention of commencing plans for next year's exhibit as soon as possible. The board of the Woman's World's Fair will meet in two or three weeks to consider features proposed for next year.

Mrs. Marx Oberndorfer, music chairman, General Federation of Women's Clubs, addressed visitors on the subject "Your Part in America's Renaissance," at 4 o'clock, while in the evening Mrs. William Harrison Cade of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke on "Law Enforcement."

Much interest centered around the booth in which the residents of the Old People's Home, 47th street and Vincennes avenue, exhibited their handiwork. There were embroideries, beadwork, and large silk patchwork quilts, the work of Mrs. Frances Brown, 85 years old.

A rare specimen of cheetah, from India caused consternation in the Women's Hunters and Explorer's booth, and private detectives were kept on guard watching the stuffed wild animals on exhibition, which the huntresses declared cannot be replaced if anything amiss happens.

At THE TRIBUNE booth today, Dorothy Dulin, artist, will sketch, and Louise Bargelt of the Sunday department, will meet visitors. Sally Joy Brown will speak at 2:15 o'clock.

Sons and Daughters of M. E. Pastors Organize

A Methodist Ministers' Sons and Daughters society, having as its object the establishment of a sanitarium for tuberculosis sufferers at Colorado Springs, Colo., has been organized, it was announced here yesterday. Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, who was elected president, said the society would take steps to make known the achievements of the sons and daughters of clergymen and would in addition have a social value.

Successor Is Selected for Dr. Johnston Myers

The Rev. Robert Van Meigs has been selected as the successor of the Rev. Johnston Myers as the pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, 23d street and Michigan avenue. He will preach tomorrow morning and evening and arrangements will then be made for his transfer from Quincy, Ill. Dr. Myers has become pastor emeritus and will continue in active service especially in the many charitable undertakings in which the church has been active.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Louise C. Bumiller, 2829 Prairie avenue, Chicago, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you think the proposal to open and close large business houses at different hours would relieve loop congestion?

Where Asked.

Randolph at State street.

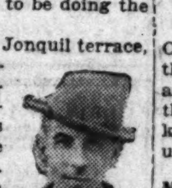
The Answers.

Ben Heller, 4921 Winthrop avenue, clerk—That's a good idea. It would no doubt relieve the congestion to a certain extent for obvious reasons. If the stores were opened and closed at different hours, employés would have a chance to do their own shopping before or after their own working hours.

Miss Marjory Dean Whidden, Alexandria hotel, saleswoman—That might be a good thing. I wouldn't mind that. I like to go to work early. It might happen that the store at which I work would have an early hour, then with daylight saving time next Monday I would have a long early evening to myself.

Arthur Graves, 4819 Monroe street, fire insurance — There is no question about the congestion relief part of it, and it should be given a tryout. Street cars and elevated roads and trains, for that matter, are crammed to the limit during the rush hours. Even at noon this would distribute the crowds more evenly.

Mrs. Roy Larson, 737 North Dearborn street, housewife — That would help some. It stands to reason that if certain thousands of employés arrived for work and left their work at a given hour and other thousands did the same thing a half hour later and so on, all of them wouldn't have to be doing the same thing at once.



Berridge Smith, 1600 Jonquil terrace, fire insurance—Personal experience has demonstrated that the present state of affairs is disadvantageous to the majority of workers. It would seem that the big business houses could easily get together and come to some agreement on the hours and give it a trial.

Tribune Read in China Brings Contribution to United Charities Fund

A copy of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, read in Shanghai, China, was responsible for swelling by $500 the emergency fund of $300,000 being raised by the United Charities, it was reported yesterday.

Albert B. Kuppenheimer, who is traveling in the orient, saw the account of the opening of the drive in the March 2 issue of THE TRIBUNE, and wrote his Chicago representative, who yesterday presented to Charles F. Glore, general chairman, a check.

The largest individual contribution of the drive thus far, $10,000, was announced at the luncheon from Sewell L. Avery, president of the United States Gypsum company and vice president of the United Charities. Mr. Avery arrived from Europe only a few hours before the luncheon.

Total contributions of the campaign are now $185,000, according to Mr. Glore.

"We have overcome a mountain of ignorance of what the United Charities is, and what it is doing, during the last two weeks," Mr. Glore said. "A campaign has a stupendous educational value. Our last public appeal for funds was made five years ago, which inclines me to the belief that we should make a public appeal for funds annually, instead of our usual quiet solicitation by mail."

BEG YOUR PARDON!

The Biflex Products company says its plant at Waukegan was not destroyed by fire as reported in THE TRIBUNE last Wednesday. Only one or two of the departments suffered damage. The company is prepared to handle shipments as heretofore.

An item on April 12 reported a raid at 4407 Sheridan road. The raid was at 4402 Sheridan road.

THEATER

"LYSISTRATA":

Aristophanes' comedy as made over from the Greek into Russian by Dmitry Smolin, with music by Rienhold Glière: made known in Chicago (by the Moscow Art Theater Musical Studio) April 23, 1926, in the Great Northern Theater, with this cast:

Lysistrata	Olga Baklanova
Kinesias, her husband	Pyotr Saratovski
Kalonika, her friend	Nina Durasova
Myrrhina, another	Anna Sablukova
Lampito, a Spartan	Anna Lisetskaya
Probulos	Leonid Baratoff
An old Athenian	Sergei Obraztsoff

What else is required to complete the record of last night's change of bill by the visitors from Moscow is easily written: thus, the theater was jammed; the audience appeared to be aware of what "Lysistrata" was about, despite its being a Greek classic in the Russian tongue; and the manner of performance justified Mr. Dantchenko's revival of this first and most famous contribution to the drama of feminism.

Its being a classic might win for "Lysistrata" a hearing in an English translation equally frank and unequivocal; and I doubt it. As I looked on last night, seeking to recapture the sense of the dialogue, line after line, from memory of the perfumed English version in which I rehearsed at college, I laughed a great deal, so that those about me thought I was pretending to a knowledge of the Russian text. But my laughter was for the Chicago police as I thought of the time they gave to and the worry they expended on covering up the pretty girls in "Gay Paree" with never a care,—nor even a suspicion,—that the Russians were performing con amore the most explicit of the sex-farces.

The manner of the performing was lusty, vigorous, forthright, rough, loud, and unashamed. For all I know, that was the way Aristophanes meant it to be performed; and it doesn't matter. At any rate, the proceedings were not formal, as other Greek plays are acted for us; and I should say that the manner represented the Russian outlook on the old Athenian's philosophical suggestion that the cure for war is in the conjugal insubordination of woman. . . . Like the Russians' make-over of "Carmen," this "Lysistrata" was another fresh and stimulating adventure with drama. As an illustration of Dr. Dantchenko's theory of a "synthetic theater," it was about as nearly conclusive as the bully scrap going on between the Honorable Dever and the Honorable Olson.

Apart from Miss Baklanova and Mr. Obraztsoff, the above cast will be in the final performances, this afternoon and tonight. . . . And, yes: there's the music by Glière; and it is just kappellmeister stuff: good enough, and unimportant.

News-Notes.

Good and unexpected news is that Leon Errol will be able to resume performing next Thursday night in "Louie the Fourteenth."

"Come On, Ruth!" (which was "Solid Ivory" last Autumn in New-York) will be shown a week from tomorrow night in the Playhouse. . . . "The Sport of Kings" will be continued until then.

Next week will be the lost-of "Rose-Marie" in the Auditorium.

"Close Quarters" will be played in the Blackstone,—where it is prosperous,—until May 15, when it will have been there six weeks." "Divorçons!" will be put on Monday, the 17th, with Miss Lawrence, Mr. McRae, and Mr. Eddinger.

The annual performance in aid of the funds used for charity by the organization called the National Vaudeville Artists will be held in the afternoon of Sunday, May 2, in the Auditorium.

Stock Student Fund Created as Season Ends

Conductor Given $12,000 at Final Concert.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Mr. Stock conducted the final Friday afternoon program of the Chicago Symphony orchestra yesterday, was presented with a $12,000 check in the foyer immediately afterward, and made a speech inaugurating the Frederick A. Stock scholarship fund, a reasonably busy afternoon for even so versatile a man as this conductor.

The check is the outcome of a number of months' activity on the part of a committee whose chairman is Mrs. Jacques Holinger, secretary, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, and treasurer, Albert F. Madlener Jr. Its purpose is to form the nucleus of a trust, the income from which shall be used to defray the cost of the musical education of students.

A preference is to be made of those who wish to study the less usual orchestral instruments, by which is understood wood winds. Other members of the committee are Mrs. John S. Coonley, Mrs. Harry Hart, Mrs. Charles F. Wacker, Mrs. William A. Wieboldt, Mrs. James S. Moore, Miss Florence Beckett, Mrs. Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler, and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham.

Mr. Stock is to designate the beneficiaries of the trust as long as he remains conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. In his speech of acceptance, he said that he knew of many cases of brilliant talents that had never developed for want of help at the proper time. At the same time, he is a firm believer in not making an education too easy. Wherefore a new era for the coming oboists and clarinetists apparently has been created.

Just before this, the orchestra had played the loudest chord of the season as the final manifestation of Ottorino Respighi's "Pines of Rome." Mr. Stock had hardly left the stand before another chord was blown as a fanfare in his honor, not quite so loud, but fully as heartfelt.

The "Pines of Rome" and Schönberg's "Transfigured Night," both on this program, are the only two pieces found worthy of being played twice this season. Elsewhere occurred Berlioz's overture, "Le Carnaval Romain," Mr. Stock's transcription of Schumann's "Rhenish" symphony, and Strauss' "Don Juan," in all a brilliant finale to an uncommonly interesting season.

Movie Operators to Hold Their Annual Ball May 3

The annual ball of the Chicago moving picture operators will be held Monday evening, May 3, at the Trianon. Motion picture stars throughout the country have sent word that they will be here for the festivities. All of the legitimate shows in Chicago will be represented. Four bands will provide dance music. President Thomas J. Reynolds of the operators' union is head of the arrangement committee.

FARM & GARDEN

By FRANK RIDGWAY

Hot weather is not many weeks away which means that poultrymen and city consumers will have to guard against spoiled or stale eggs. Every flock owner has a right to expect a fair price for high quality eggs and every consumer has a right to expect high quality eggs when he pays a high grade price.

To be in the high quality class eggs must be fresh, clean, and of standard size, weighing a pound and a half or more a dozen. Eggs weighing a pound per dozen are worth a third less than a dozen weighing a pound and a half.

Candling eggs is a common practice among merchants but seldom practiced by the producer or consumer. Farmers would know more about the value of their eggs by using the candling outfit to determine the freshness of doubtful eggs picked up in stray nests. Housewives in the city can afford to candle eggs, so the freshness may be determined before the shell is broken. It is inconvenient to take a broken egg back to the grocer.

A pasteboard cereal box with a light bulb inside and a hole slightly smaller than an egg cut in one side of the box makes a practical candling outfit. If the eggs are fresh there will be a small air space at the big end and the yolk will be barely seen when the egg is placed over the hole in the box and the light turned on.

Riley of Purdue says the color of an egg shell is no indication of its quality or food value.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Grapefruit Marmalade.

Something that can be made in one day, something that has a nice bitter taste, are two of the requirements people make when they are looking for a marmalade recipe. And so we took a recipe from a Florida source which was somewhat extravagant in that such small returns came from the amount of material used, but it produced another variety and was quite like the Scotch marmalades.

All that is required is two grapefruit and one pound of sugar, for three fairly good glasses of marmalade. With that amount of fruit diluted with three times its measure of water, and by using sugar equal in quantity to the fruit and water combined, we could get four times as many glasses, but we would need to use the three day method, and we would get a marmalade of another sort.

To make this quick sort take off the peel of the fruit and soak it in salted water for two hours, using one tablespoon of salt to a quart of water. Drain from the salted water, cover with fresh water and boil until the skin is clear. Drain the peel from the salted water, rinse and remove all the white part with a spoon. Chop the yellow part fine in the food chopper. Add sugar to the pulp of the grapefruit, which can be cut in half for convenience, so that the pulp may be removed with a spoon easily, and the chopped rind. Cook to 220 degrees F. or what it gives the two drop test.

Of course it is the white part of the rind of the grapefruit that contains the strong jellying element, but this recipe shows clearly enough that there is enough in the pulp to jelly when cooked in this concentrated way.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK, by Jane Eddington, with menus for thirty meals and with chapters making a brief guide to correct eating, is on sale for 10 cents by mail or at the Public Service Office, 11 South Dearborn street.

J. Dorr Bradley to Be Next President of Geographic Society

BY NANCY R——.

If you should happen to catch a glimpse of J. Dorr Bradley this afternoon or tomorrow morning, mounted on his favorite steed and cantering gayly about the byways of Lake Forest, and if he should have an abstracted air, don't be surprised—it's more than likely he's deciding just what to say next Tuesday when he steps into office as the new president of the Geographic Society of Chicago.

Formal announcement of the new officers of the society will be made at the annual meeting of the society Tuesday evening in Orchestra hall after a dinner at the High Noon club. Mr. Bradley succeeds Charles Hull Ewing as president. The new vice presidents are Ulysses S. Grant, Fay-Cooper Cole, and Col. T. A. Siqueland; the secretary is Mrs. Laurie R. Frazeur; the treasurer is Orpheus M. Schantz; while the following men are added to the board of directors: Henry C. Cowles, Nathan S. Davis III., Charles Hull Ewing, Leopold Metzenberg, Frederick T. West, and George B. Utley. Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington university, and former mayor of Lake Forest, will address the organization at the annual meeting.

Although the Bradley menage at 66 Bellevue place has not yet been closed for the summer and their charming Lake Forest house on North Green Bay road opened, Mr. Bradley is taking advantage of these early week-ends to go and camp out there, that he may get in a few extra hours of riding.

The board of directors of the Orientals has invitation cards out for a private view of a fine exhibition of the Indo-Persian miniatures in Gallery H 9, the Art institute, on Monday afternoon.

Day's News in Society

The luncheon Elbert H. Gary gave at the Drake yesterday for his granddaughter, Miss Elizabeth Campbell, was a masterpiece of entertaining. From the small army of waiters who served with exact precision to the dainty gold lettered place cards embellished with four leaf clovers, and tiny solid gold favors, the party was commensurate with the importance of the host.

There were 57 guests who gathered first in the Drake ballroom for the reception preceding the luncheon. The room was transformed with palms, oriental rugs, and furniture into a luxurious drawing room where Mr. and Mrs. Gary received the guests. Mrs. Gary was wearing a black gown banded in bright rose decoration and a high crowned black straw hat topped with crossed aigrettes. Miss Campbell, whose wedding to Edward Sutherland Clark this evening is the occasion of Mr. Gary's visit and party, was wearing peach colored crepe and a large picture hat of transparent salmon straw wreathed with sweet peas.

After the reception, the guests went to an adjoining room where one long table was set for luncheon. Small clusters of lilies of the valley interspersed with greens, were the only floral decorations.

The guests included the friends of the bride and bridegroom who are to attend them at their nuptials at the First Methodist Episcopal church in Evanston this evening, Miss Katherine Howk of Rochester, N. Y., maid of honor; the bridesmaids, Miss Annette Davis of St. Joseph, Mo., Miss Mary Elizabeth Leighton, Miss Sara Bennet of Evanston, and Miss Elizabeth Hannah of Kenilworth; William Whitcomb Sears, the best man, and the ushers, Keith Kindred, John Nuveen, Anderson Owen, Glenn Harding, Louis Harlan, Thomas Tredwell and John Williams of Evanston. There were also the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willis Campbell, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Lewis C. Pettitt, the officiating clergyman; the Rev. Ernest F. Tittle, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Revell, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Buffington, Eames MacVeagh, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Sutcliffe, Miss Gertrude Campbell, and Mrs. Joseph Campbell.

The Chicago Lighthouse will receive the proceeds from the gay supper dance given last night in the Hotel Sherman ballroom by the Volunteer Aids of the society. There were several dinner parties before the dance, so there were few arrivals until 11 o'clock. Some of the first to appear were the young women who managed the affair, Miss Dorothy Schmidt, who was chairman of table reservations; Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, chairman of the entertainment; Mrs. Harold Strotz, chairman of the boxes, and Mrs. Harlan B. Eldred, president of the Aids.

The Chicago Yacht club announces a balloon party this evening at the Belmont Harbor clubhouse.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., April 23.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Coolidge this afternoon received the members of the American Society of International Law, in the White House.

Mrs. Mary Logan Tucker, daughter of the late Gen. and Mrs. John A. Logan, who is president of the Woman's Guild American university, presided at the banquet given tonight in the women's residence hall on the campus of the university.

Mrs. William Trevor of Chicago, arrived this morning from New York to visit Mrs. Clarence W. Busch in her new home on Woodland drive. Mrs. Busch, whose daughter, Mrs. W. Edwin Martin of Chicago, with infant daughter also is with her, gave a luncheon today for Mrs. Trevor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bevington of Chicago who were residents of Washington during war times, are spending the week at the Mayflower, where they were hosts at dinner last evening in the presidential dining room.

ON HONEYMOON

MRS. HENRY M. STEELE.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Steele, married recently, are sailing on the Majestic today, to spend their honeymoon abroad. They will return on June 20, to make their home at the Belden-Stratford.

Judith Virginia Dana Becomes Bride Today of Jas. W. Thorne Jr.

St. Louis, Mo., April 23.—Miss Judith Virginia Dana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dana of Brentmoor Park, will become the bride at 5:30 o'clock today of James Ward Thorne Jr., of Chicago, at the most elaborate wedding in St. Louis in recent years.

St. Michael and All Angels' church has been transformed literally into a bower of Easter lilies for the ceremony. Clusters of the stately blossoms adorn the altar and line the choir stall. The Rev. Dr. Karl Block is to read the service.

The bride's attendants, Mrs. William Harrison Luytles and Mrs. Turner Clarkson of St. Louis, Mrs. George Corson Ellis of Chicago, and Miss Katherine Sipple, Miss Jane Parsons, Miss Frances Fristoe, Miss Marceline Reyburn, and Miss Josephine Moffitt, all of St. Louis, are to be gowned alike in apple green taffeta, veiled with net of the same shade.

The bride's gown is of ivory satin fashioned after the early Victorian mode, with a close fitting bodice and drop shoulder neckline finished with a duchess lace bertha. A four inch tulle ruching peeps from beneath a scalloped hem, and in each scallop appliqued embroidered flowers trail into a vine at the upper skirt.

The long court train is embroidered to match the gown. The bride will wear a tulle veil caught to her hair with a halo of old family rose point lace and a short face veil. The quaintness of her costume is emphasized by old fashioned lace mitts. Her flowers are roses and lilies of the valley arranged in a colonial bouquet edged with lace frill.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorne will sail on Wednesday for Bermuda, and will make their home in Chicago.

The out of town guests will include Mr. and Mrs. James Ward Thorne Sr., parents of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorne; Mrs. Niblack, his grandmother, and Mr. and Mrs. Alden Swift and two children, all of Chicago, and Miss Mildred Sawyer of New York.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Annette McKenney, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin J. McKenney of Orlando, Fla., to Fred Sterling Scott, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Scott of Evanston, and nephew of Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, is to take place next Saturday at the First Presbyterian church in Orlando. Mr. Scott is a member of Beta Theta Pi ad Phi Delta Phi fraternities. He and his bride are to reside at Clearwater, Fla.

Beta Theta Sigma Party.

Beta Theta Sigma of De Paul university is to give a luncheon and a card party at the Palmer house at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

An Old Story.

This year one of my girl friends asked me to write in her class book. I readily responded and started to write a Latin phrase, "Amo te," meaning "I love you."

I found I had forgotten the word for "you." My Latin teacher being near, I asked her for the word.

She said, "'Te' is the word and 'Amo' is the other word you want."

We'd Gladly "Let Up" on Reducing, but—Readers Want More

by Antoinette Donnelly

Dear Miss Donnelly: As brickbats for you seem to be in order just now, heres' another one. Please, I beg of you, stop harping on how to get thin You have simply worn the subject threadbare. Five out of seven mornings of the week this is your subject. The fat ones know your line and the thin ones don't give a dime. You writers who enjoy the freedom of the press every day of the week to air your views certainly do take advantage of same to rub it in. If you are fat, we don't care. You make us think of the woman whose sole topic of conversation is "the time I was operated on. I don't suppose you will print this, but I do hope you will read it.—Margaret E. Naylor."

Sure, Margaret E., I'll read it and I'll print it, since I am one of that large body of femmes who'd rather be insulted than ignored. But you've got to admit it's kinda tough on a poor, weather beaten old scribe who aims to please 'em all to find that it just can't be done.

I'd stop harping on how to get thin —only they won't let me. They being the half of the world that writes me asking for help. There are mornings when I would like to write about ships and sealing wax, cabbages and kings —but what, I ask you, has that to do with the case? Nawthing! When the whole world is agin you and me, my dear Margaret E., from the dress designer in the Rue de la Paix to the poor little plump girl on lower Main street who'd starve to be able to wiggle into his clothes.

No, if you want surcease from reducing talk you'll have to plead with those authorities higher up than I. They are the clothes makers and the insurance people who promise longer and better lives to those minus superfluous weight, and they are men who refuse to cut in on the fat girls' partner. I'm just an accessory after the fact. And the fact remains that more women are interested in getting thin than in any other subject outside of how to get and hold a man.

Scanning over a month's clippings, I find I have shown noble restraint, really, in the face of a howling mob outside my door begging reducing alms. I have not overlooked at all that other crowd clamoring for hair tonics, complexion remedies, bobbed hair news, etc., etc.

Cheer up, Margaret E., think of how much worse it might be. I might break forth into poetry some morning in my column. Then, one brickbat wouldn't be the half of what I'd righteously earn!

BEAUTY ANSWERS

ETTA M.: EYELASHES FREquently come out as the result of eyestrain, from reading too much, or doing too fine work. Bathe the eyelids in warm water.

RITA: IF THE RAW FRUIT tends to cause indigestion, try cooking it. Cooked fruits are more easily digested, and the cooking doesn't affect the laxative action.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Birds of a Feather.

"Dear Miss Blake: There is a fellow whom I only know by sight. He has not a good name among the girls, but I love him. Could you suggest any way that I may get to know him better? Doris."

Shy clear of a chap who hasn't a good reputation. You'll only cause others to question your character by associating with one of his caliber, Doris.

Dad Doesn't Know.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have a boy friend. He writes to me once a week. Father doesn't know this, but mother does. Am I ding right by keeping this secret from father?

"SINGLE CHARLESTON."

If you have your mother's approval, I'm sure you could soon convert dad over to your side. He'll find out eventually. Don't you think 'twould be better for you to tell him?

These Five Hints Help Housewives Eliminate Fatigue

BY DORIS BLAKE.

In a recent address Mrs. Lillian M. Gilbreth, industrial engineer, Montclair, N. J., and mother of eleven children, offered some valuable hints to housewives. Among them are:

1. Start each day fresh. Like all Gaul, every task is divided into three parts: (a) Get ready; (b) do it; (c) clean up. The end of each day should see its tasks cleaned up. There is great rest value in beginning the new day with yesterday's clutter out of sight.

2. Arrange your household tools to best advantage. Few women have the privilege of actually designing the home they live in. But every woman can arrange her own "tools"—that is, the pots, pans, silver, linen, hammers, brooms, brushes, etc. See to it that they are placed to save you the most waste motion. Every unnecessary step creates unnecessary fatigue.

3. Remember the fatigue eliminating value of food. Eat when you are tired, but do not overeat. Eat in peace. This is important. Mealtime, of all times, must be peace time. When one of the children is cross and cranky, try giving him a little nourishing food. It works wonders.

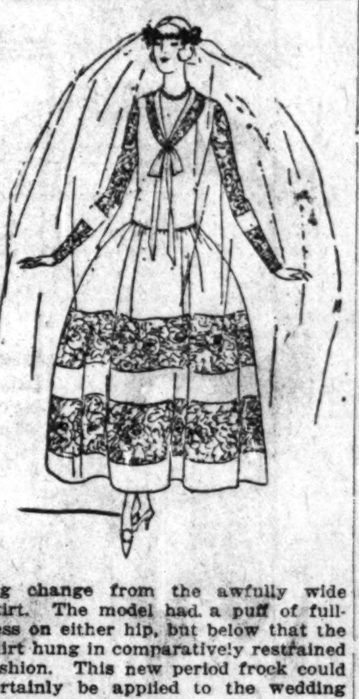
4. Dress so that the fatigue of clothes is at a minimum. Clothes should be both attractive and appropriate. Too many women lose sight of either one or the other of these points. From the psychological standpoint, attractiveness in dress is as important in fatigue elimination as mere appropriateness.

5. Take time to rest when you are tired. In every home there should be one bed or cot where you can lie down flat without even the trouble of turning down a white spread. Learn to relax. Ten minutes of real rest taken in time will often do more in fatigue elimination than ten hours after you have become overtired.

Mrs. Gilbreth believes rightly that with the elimination of those factors that lead to fatigue the home will prosper better and the family be happier all round. And women, she contends, have it in their power to lighten their own fatigue in innumerable ways that the average housewife never tries.

White Satin Bridal Gown Shows Ecru Lace

by Corinne Lowe



NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—We might call the above bridal frock a sum of ecru-ed interest. Why not, when here we have the novel experiment of white satin which is trimmed with ecru lace? It's odd, but it possesses a certain smart charm and it certainly indicates how broad minded we are today concerning the erstwhile classic wedding gown.

In line this model elects the familiar period style, but it gives a brand new twist to the line. For example, there is the collar, so unusual for a gown of this character, which contributes in its silver ribbon outlining the throat and tying in a bow at the fashionable V depression, the delicate suggestion of that metallic glint so often found in today's wedding frock. And there, too, are the sleeves which, instead of being all lace, have an original band of the satin intervening just below the elbow.

As I wrote some weeks ago, Lanvin introduced, this spring, a new and different type of period frock. This later edition has a skirt which is much less flamboyant, but which retains the quaint fitted corsage. I saw a frock of this character in black taffeta trimmed with biscuit colored lace and it seemed to me that it created a charming change from the awfully wide skirt. The model had a puff of fullness on either hip, but below that the skirt hung in comparatively restrained fashion. This new period frock could certainly be applied to the wedding attire with good advantage.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Orphan Is Ill.

"There is a boy, 13, an orphan and a positive case of tuberculosis. He is in need of clothing, both for outdoor and indoor wear—bathrobe, nightwear, slippers, shoes, and stockings—in fact, everything in the way of wearing apparel. R. J. Q."

You boys who have parents to provide for you can come to the assistance of this unfortunate youngster with your castoff shoes, stockings, and any other wearing apparel you have outgrown or discarded.

Offers Washing Machine.

"I have a hand powered washing machine, in good condition, I will give to any one who will call for it.

"MRS. G. E. H."

This machine would save you a lot of time and work. If you'd like to have it, write me for it.

Women's Daintiness

Under the most trying hygienic handicap now assured. NEW way offers true protection —discards like tissue.

LIGHT frocks, sheerest gowns . . . wear them now any day, any time, anywhere, without a moment's doubt or fear!

The uncertainty and insecurity of the old-time "sanitary pad" has been ended.

Most women now use "KOTEX" . . . a new and remarkable way.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

✓ Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Costs only a few cents. Proves old ways a needless risk. 12 in a package. In fairness to yourself, try it.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

Write your name and address plainly on dotted lines, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Inclose 10 cents in stamps or coin [coin preferred; wrap it carefully] for each number, and address your order to Clotilde, CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE.

Note—Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE. They are perfect in fit, up to date in style, and the easiest of all patterns to use.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Jimmie longed for a dog and was always describing the kind he wanted.

One day we met a lady leading a bulldog whose teeth protruded.

Jimmie gazed at him in admiration and said, "There, mother, is the kind of dog I want. One that shows his savagery through his teeth." J. W.

Harold, aged 3, was being lulled to sleep with a bedtime story and his two sisters, a few years older, came up to listen in.

Gladys crowded in close to share a place on her mother's lap, but Harold pushed her away, crying, petulantly: "Get away. I wants the whole shing 'a she." [I want the whole thing of she.] L. S. W.

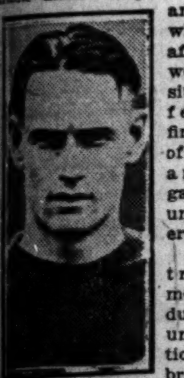
ILLINOIS WINS DRAKE RELAYS MEDLEY IN MUD

Locke Plows 100 Yards in Even Time.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



ROLAND LOCKE.

Des Moines, Ia., April 23.—On a track ankle deep in mud in spots and in a cold rain which fell all afternoon, Illinois won the university medley relay, feature of the first day's events of the seventeenth annual relay games of Drake university this afternoon.

Seldom has a track and field meet been conducted under such unfavorable conditions. The day broke cloudy and threatening and shortly after noon it started to rain. As the time for staging the first event approached, it simply poured and continued all afternoon.

In fact officials seriously considered postponing all events until tomorrow and making a whole day of the affair. After a lengthy conference it was decided to postpone all trials in the field events and to postpone the university quarter mile relay and preliminaries in the 120 yard high hurdles until tomorrow.

3,000 See Wading Races.

With such a large program and entry list it would have been impossible to complete the entire program in one day and it was decided to hold the high school and college relays scheduled for today and the preliminaries in the open 100 yard dash. Despite the conditions, about 3,000 fans were in the stands when the runners appeared on the track for the opening event.

Under such conditions no records were broken or even approached. The athletes were covered with mud when they finished their races, but splashed through the puddles of water with the same determination as if the track was dry and fast.

Although all races were keenly contested, the medley university relay proved to be the feature of the day. Because of the large entry it was necessary to run the event in two sections and determine the place winners on a time comparison basis.

Illinois Wins Medley.

Illinois, through the great running of H. R. White, its anchor man, won the first section in 8:40 5-10. White started on the last relay of one mile in fifth position and at least sixty yards back of the leaders. The Orange and Blue athlete, one of the best middle distance runners in the middle west, gradually cut down the lead and took the lead on the back stretch of the final lap. Although challenged by other runners, including Conger of Ames, the Illinois runner had enough in reserve to stave off these challenges and breasted the tape ten yards in advance of his nearest opponent. Kansas State was second and Ames third.

Oklahoma A. and M. won the second section with Utah Aggies and Ohio State in second and third places respectively. None of these teams made as fast time as the first three to finish in the first section, so Oklahoma A. and M. had to be content with fourth place.

Locke Runs in Even Time.

Michigan State Normal ran a great race to win the college medley. The Wolverines covered the distance in 8:12 2-10, against 8:27 6-10 for Butler, which won the first section through the remarkable running of Phillips, who picked up at least 70 yards on the final relay.

The most remarkable individual performance of the day was recorded by Roland Locke of Nebraska, who won his preliminary heat in the 100 yards in even time. Despite the heavy going and the fact Locke did not remove his sweater, he stepped the distance much faster than any of the other qualifiers. In fact, he slowed up at the finish to look back at his opponents.

With so many athletes of national prominence quartered in this city, performers who hold world's and American records, some great performances are expected to be turned in tomorrow if the weather is favorable. The track will be rolled and put in as good condition as possible by a gang of men who will work all night. Summaries:

UNIVERSITY RELAY.

Medley [880, 440, 440, one mile]—Won by Illinois [Duncan, Mehock, Sittig, H. R. White]; Kansas Aggies, second; Ames, third; Oklahoma A. and M., fourth. Time, 8:40 4-10.

COLLEGE RELAYS.

HALF MILE. Iowa intercollegiate championship—Won by Morningside [Larsen, Williams, Cross, Hartzell]; Buena Vista, second; Parsons, third; Iowa Teachers, fourth. Time, 1:39 6-10.

ONE MILE. Iowa intercollegiate championship—Won by Parsons [Caugell, Warren, Geneva, Wise]; Penn, second; Buena Vista, third; Simpson, fourth. Time, 3:45 4-10.

MEDLEY [440, 220, 880, one mile]—Won by Michigan State Normal [Snarey, Otto, Ross, Potter]; Miami, second; Butler, third; Illinois, fourth. Time, 8:12 2-10.

INDIVIDUAL EVENTS.

100 YARD DASH [qualifiers]—Alderman, Michigan State; Pepper, Indiana; Kelly, Michigan; Gruenhagen, Minnesota; Della Maria, Notre Dame; Sharkey, Miami; Locke, Nebraska; Snyder, Alabama Poly. Best time by Locke, :10.

Drake university collected $1,500 rain insurance and will spend this money to put the track and field in condition for tomorrow's events.

THE GUMPS—IT'S A CRUEL WORLD

NOW, LITTLE ROLLO, YOU HAD BETTER PACK YOUR BAG—FROM NOW ON YOU ARE GOING TO DO MORE TRAVELING THAN BURTON HOLMES—YOU ARE JUST A HAPPY FRESHMAN ENTERING THE COLLEGE OF HARD KNOCKS—AFTER YOU HAVE TAKEN THE FULL COURSE YOU WILL BE ABLE TO WRITE A BOOK ON SORROW AND SUFFERING THAT WILL MAKE EAST LYNNE SEEM AS CHEERFUL AS A CHRISTMAS DINNER—
I'M GOING TO TEACH YOU TO DIVE INTO HOLES LIKE A PRAIRIE DOG—YOU'LL BE AS BUSY AS A BUMBLE BEE IN AN ELECTRIC FAN—REMEMBER I'LL KEEP MY EYE ON YOU SO DON'T ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE OR I'LL TAKE A CLUB AND DRIVE YOU BACK WHERE YOU BELONG—IT'S NO USE TO BEG FOR MERCY—YOU'LL FIND ME A BIG STRONG TWO FISTED MASTER WITH THE STRENGTH OF A PILE DRIVER AND THE ACCURACY OF A COMPASS—
THIS HURTS ME MORE THAN IT HURTS YOU BUT REMEMBER WHEN I HIT YOU EVERY KNOCK IS A BOOST—RIGHT NOW YOU ARE AS SWEET AND FRESH LOOKING AS A CONTENTED CREAM PUFF BUT AFTER I GET THROUGH GIVING YOU FACIAL TREATMENTS WITH PLENTY OF EXERCISE IN THE OPEN AIR YOU'LL LOOK LIKE AN EASTER EGG THAT JUMPED OUT OF A CONCRETE MIXER JUST IN TIME TO BE RUN OVER BY A STEAM-ROLLER—

CHICAGO POLICE FORM GOLF CLUB; PLAN SIX MEETS

Capt. William Russell Is Elected President.

BY MORROW KRUM.

The Police Golf club, first of its kind anywhere, has been organized in Chicago, and according to the officials more than 100 police officers will be on the roster before May 1. Organization of the club was completed yesterday, with Capt. William H. Russell president.

Six Tournaments Planned.

Other officers are: Maj. John Bauder, first vice president; Lieut. James J. Killackey, second vice president; Alvin Lindahl, secretary; William S. Bonfield, treasurer, and Si Mayer, Capt. Thomas Pilkington, Lieut. Howard Ryley, Sergt. C. P. Kennedy, and Patrolman Frank Weimer, directors. Si Mayer was named chairman of the sports and pastimes committee.

The organization will hold six tournaments this summer. The dates of these competitions will be May 18, June 29, July 20, Aug. 17, Sept. 21, and Oct. 19. The first tournament will be played at the Dixmoor club in Homewood.

Many Openings Today.

Many Chicago golf clubs will make their spring debut today. Among them are Big Oaks, public, west end of Lawrence avenue; Jackson Park, eighteen hole course; Fox Lake, private; Palos Hills, public course in forest preserve near Palos; Evergreen, public, 91st and Western avenue; Galewood, public, north end of Oak Park avenue; McHenry, private; Villa Oliva, public nine hole course near Elgin.

A match foursome between Emmett Whealan, county commissioner; Ald. Thomas Byrne, Daniel Ryan Jr., chairman of the golf committee of the county board, and Joseph Fitzgerald, county commissioner, will feature the opening today at Palos Hills.

The playing members of Ridgemoor will find the cups and flags on the permanent greens this morning.

The spring tournament of the Illinois Seniors' Golf association, scheduled to be held at Peoria, has been postponed from June 9 and 10 until June 23 and 24, the seniors' tourney committee announced yesterday.

Lenglen Comes in July for Six Months—Pyle

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen will visit America in July to take the leading rôle in a motion picture and play a series of exhibition tennis matches, Charles C. Pyle announced today after a conference with his representative, William H. Pickens, upon the latter's arrival from Europe.

In a talk with the French star a few days prior to his departure for this country, Pickens said Mlle. Lenglen had assured him she expected to play Helen Wills, American champion, at least twice before her departure for this country. The matches, he said, would be in the French and Wimbledon championships, provided the two players became finalists.

"There is absolutely no doubt in Mlle. Lenglen's mind that she can repeat her initial triumph over Miss Wills," said Pickens. "She indicated to me that she could see no possibility of defeat."

Pyle said he would seek to coöperate with the United States Lawn Tennis association in arranging for Mlle. Lenglen's American tour. She will remain in this country for six months, he said.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: Back in the '70s "Scully the Sailor" walked "1,000 miles in 1,000 consecutive hours" in a large saloon on West Madison street, just across the street from the present Northwestern station.

To excite more interest in the performance and incidentally to stimulate the sale of suds, three or four times a day while Scully lay on his back resting a large stone would be brought in, placed on his chest, and broken by a sledge hammer wielded by one of his trainers.

Then Scully would be given a big drink of Kentucky product and start off another mile with renewed vigor. Dan O'Leary and Weston, pedestrians, were in their prime at this time.

W. J. C.

A. M. Billings, president of the old gas company, which figured in several mergers before becoming our present organization, lived on the north side of Lake street, between Union Park place and Sheldon streets, in a two story white frame house with green shutters. Two gas lights were prominent in the yard. C. K. G. Billings, his son, who afterward became president, bought a pretentious establishment at Washington and Bishop court and lived there before moving to New York, but could not induce his mother to leave the old place for many years after the death of his father. Eventually the homestead was torn down, and the property is now used as a pipe yard for the gas company.

The Moon, Plus Gumbo.

The moon, in the gulf, at Biloxi,
With Ada, fair Ada, I stood;
She had fed me on rich Creole gumbo
(And I swear by the stars it was good!)

I had vowed I would never get married,
But the tulip trees scented the air
With their whispers of love to the pine trees—
(That gumbo was certainly rare!)

Wistaria, moonlight, and palm trees,
A man could not stop though he would—
"O, Ada!" I cried, "will you have me?"
(Mon Dieu! But that gumbo was good!)

Our Qualification as "Expert."

The Wake confided to our readers recently and concealed from the Skokie handicap committee, Dave Beaton particularly, that we had been placed on the "expert" list to try out a new golf ball. Receiving several, we wrote for instructions. Our manufacturing friend honestly replied it was to prove the "indestructibility of the cover." We no longer have any qualms. With our weird iron shots none is better qualified to test cover durability.

There's a big marble contest out in Evanston today. Knowing the highly conservative moral atmosphere of our home community, we're thinking of going over to see whether they play "for keeps."

Quotation Marks.

Quotation marks hold a highly esteemed place in our system of punctuation. They commonly are used to inclose bits of prose or verse which some one else thought of or said before you did. Sometimes they are not so used. Such bits of thoughtless neglect, we may remark kindly in passing, explains why contributions of several helpers no longer adorn this column.

KENTUCKY OPENS 100TH SEASON OF RACING TODAY

Derby Colts Get First Tests at Lexington.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 23.—[Special.]—Turf followers from all parts of the west and from many eastern points were gathered here tonight for the opening of a new Kentucky racing season. It is the 100th anniversary of racing in Kentucky and it brings the 52nd running of the derby over at Churchill Downs in Louisville three weeks later.

The most brilliant setting ever arranged for the opening of a Kentucky season awaits the start of the centennial, and never before have so many good horses been stabled at the track.

Only one dark cloud hovered over the Lexington track tonight. It was the scandal which rocked the American turf last fall when widely known owners, jockeys, and trainers became involved in a series of crooked races run here and at Latonia.

Scandal Only Cloud.

Since the scandal was brought to light Kentucky racing officials have cleaned house. Famous jockeys, owners, and trainers were ruled off the turf for life, and on the eve of the new season there are rumors that a dozen others will meet a similar fate.

When the license committee concluded its labors today it was reported that in all but two cases, in which jockeys are involved, the rulings against those who have played fast and loose with the rules of the Kentucky turf have been made.

Old time Kentucky racing men, watching the crowds pour into town were doubtful if the scandal would hurt racing. Reports from Louisville, where officials of the Jockey club say the advance demand for Derby reservations is greater than ever, was one testimonial that followers of the sport are satisfied the guilty persons have or will be punished.

Derby Colts Race Today.

Lexington for years has been a trial ground for horses bred and trained in Kentucky. Nearly forty Derby candidates are getting their Derby training here and some will be tested in races tomorrow.

Percentage and Bird Behave, the latter from Edward R. Bradley's formidable Derby string, hook up in one event. In the Lexington Oaks, feature of the opening program, the fast filly, Teak, and other Derby eligibles will clash. Harry Payne Whitney's Derby colt, Token, takes on a stylish group of older horses, and if he should win the mile and 70 yards handicap will be regarded as a dangerous Derby candidate.

Showers today left the track muddy, and slow going may prevail at the opening. Close to a dozen Derby candidates were out today, the most impressive work being Alleghan's mile in 1:42.

CARLARIS OUT OF DERBY?

Louisville, Ky., April 23.—[Special.]—Carlaris, winner of the Coffroth handicap and favorite in the Kentucky Derby, may not get to the post in the $50,000 race at Churchill Downs. This statement is not made in a haphazard way, but from personal observation and an interview with the colt's trainer, Fred Kraft.

An infection on Carlaris' right hind lock, which is discharging pus, is the cause. The swelling is going down gradually until now it is about the size of an egg, but Trainer Kraft intends to give the colt no workouts until the wound heals altogether.

Wound Affects Colt's Work.

Carlaris once before had an infection similar to the present one and he was not raced for six weeks. That was last fall at Lexington.

"I am not going to make a move with Carlaris until W. T. Anderson arrives," Kraft said today.

Carlaris has been on the Douglas park track only twice since he arrived and then just for a gallop once or twice around the course.

Shortstop Jimmy Cooney of the Cubs finishing a steal home in a cloud of dust in the sixth inning of the slaughter of Cincinnati yesterday. Charlie Root, who was at bat, had been pushed over by Catcher Val Picinich of the Reds in his dive for the ball, while Umpire Ernie Quigley crouched over the play, even if it wasn't close.

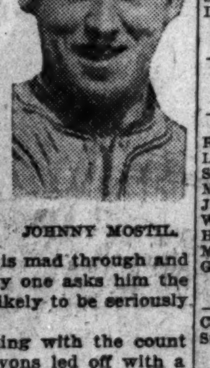
Sox Lose to Browns, 2 to 1 in 12 Innings, on Tough Breaks

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



JOHNNY MOSTIL.

St. Louis, Mo., April 23.—[Special.]—Although playing the best game they have this season, the White Sox were beaten 2 to 1 by the Browns today in a grueling twelve inning battle. The Sox outhit and outfielded the local team, and should have gone back to the hotel for supper in regulation time with a victory except for two slips by the umpires.

It isn't often Manager Collins raises Ned over what the umpires do, but tonight he is mad through and through, and if any one asks him the time of day he is likely to be seriously injured.

In the third inning with the count tied one to one, Lyons led off with a single and Mostil walked. Both advanced a notch when Gaston made a wild peg to second, trying to catch Lyons napping.

Hargrave Tackles Ted.

Harris then smashed a grounder to McManus and was thrown out at first when Lyons held third base. Johnny Mostil, apparently still thinking about his troubles, started for third and Sisler threw to second. Johnny got back safely when the peg was made to second, and Lyons dashed for home.

He was there hours ahead of the ball, but Catcher Hargrave, who had no chance for a play, tackled Ted as if he were Red Grange and brought him down while he still was three feet from the plate, then held him there and yelled to everybody on the team to get the ball to him. Finally Lamotte threw the ball to Hargrave, who had a half nelson and crotch hold on Lyons, and the catcher tagged him. Umpire Hildebrand, standing at home plate, called Ted out.

Melillo's Error Missed.

In the tenth inning, with one out, Harris singled and so did Collins. With Sheely at bat, this pair put on an attempted double steal. Hargrave pegged to third in time to nail Harris, but Melillo dropped the ball, recovering quickly. Umpire Rowland, who was standing right there, failed to see it and called Harris out. Coach Ben Egan, stationed at that corner, went into a tantrum for the first time this year and Sox players on the bench had fits and Boss Collins appealed to both other umpires, who simply shook their heads in silence. It was awful, but it went and again the Sox were beaten out of the winning run, for after Sheely walked, Bib Falk sent Williams to the left wall to catch a long fly that would have brought in a run, but in this case it simply made a third out.

After those two bad breaks, Lyons and Gaston continued their pitching duel until the twelfth when Williams led off with a walk, McManus bunted along the first base line for a single. Jacobson bounced to Lyons and Williams was nailed at third, but after Hargrave had fanned, Melillo reached out and poked a hit down the right foul line that sent McManus home with the winning run.

WESBROOK TO TURN NET PRO IN CALIFORNIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., April 23.—[Special.]—Walter Wesbrook, nationally ranked tennis star, will turn professional next Monday. Wesbrook is now playing in an open tournament at Arrowhead Hot Springs, one of whose contestants is Harvey Snodgrass, Wesbrook's former doubles partner, who recently turned pro. Wesbrook will open a tennis coaching school in Pasadena. Wesbrook is a graduate of University of Michigan, where he won his "M" as western conference tennis champion and as a pole vaulter.

MICHIGAN O. K.'S 70,000 STADIUM

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 23.—(AP)—A new stadium at the University of Michigan, to accommodate 70,000 persons, was approved last night by the board of regents. The stadium plans call for the expenditure of $1,500,000, financing to be by a bond issue, to be repaid from the gate receipts of athletic contests.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

CHARLEY ROOT.

McCarthy's Cubs are about to petition somebody that the day Carl Mays was ushered into the National league be declared a national holiday. They showed it first by chasing him in the season's opening series at Cincinnati and proved it even more emphatically yesterday by driving the one time American leaguer into seclusion and walloping the Reds about as decisively as anybody could expect to be trimmed and still survive. By accual reckoning, the score was 18 to 1, and the north siders now are the possessors of a winning streak of four straight.

In justice to Mr. Mays, it might be fitting to relate that he was not entirely responsible for the orgy. However, he was treated royally enough to feel positive that something happened. His first jolting occurred in the second, third, and fifth, five runs resulting. Then they ruined him and another hurler completely with seven tallies in the sixth. That should have been sufficient for one day, but just by way of adding insult to injury the Bruins went loco again and shoved over six additional runs in the eighth.

Cubs Get 20 Hits.

It is worth mentioning the fierce and unexpected attack launched by the Cubs ran into double figures. The returns show a list of twenty hits, six of which were for two sacks and one for three. The team's batting average for the day was .465. Five Red hurlers took a slice of this trimming, and there was a sixth one also, but he threw to only one batter and retired him. Incidentally, the Red fielders made themselves even more comical than the slabbers by kicking the ball about the lot at critical times.

Charley Root, the Los Angeles graduate, hurled the entire affair for McCarthy and didn't have much to worry about. He started by whiffing two Rhinelanders in the first and two more in the third with his wicked speed ball. That exhibition seemed to convince Hendricks' performers they had an argument on their hands, and they continued meek and mild, getting only eight hits. Three of these were produced by Roush. The star center gardener also walked in the fourth and counted Cincy's only tally, because of a single by Bressler and a long fly by Pipp.

Tale of the Typhoon.

There was nothing fluky about the manner in which the Cubs knocked off their lead prior to the big storm. The first run scored in the second because Cooney and Gonzales doubled. In the next inning Adams and Heathcote led off with hits, and a pass to Wilson filled the sacks. Freigau and Grimm took advantage of this opportunity by singling off Mays and sending three more tallies over the pan.

The sixth was so extensive that eleven Bruins stepped up and batted. Adams started it with a double, and before the session was over he doubled again off Day, who had been rushed to Mays' rescue. In between this pair of two baggers were such pleasing items as a triple by Munson and singles by Wilson, Freigau, Grimm, and Root. Also a double steal by Cooney and Gonzales in which the former scored.

Hitting wasn't so extensive in the eighth, the chief factors being errors. Six men went over the pan, but the only ones to wallop the ball safely were Wilson, Grimm, and Root.

LANE TECH NINE NIPS SCHURZ IN 7 INNINGS, 2 TO 1

Thorp and Simpson in Hurling Duel.

The championship Lane Tech baseball team yesterday barely emerged the victor over Schurz High in a City league encounter at Murley's park, having to extend itself to capture a 2 to 1 verdict from the formidable north side prep aggregation.

As a result of Jorgen's single with two out in the final session and with a man on first and second base, Lane annexed the winning tally. The losers' right fielder, Glinecke, heaved wild to third in an effort to catch Thorp, who raced home for the winning tally.

Schurz registered its lone tally when Lincke connected with a triple which sent Evans, who was on third, home. Score:

Schurz ....000 000 1—1 3 0
Lane ....100 000 1—2 5 0
Batteries—Thorp and Lincke; Simpson and Evans.

In a central section game at White City, Lindblom pang up a 4 to 3 win over Wendell Phillips. Although the Phillips athletes were leading, 3 to 0, in their half of the fourth, Lindblom registered a pair of tallies in the same frame, one in the fifth and a similar count in the sixth, and held this advantage until the game ended. The contest was featured by the hitting of Seymour of Lindblom, who hit two doubles, and Long, who connected with a two base safety. Score:

Wendell Phillips ....010 200 0—3 4 0
Lindblom ....000 211 0—4 7 3
Batteries—Jones and McLemon; McLean and Seymour.

A triple play and a home run failed to beat Lake View at Lincoln park, and Waller High fell before the north side aspirant for the City league title, 8 to 6.

The triple play was made in the third inning, with three men on. Anderson flied to Gnabah. Elliott, on second, was doubled and when O'Shea attempted to take second, the triple play was completed. W. Labaut hit the homer in the fifth. Score:

Lake View ....340 100 0—8 8 2
Waller ....100 212 0—6 10 2
Batteries—Loitz and Anderson; W. Labaut and J. Labaut, Darfler.

Plansky, Georgetown, Again Wins Penn Relay Decathlon

Philadelphia, Pa., April 23.—(AP)—Ten record performances, including one world's and eight new carnival marks, and the brilliant victory of Anthony J. Plansky of Georgetown, in the decathlon championship today featured the opening attack of nearly 3,000 college and school boy athletes on time and distance at the Pennsylvania relay carnival.

Plansky, football half back and track athlete extraordinary, scored a record shattering triumph in carrying off the crown of all around intercollegiate athletic supremacy for the second successive year. He conquered five rivals in the ten event contest with a point total of 7,169.160, which eclipsed his own previous high mark, set a year ago. In the course of this gruelling struggle, six records for the decathlon carnival fell, while a seventh was tied.

Penn Wins Relay.

The other contestants finished as follows: Second, J. O. Huntsman, Earlham college, Indiana, 6,795.332; third, Vergil Elliott, Bethany college, West Virginia, 6,672.680; fourth, Kenneth Doherty, College of City of Detroit, 6,596.702; fifth, Richard Sturtridge, De Pauw university, Indiana, 6,592.703.

The University of Pennsylvania's crack quartet of sprinters carried off the first intercolegiate relay title when they sped to victory in the quarter mile championship in the new carnival record time of 42 seconds, beating the Princeton team, which won the event last year and set the previous record of 42 2-5 seconds.

Princeton could do no better than third place, being nosed out by Penn State in a contest which was decided by the best times for three heats. Columbia won one of these heats, with Ohio State second, but their times were not good enough to place in the final rating.

Columbia won the college sprint medley relay title after a thrilling race with Georgetown, 1925 champions.

Mercerburg Sets Record.

The only world's record of the day was set by Mercerburg academy's speedy quarter mile relay quartet, which raced to victory in :43 2-5 seconds, beating their own former interscholastic standard by one-fifth second. Mercerburg's opportunity to set this mark come unexpectedly when the race, conducted in heats with time as the deciding factor, was ordered rerun because of faulty starts.

Victor Chapman of Wisconsin, western conference distance running champion, met decisive defeat at the hands of J. C. Loucks of Syracuse in the two mile special. Chapman set the pace until the last lap, when Loucks uncorked a sprint that carried him to the tape fifteen yards in front. Summaries:

QUARTER MILE COLLEGE RELAY—Won by University of Pennsylvania; Penn State, second; Princeton, third. Time, :42 [new carnival record]. Former record, :42 2-5, by Princeton, 1925.

400 METER HURDLES [special]—Won by John Gibson, Fordham; Tanner Occidental college, Los Angeles, second; Harold Littlefield, Bowdoin, third. Time, :55 6-10.

COLLEGE SPRINT, MEDLEY RELAY [first man to run 440 yards; second and third, 220 yards, and fourth, 880 yards]—Won by Columbia [Jaeger, Deck, Starkey, Campbell]; Georgetown, second; Massachusetts Institute of Technology, third; Occidental college, fourth. Time, 3:29.

INTERSCHOLASTIC MEDLEY RELAY—First man to run 880 yards, second 440, third 220, and fourth, one mile—Won by Boys' High school, Brooklyn [Milander, Boman, Harris, and Moore]; St. Benedict's, Elizabeth, N. J., second; Hill school, Pottstown, Pa., third; Phillips Exeter, Andover, fourth. 7:59 3-5.

DISTANCE COLLEGE MEDLEY—First man to run quarter mile, next half mile, third three-quarters mile, and last one mile—Won by Boston college [Ingordby, McCloskey, McKillop, and Cavanaugh]; Occidental college, second; Princeton, third; Lafayette, fourth. 10:25⅘.

INTERSCHOLASTIC QUARTER MILE RELAY—Won by Mercersburg academy, Mercersburg, Pa. [Sacks, Wood, Gentry, Hutson]; Newtown High, New York, second; Lakewood [Ohio] High, third; Stuyvesant High, New York, and Hamilton Collegiate institute, Canada, tied, fourth. :43 3-5. World's record.

RUNNING HOP, STEP AND JUMP—Won by Anson, Ohio State, 45 feet 7½ inches; second, Moore, Pennsylvania, 43 feet 7 inches; third, Case, Savage, 43 feet 2⅝ inches; fourth, Miller, New York university, 41 feet 1¼ inches.

LOGAN SQUARES AND NIESENS TO OPEN TODAY

Most of Chicago's semi-pro baseball teams swing into action in their first Saturday games this afternoon.

The Neisens open their season with the Madison, Wis., team at Normal Park. Bob Steele is slated to pitch, with Forest Paddock in reserve, and Tubby Clemons will catch. The outfield is composed of Baude, Purcell and McGuire, and the infield of Kilby, Niesen, Baldwin, and Rye. Jimmy Dodge will pitch for Madison. Stumpf is catcher, Mohardt, Elliott, and McInerny compose the outfield, and Eddie Lenehan, Shields, Uteritz, and Zelinsky the infield.

The Logan Squares will battle La Crosse, Wis., captained by Sam Brannigan, at Logan Square park, Kedzie and Elston. Either Dolly Gray or Voight will pitch for the Squares, who are managed by George Halas. The American Giants play the P. T. Harmon nine at Cermak-Mills park, Lake street and 47th avenue.

CONFLICTINGRACE DATES AVOIDED IN CHICAGO AREA

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

Chicago's turf horizon, previously clouded by rumors of conflicting racing dates in this territory, were cleared yesterday after a harmonious conference between representatives of Aurora, Hawthorne, Lincoln Fields, and Homewood tracks. The two latter plants are under construction.

According to tentative plans, racing in the Chicago racing district will open May 20 at Aurora, as previously advertised. Hawthorne probably will follow. Then will come meetings at Lincoln Fields and Homewood, or vice versa, and the season will end at Hawthorne and Aurora. If each track raced thirty days—two meetings of fifteen days each—which is considered plenty long enough by those experienced in turf matters, the season thus would close about Oct. 1. A later conference will determine definite dates.

Winn Favors Harmony.

Aurora and Homewood already had announced meetings. Hawthorne was understood to have dates in mind which might conflict, although no official announcement had been made. Lincoln Fields, under construction by Col. M. J. Winn and associates, had kept silent. In this situation, Aurora and Homewood asked a conference, as Hawthorne interests are working with Lincoln Fields.

Col. Winn, who from the first has asserted there was room for all and that he was opposed to turf wars when they could be avoided, readily assented. At the conclusion of the conference, the others interested complimented him on his attitude and willingness to "give or take."

Hay Fairmont Steward.

This harmony resulting means much in the scheme to make Chicago the racing center of the country when a kindly racing law is passed.

As further proof of the good feeling, Col. Winn announced the appointment of Judge C. W. Hay as a steward at Fairmont park, an Illinois track opposite St. Louis controlled by the Winn interests. This disposed of the unpleasant report that there was friction between Hay and Winn because Hay will not be in the stand in Kentucky this season, as previously understood locally. Judge Hay is associated with the Homewood interests.

RUTH'S 311TH HOMER HELPS YANKS WIN, 3-1

Koenig Also Raps a Four Bagger.

BABE RUTH.

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Home runs by Ruth and Koenig enabled the Yankees to defeat Boston today, 3 to 1. Koenig hit the first ball pitched in the opening inning for the route while Ruth punched his second of the season in the stands in the seventh. It was Ruth's 311th homer in his 12 years as a major leaguer. Pennock pitched well throughout, chalking up his second triumph of the season. Score:

Cub Notes

It was ladies' day, but along with the free customers were about 10,000 of the paid variety.

The Reds will conclude their four day visit this afternoon. Manager Hendricks' pitching staff is so badly shattered that he may twirl himself. Lefty Cooper may be McCarthy's workman.

Some loose tongued fan behind third base became a bit abusive toward Babe Pinelli, so the little fellow walked over to the stand in the sixth and informed his tormenter that he [Pinelli] would be under the stand after the game.

In the midst of the noise in the sixth Grimm hoisted a pop foul back of third. Emmer and Pinelli did an Alphonse and Gaston on it. To show his appreciation, Grimm followed with a single that scored Wilson.

It is highly probable that inside of another year the north side park will be double decked. Architects now are at work on plans for the enlarged structure. A second tier will add about 7,500 to the present capacity of 28,000.

Roush's third hit came in the eighth on a line drive that smashed into Root. The Cub hurler saved himself from possible injury by getting his glove up in time to deflect the ball. However, his hand was stung so severely that he made no attempt to throw out the runner at first.

The only Red hurler who wasn't damaged was Rufus Meadows, who comes from Mississippi. He appeared in the sixth after Mays and Day had been thumped and ended the inning by pitching to one batter.

Sox Notes

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 23.—(AP)—In the third inning, when the Sox failed to score after a single, three bases on balls, and an error, some wag in the stands started singing, "Show Me the Way to Go Home."

The guessing on the crowd today varied. Some said five, some said three, some said four. Our guess is 4,127 and the weather was like June in Quebec.

A noisy persistent rooter for the Browns in a box behind the Sox bench was Bud Yates, the promoter of the pro football team in Pyle's new league. Here's a bit of news on that. George Sisler is in with him and Rogers Hornsby has walked out.

The umpires are back in their common suits of Texas tan. Moriarity informed us today that those beauties of pearl gray are only for special days and dancing parties. Can you imagine Moriarity at a Charleston fling?

The Sox would have won in the eleventh, but the squeeze play went wrong. With Kamm on third and Schalk on second, no one out and Scott at bat, the play was put on. Kamm was coming in, but Scott missed a low curve ball and Kamm was caught.

The Sox pulled a snappy double play in the seventh with Cracker Schalk getting an assist and a putout in the vicinity of second base. Jacobson was on second with no one out when Hargrave tapped to Lyons. Big Jake was trapped between second and third and run down, Cracker finally getting the tag and then shooting to Boss Eddie who tagged Hargrave as he tried to slide into second.

Harrison Gets 9 Men in Mat Semi-Finals

Harrison with nine qualifiers led in the preliminaries of the Cook county interscholastic wrestling tournament at the University of Chicago yesterday. Tilden placed five men for second honors, but Harrison is a strong favorite to win in today's finals.

The biggest upset of the preliminary rounds came in the 145 pound section, when Oberzut of Harrison threw Farrel, Tilden, city champion, in 3:54. Knidera of Harrison won another good bout in the 158 pound section, beating Schulz of Crane in a hard fought match.

Pairings for today's finals follow:

115 POUND DIVISION—Hardek, Harrison vs. Nichel, Tilden. Freitag, Harrison vs. Sikorski, Tilden.

125 POUND—Mitzenmaker, Harrison vs. Dyer, Bloom. Lonzolotte, Englewood, vs. Kolenik, Tilden.

135 POUND—Gradman, Crane vs. Griggs, New Trier. Adolph, Harrison vs. Fitzgerald, Austin.

145 POUND—Oberzut, Harrison vs. Long, Bloom. Drzweiki, Harrison, vs. Jorndt, Lindblom.

158 POUND—Lenard, Lindblom, vs. Hoffberg, Harrison. Knidera, Harrison, vs. Chanceler, Englewood.

175 POUND—Peters, Bowen, vs. Janicek, Harrison. Deroin, Tilden, vs. Poorman, Bloom.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Jaeckel, Lake View, vs. Gorman, Crane; Dennis, Tilden, vs. Grizensky, Crane.

The finals will be staged tonight.

FLOWERS AND GREB SIGN FOR BATTLE MAY 27

New York, April 23.—[Special.]—Tiger Flowers, Atlanta Negro, who has been middleweight champion of the world for two months, will defend his title against Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, whom he defeated for the crown, in a 15 round bout on May 27 at the new Garden.

The commission approved the selection of Bobby Garcia, Camp Holabird, Md., featherweight, as challenger for a championship fight against Louis (Kid) Kaplan in the Queensboro stadium on June 1.

Tommy Burns of Detroit was approved by the commission as an opponent for Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., in a light heavyweight bout at Ebbets field on May 26.

Chick Suggs, bantam of New Bedford, Mass., was indefinitely suspended for failure to answer a commission summons.

Illinois A. C. Victor in C. A. A. U. Indoor Games

The I. A. C. wound up the indoor track season last night by defeating the C. A. A., 82 to 67, for the Central A. A. U. championship at Broadway armory. The winner was not determined until the medley relay and the high jump, the last two events, were decided.

Wallace of the C. A. A. was the only man to endanger any records. He equaled the mark for the 70 yard high hurdles when he ran that event in :08 4-5. Miss Helen Filkey set two new world marks :09 3-5 for the 70 yard low hurdles and :07 2-5 for the 60 yard dash.

Loren Murchison copped first in the 300 yards, but was outrun by Coaffee in the 60 yard dash. Harold Osborn, also of the I. A. C., took first in the running high jump, second in the standing high, and third in the 70 yard high hurdles for a total of nine points, which gave him individual honors. Summaries:

Harry Boakes 74 Today and Still Coaching

Harry Boakes, 4017 Cornelia avenue, well known racquets champion and tennis player, will celebrate his 74th birthday anniversary today by preparing his racquets, tennis shoes, and other equipment for the opening of the tennis season at Onwentsia club in Lake Forest, where he is instructor.

"A man is never too old to play tennis," said Boakes last night. "At least not as long as he is able to lift a racquet."

Boakes was born in London and came to America in 1892. He is racquets instructor at the University club in the winter and tennis, squash, and racquets teacher at the Lake Forest club in the summer.

Illinois Prof Finds a Pure White Robin

BY BOB BECKER.

Amateur bird sleuths in the Mississippi valley continue to hunt the white robins which have come up from the south, with the result that we are hearing about a number of birds showing various degrees of albinism. Dr. Alvin R. Cahn, instructor in ornithology of the University of Illinois, not only reports one of these "whiteys," but sends along a good portrait of the bird, which is a pure albino.

The specimen was hatched in Waukesha county, Wisconsin, last year. One of the parents of the bird was normal in plumage while the other was only one-tenth albinistic. The three other birds in the brood were entirely normal. This Waukesha county albino is just about a perfect example of albinism, as it is white without a trace of the usual robin color scheme.

Maj. George Reddick of Northwestern Military academy, Lake Geneva, Wis., says that he has spotted an albino which apparently is going to make its home along the shore of the lake. This bird is pure white above, but has two black features in its left wing. The major writes that this albino specimen has mated with a bird of normal plumage.

HILLSDALE, 4; ALMA, 3.

Alma, Mich., April 23.—[Special.]—Hillsdale college won the opening M. I. A. A. baseball game from Alma, 4 to 3, today. Valentine won the game for Hillsdale after Alma drove Steler off the slab in the first inning with three runs.

"Courtesy—Service" TROPHY

The other day our Advertising Agency sprang a rather good idea on us (once in a while they do have ideas.)

Our Advertising Agency claimed that an investigation showed that most of the salesmen in Washington Shirt Co. stores took more than an ordinary interest in seeing that a customer got just what he really wanted.

This may be accounted for by the fact that most of our "boys" are stockholders in the Company—however, the Agency suggested that we allow them to present a "COURTESY-SERVICE" TROPHY to the Washington Shirt Co. Store which shows the most consistent record for Courtesy and Service to the public.

The illustration hardly does justice to the trophy—it's a magnificent French Bronze by A. CAIN, imported by Spaulding & Company, and is to be held permanently by The Washington Shirt Store which has the most consistent Record for Courtesy and Service to the Public during the contest period.

We shall appreciate letters from any of our customers who will be kind enough to tell us of any noteworthy instances where our salesmen took particular pains to please them.

Several loads of light hogs sold late yesterday at $14.25, equaling high point of the year in March. Liberal shipping orders absorbed most of the underweights at 10@15c advance, while other grades sold steady to 10c higher. Heavy butcher kinds, however, closed weak. Packers were all in the trade, yet the big houses had indifferent orders and left about 5,000 in the pens. Receipts were slightly above expectations at 17,000, including 1,300 directs to packers and 600 transfer hogs billed through to the east. Packing droves averaging 284@303 lbs cost $12.07@12.18. General average reached $12.65, against $12.20 a week ago, and $12.05 a year ago.

A moderate Friday run of 3,000 cattle met fair demand at the previous day's quotations, lower priced stock in some instances indicating strength. The general market reflects a healthier tone, in sympathy with the phenomenal advance in hogs and lambs, which are close to the high point of the year. Recent strength in dressed beef markets, despite liberal receipts, had a favorable influence on the trade. Choice 1,008 lb Nebraska yearlings at $10.50 equaled the highest of the week. Better grades, however, were scarce, as usual late in the week, and few were eligible to more than $9.75. Best 1,256 lb averages brought $9.85, and 1,419 lb steers $9.75. Butcher stock sold steady to weak, 811 lb baby beef heifers selling at $10.00. Calves and bulls remained firm. Stockers and feeders sold strong in fair demand.

Lambs Pass $16.00 Line.

Additional gains of 25@35c in better grades of fat lambs carried top Colorados to $16.10, the highest since the middle of last January, comparing with $14.00 at the low time last week and $13.50 two weeks ago. Woolskin lambs finished $1.50@2.00 above a week earlier, with shorn mostly $2.00 higher and in spots $2.50@2.75 on medium and weighty kinds. Top 91 lb Colorados without fleece reached $14.25 and 93 lb average $13.75. Yearlings and aged wethers shared in the strength, prime 120 lb shorn yearlings bringing $11.50 and 103 lb shorn aged wethers $10.50. Shearing lambs met good demand at strong prices.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 500 cattle, 3,000 hogs, and 1,000 sheep, against 449 cattle, 4,672 hogs, and 2,933 sheep the corresponding Saturday a year ago.

WHITE STAR LINE REPORTED UNDER CONSIDERATION

New York, April 23.—[Special.]—The International Mercantile Marine company is considering the sale of the Oceanic Steam Navigation company, Ltd., which operates the White Star line. A special meeting of the directors was held today, presumably to consider a cash offer for the property from a prominent British steamship line.

According to reports in the financial district, the company has received a cash offer of about $35,000,000. The reports mentioned the Cunard line and the Furness line. The White Star line is the most important unit in the Mercantile Marine organization. It operates some of the largest liners in the transatlantic service, including the Majestic, Olympic, Homeric, Cedric, Arabic, Baltic, Adriatic, and the Celtic. The company is capitalized at 5,000,000 pounds sterling, all of which is owned by the International Mercantile Marine company.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of 800,000 to 900,000 bu wheat were reported in all positions, including 400,000 bu by seaboard handlers and 500,000 bu from Winnipeg. There was a little new crop hard winters worked via the gulf. Business in other grains was limited.

Chicago handlers sold 1,000 bu wheat, 1,000 bu corn, and 127,000 bu oats to the domestic trade, with 30,000 bu No. 2 hard winter wheat bought to come here from Kansas City and 5,000 bu from Omaha at 2c over Chicago May, with 20,000 bu booked from Illinois points at ⅝c over May.

Demand for cash wheat in leading markets was distinctly slow, with the basis here unchanged to ½c lower, while Kansas City premiums were unchanged to 1c lower, Omaha 1c lower and St. Louis 1c lower, while springs at Minneapolis sold slowly, with premiums 1@2c lower.

Cash corn was in small supply, but the demand was slower and the basis steady to 1c lower, with No. 3 grades ½@4½c; No. 4 grades, 4@6½c; No 5 grades, 8@9½c, and No. 6 grades, 11½@13c under May. Outside markets were unchanged to 1c lower.

Offerings of cash oats were fair, with the basis steady to ¼c lower. No. 2 white sold at ⅝@1¼c, and No. 3 white ½c over May.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Friday: Wheat, 21 cars; corn, 52 cars; oats, 44 cars; rye, 3 cars; barley, 14c.

MEATS LEAD UPTURN

Provision traders in the main regard the market as well sold out, and there is little selling pressure from packers, while buying is better and values have advanced. The close was at net gains of 35@40c on bellies, 50c on short ribs, and 2½c higher on lard.

Trading was fair, with foreign selling of lard futures early, which was taken by packer brokers. Hogs have advanced more than $1.00 on light of late to $14.25, and arrivals are running under last year. Cash trade in bellies, hams, and green meats was fair and values irregularly higher. Liverpool lard closed 6d higher. Prices follow:

LIQUIDATION OF LONG MAY WHEAT PUTS PRICES OFF

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation of long May wheat, partly for local professionals who sold out through commission house brokers, and pressure on the new crop deliveries by eastern interests and tired longs carried prices off 1¾@3½c from Thursday's finish, with May breaking to $1.61¾ and July to $1.40½. Around $1.41 for July there was a better class of buying, with a leading local professional credited with taking hold, and a rally of 2c from the inside figure followed with the finish at net losses of 2⅝c on May and ¾c on the deferred futures. May closed at $1.62⅝@1.62½; July at $1.41⅞@1.42, and September, $1.35¼.

Buying of corn futures on scale orders partly offset the effect of the break in wheat, and after a range of 1c for the day net losses were ⅛@⅝c, with May 73⅝@73½c, and July at 77⅞@77¾c. Oats closed ⅜@¾c lower, with May 41⅝c and June 42¼c. Rye lost 2⅛@2¼c, with wheat and closed with May at 90⅛c and July at 92⅛@92⅝c.

Hard Wheat to Chicago.

Relative strength in Liverpool wheat futures had little or no effect on the local market, reports of scattered showers over part of the spring wheat belt on both sides of the international line resulting in fairly general selling and there was a noticeable lack of support at times. Houses with eastern connections were aggressive on the bear side at times, even though the rains were too light to be of material benefit except at a few points. The forecast, however, indicated more moisture overnight, and late messages from Winnipeg indicated that rain was falling in western Manitoba late in the day.

The purchases of 55,000 bu wheat to come here for delivery on May contracts, including 35,000 bu from Missouri river points at 2c over the future, had considerable influence on that month. Cash wheat premiums here and in the southwest and northwest were easier, with Minneapolis off 1@2c. Indian wheat crop for all provinces is officially estimated at 322,000,000 bu, or 9,000,000 bu less than last year and 46,000,000 bu less than in 1924.

Corn Resists Pressure.

Trade in corn was largely of a local character, with short covering in evidence on declines, but on the whole showed stubborn resistance to pressure. Eastern cash demand remains limited, with the spot basis steady to 1c lower. Scattered liquidation was on in oats in sympathy with the decline in other grain May oats were bought and July sold at ⅜@⅝c difference. Rains in part of the northwest had a depressing effect on rye, and with the decline in wheat a lower range was easily attained. There was no demand of consequence at the seaboard.

Cuban Dominion Sugar Reorganization Planned

New York, April 23.—[Special.]—A plan for the voluntary reorganization of the Cuban Dominican Sugar company, one of the largest in Cuba, was projected today in a letter sent to stockholders by George H. Houston, president of the concern. A new corporation is to be formed to acquire all the assets of Cuban Dominican. The plan for capital readjustment will provide the new corporation with $15,300,000 in cash. The new concern will be incorporated under the laws of Maryland and will have an authorized capital stock of 1,150,000 shares, all of one class wtihout par value.

Americans Buy Interest in Turkish Petroleum Co.

New York, April 23.—(AP)—American oil interests have closed negotiations in London with French, Dutch, and British groups for acquiring an interest in the Turkish Petroleum Company, Ltd., Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, announced on his return today from Europe. The Amercan group will be composed of the Standard Oil companies of New Jersey and New York, the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company, the Gulf Refining company, and the Atlantic Refining company.

GASOLINE AND LINSEED OILS.

GASOLINE—Tank wagon, 17c; service station, 19c; machine gasoline, 37c. CARBON—Perfection, 12½c; machine oil, summer black, 11.4c; do winter, 11.9c. Stanoline furnace oil, 9c for 400 gals or more and 9½@10½s for less. LINSEED OIL—Raw, 1 to 4 brls, one delivery, 92c; boiled, 95c. DENATURED ALCOHOL—45c in brls. WHITE LEAD—100 lb kegs, $15.25. TURPENTINE—$1.15.

PACKING TRADE IMPROVES.

Armour & Co. says: "Packing house lines showed up well during the last week. Beef business showed more activity and a firmer tendency in prices. Fresh pork continued moderately firm. Smoked meats also showed a good tone, with prices holding up well and business somewhat better at the corresponding time last year. Foreign trade was moderately good. Collections also were very fair."

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Weather conditions in the west and northwest and in Canada are as much important as export buying for the present. Late advices from the northwest reported scattered rains in parts of northern Minnesota, scattered showers in North Dakota, and in western Canada. Wheat traders were rather bearish at the last and there was active buying of bids. Lower cables, it was believed, would start a selling movement and decline early today.

A local operator who sold out a large line of May wheat yesterday said after the close that for the time being he did not believe it wise to have too pronounced an opinion as to what the market is likely to do as weather conditions are uncertain.

Heavy selling of May wheat and buying of July attracted attention, being the reverse of operations on Thursday. The spread was 21⅛c early and 20½c at the close. Purchase of 55,000 bu cash wheat in various localities to come to Chicago had more effect as a depressing factor than any other news.

Sentiment in the corn trade remains mostly bearish. Elevator interests are buying May and selling July at 4⅛ to 4¼c premium. A local operator who bought a large line during the day protected it with bids later.

A big line of long wheat was said to have been sold by a local operator and partly taken back toward the last, making a rally. He has operated in this way for several days, and it keeps the pit element busy in an effort to discover how he really feels on the market. The general opinion is that he is long wheat and short corn.

HENRICI HEAD TO BUY GREAT NORTHERN HOTEL

BY AL CHASE.

William M. Collins, president of the Philip Henrici company, restaurateurs, long a stockholder in the Great Northern hotel, has nearly concluded negotiations for the purchase of that hostelry by a syndicate of which he, it is understood, will be the principal member. The stock of Mr. Collins and his associates, it is said, has been placed in escrow and Charles R. Holden, vice president of the Union Trust company, is acting as trustee for the Collins group.

The Great Northern is one of Chicago's first steel frame fireproof hotels and has had a long and successful career. It has a frontage on Jackson boulevard, Dearborn and Quincy streets. It is understood Mr. Collins will personally operate the hotel after a complete rejuvenation.

Six Story Hotel for Kenmore.

A syndicate headed by Samuel Brinmore, 62x150, for a reported $44,000, and has bought the residence at 5441 Kenis having plans prepared by Koenigsberg & Weisfeld for a six story apartment hotel to contain eighty three two and three room furnished suites. B. Harry Wallar of Brown & Wright was broker.

Jerrems, Inc., custom tailors, with four stores in Chicago and others throughout the country, will move their executive offices and workshops from the southwest corner of Clark and Adams, where they've been for forty-nine years, to the Fisk building, southeast corner of Wacker drive and Wabash avenue, where they will occupy the entire second floor. Warren A. Cahn was broker.

Skyscraper for Rogers Park.

Harry B. Aarens and Ernest Krulewitch have bought the southwest corner of Pratt and Clark, 125x125, at a reported $650 a front foot, from Edward McLaughlin, and state they will erect a twelve story store and flat building from plans by Mr. Aarens. Curtis & Murphy were brokers.

The forty-two flats at the southwest corner of Hyde Park boulevard and University, 164x183, were sold by Barney Cushman to Abraham I. Billieken for a reported $450,000. M. G. Cohen was attorney.

$350,000 Apartment Deal.

The two thirty-one apartment buildings at 3413-33 North Marshfield have been sold by Arthur Kruggel, head of Arthur Kruggel & Co., realtors, to C. C. Campbell and Harry I. Browns for a reported $350,000, subject to a $105,000 first mortgage on each structure. The property is 208x125. W. D. Murdock & Co. and Frank Barton of Matteson & Conran, were brokers.

COTTON AVERAGE HIGHER

Weather over the cotton states was warmer with little rain. But there was less selling pressure, and enough buying to take the offerings and close the market stronger and 2 to 9 points higher, Chicago leading in strength. Spots were stronger and 5 points higher in New Orleans at 17.90c, and unchanged in New York at 18.90c. Liverpool was weaker and closed 6 to 7 points lower. Cables from Manchester, England, said the short time committee of spinners had recommended that for the week commencing May 3, all mills be closed to relieve trade depression. Week-end statistics were without influence. Prices in leading markets follow:

WALL STREET NOTES

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—A sharp rally in prices took place in today's curb market, with increased speculative interest manifested in the oil and public utility shares. Humble Oil was again the leader, closing 3¼ points higher at 66½. Net gains of a point or more also were recorded by Tidewater, Standard Oil of California [new], Vacuum, Pennok, and Red Bank. Reiter-Foster broke more than 3 points.

Heavy buying of Southeastern Power and Light, which was run up about 5 points, was based on expectations that this and associated companies would be the successful bidders for operation of the Muscle Shoals power project. American Light and Traction jumped 8 points to 211 and then eased to 209, while United Gas Improvement, American Gas and Electric, Commonwealth Power and Electric Investors advanced a point or so.

Widespread fluctuations again took place in Ford Motors of Canada, which closed 18 points higher at 523, after having touched 529. Auburn Motors advanced nearly 2 points. The Electrical Refrigeration issues advanced about a point. Continental Baking A closed nearly 2 points higher and General Baking A showing a net gain of one point. Freshman Radio advanced over a point. Other strong spots in the industrial group were Borden's [new], Lehigh Valley Coal, New Jersey Zinc, Silica Gel, Standard Tank Car, and Victor Talking Machine, all up 1 to nearly 4 points.

Sugar company liens were strong, with Cuban Dominican 7s bought heavily on the publication of reorganization plans. Accumulation of railroad obligations caused an advance in a wide assortment of issues, such as Atchison General 4s, Central of Georgia 5s, St. Paul 4½s, Chicago and Northwestern 6½s, Erie General 4s, Lehigh Valley 4½s, Long Island 5s, Katy 4s B, New York Central convertible 6s, Michigan Central 3½s, New Haven 4s, Norfolk and Western convertible 6s, Seaboard first 4s, and St. Louis Southwestern first 5s, in which the gains ran from 1 to 3 points.

GEN. ELECTRIC CO. GIVES PLANS FOR STOCK SPLIT-UP

BY O. A. MATHER.

The General Electric company, one of the largest American corporations, announced yesterday the long anticipated splitup of its common stock. Stockholders at the annual meeting on May 11 will be asked to approve changing the present 1,850,000 authorized common shares of $100 par value to 7,400,000 no par shares.

Four shares of new stock will be exchanged for each old share. It is proposed to place the new shares on a $3 annual dividend basis, with an additional payment of 1 per cent in special 6 per cent stock. This is equivalent to $12 cash and 4 per cent in stock on the old shares, which now pay $8 cash and 5 per cent in stock. General Electric shares have fluctuated between 386 and 285 this year and closed yesterday at 306. Net earnings applicable to the common stock exceeded $20 a share last year.

$1,000 Offered for M. C. Shares.

One thousand dollars a share for Michigan Central railroad stock was bid yesterday by the New York Central. This makes Michigan Central the highest priced stock in the New York stock market. The New York Central, a year ago, owned all but $969,700 of the Michigan Central's outstanding $18,736,400 capital stock, and recently has purchased a substantial block. It now seeks the balance of the minority holdings for delivery by May 25.

The desire of the New York Central to obtain complete ownership of the Michigan Central is regarded as a further move toward consolidating all affiliated lines, which also include the Big Four and Rutland railroads. Net income of the Michigan Central last year was $18,806,194, or more than 100 per cent on its capital stock.

Brokers' Loans Again Decline.

The weekly report on brokers' loans again yesterday evidenced the thorough deflation of the speculative markets. Loans by New York banks totaled $2,651,339,000 on April 14, a decline of $36,013,000 from the preceding week. Loans for the banks' own accounts receded $81,621,000, while loans for out of town banks and others increased $45,608,000.

This makes a total reduction of $689,786,000 in loans since the peak figure of $3,141,125,000 was reached on Jan. 6, but considerably less than one-third of this reduction resulted from withdrawal of funds by out of town banks. In the same interval other loans and discounts of all reporting banks of the federal reserve system have increased $129,288,000. It is evident that the country's banks still have plenty of money to lend. Bankers reported a heavy movement of funds to London to take advantage of higher rates prevailing there.

Trade Reviews Cheerful.

The week-end trade reviews were fairly cheerful, although still noting considerable irregularity.

"The dollar volume of domestic trade during the third week of April, as seen from figures on check payments, was larger than a year ago," the commerce department said. "The volume of distribution during the first two weeks, as seen from data on car loadings, also recorded an advance. Wholesale prices for the third week strengthened, but averaged about 4 per cent below a year ago."

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods showed a good gain over last week and exceeded by a considerable margin that of a year ago," Marshall Field & Co. said. "Road sales were well ahead of last week, although failing to reach the total recorded last year. There were more customers in the market than a year ago, and collections showed some improvement."

Chicago Yellow Cab.

J. P. C., Cleveland, O.—Chicago Yellow Cab Company, Inc. (listed on the Chicago stock exchange as Yellow Taxi), is the operating company. It has been paying dividends each year since May, 1917. The rate since 1920 has been $4.00 per annum.

The company earned $5.51 per share on 400,000 shares of no par value in 1925, against $5.57 a share in 1924.

During the year $607,341 was added to surplus, making that item $3,547,173 as of Dec. 31, 1925.

This stock deserves a fairly good rating.

American Ice.

D. S.—American Ice company earned $11.74 a share on its common stock in 1925, compared with $11.36 a share in the preceding fourteen months.

Surplus stood at $11,318,961 at the end of 1925, against $9,825,094 at the close of 1924.

Dividends at the rate of $8 per share per annum are being paid on the common stock. In addition an extra of $2 a share was paid in January, 1926.

This is a rather high grade common stock.

Bendix.

C. A. M.—Bendix corporation reported a net income of $137,610 after all charges in 1925. This covered by a small margin the dividend requirements of $130,000, or $2 a share on the 65,000 shares of class A stock (par $10).

The class A stock rates fairly well, but is somewhat speculative.

SUGAR MARKETS.

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—RUBBER—Barely steady; smoked ribbed spot, 47c; May, 47.70c; July, 45.50c; Sept, 45.10c.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the first quarter of 1926 are estimated in the trade at between $44,000,000 and $45,000,000, compared with $42,230,465 in the preceding quarter, and $39,882,992 in the first quarter of 1925. Allowing for similar depreciation and other charges as in the last quarter of 1925, net for the common stock would be between $3.55 and $3.75 a share.

Stockholders of the New York Title and Mortgage company and the United States Title Guaranty company rave ratified the proposed merger of the two companies under the name of the New York Title and Mortgage company with capital funds of more than $30,000,000.

The Melville Shoe company declared an extra dividend of 50 cents and the regular quarterly of 50 cents on the common and the quarterly of 3 per cent on the preferred, all payable May 1.

Segregation of the South American oil and asphalt properties of the General Asphalt company is contemplated. The plan is said to provide for a new company to take over oil properties, with the possibility that the Maracaibo Oil Exploration company may be involved.

Erie's Directors Defer Election Two Months

New York, April 23.—[Special.]—The annual election of officers of the Erie railroad did not take place at the directors' meeting today. It has been postponed for two months to give the Van Sweringens more time to work out their merger plans. The progress of these plans will have much to do with the question of who will head Erie in the future.

Charles Hayden, chairman of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; J. E. Gorman, president of the Rock Island; J. M. Kurn, president of the St. Louis-San Francisco; E. N. Brown, chairman of the Frisco, and M. L. Bell, general counsel of the Rock Island, departed today on an inspection trip of the Rock Island lines. No announcement of the terms of the merger with the Frisco was made by Rock Island directors, who met here today.

The Bond Trend

The advance in the high grade bond issues listed below is only typical of the current movement in bond prices.

Issue	Market Price Dec. 31, '25	Apr. 1, '26	Apr. 22, '26
American Tel. 5s 1960	97¾	99¾	100⅞
Atchison 4s 1995	89⅞	90⅝	92¼
Bethlehem Steel 6s 1948	95½	97¾	99
Canada 5s 1952	102⅞	103⅞	105⅛
German 7s 1949	101¾	101¾	103
Illinois Bell Tel. 5s 1956	100¾	102⅛	103½

This upward trend reflects an ease in money conditions further emphasized by the cut in the New York Federal Reserve Bank rate to 3½%. It is associated, too, with a falling off in the volume of new security offerings.

Distinctly attractive yields are still obtainable, however, from well-secured corporate obligations, which are selling out of line with the general market. As the movement of bond prices upward becomes more general, naturally these opportunities will pass.

A list of safe bonds yielding around 6%, and recommended for investment will be sent upon request.

New York, April 23.—(AP)—A general advance in stock and bond prices was Wall street's response to the lowering of the New York federal reserve rediscount rate. Net gains in scores of active issues ranging from 1 to 12 points. Sales rose to 2,329,000 shares, the highest figure this month, and bond sales reached $21,565,000, being exceeded only by the record breaking total of $25,570,000 on Dec. 11, 1924.

The lower bank rate was accompanied by a further easing of all other monetary accommodations. Call money renewed at 3½ per cent and then dropped to 3, the lowest official rate since March, last year. Funds were available in the "outside Market" as low as 2¾. Time money was practically on a flat 4 per cent basis and prime commercial paper was quoted at 4 to 4¼ per cent.

Bears Caught Napping.

The New York reserve bank's action caught bear traders unawares, with the result that they were forced into a hurried covering of commitments, many blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares changing hands during the day. Commission houses also reported a substantial increase in public participation, with the operations of professional bull pools stimulated by the relative cheapness of money.

The advance in stocks was led by the industrial shares. United Fruit (old stock) jumped 29½ points on a few sales. Net gains of two to six points were recorded by such widely diversified issues as Adams Express, Allied Chemical, American Safety Razor, American Smelting, Baldwin Locomotive, Butterick, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Childs, Continental Insurance, Cuban Dominican Sugar preferred, Independent Oil and Gas, National Tea, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron, Pierce-Arrow preferred, Remington Typewriter, Union Bag and Paper, and U. S. Realty.

General Electric Recovers.

General Electric dropped from 310½ to 303¼, but rallied later to 306 for a net gain of 3 points on the day. U. S. Steel common fluctuated within a range of one point, closing ⅝ higher at 122½, and Bethlehem Steel advanced a point to 41¼ with buying influenced by the quarterly report made public after the close yesterday.

Big Four common soared 12 points to 185¼, but most of the other rails showed only moderate advances on the day. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Frisco common, St. Louis Southwestern, and Chesapeake and Ohio all closed a point or two higher.

Local tractions were among the few weak spots, selling off on the announcement that the state senate had killed the Thayer bill designed to relieve them from expense in connection with street paving repairs. Interborough Rapid Transit and Third Avenue each fell back about three points, closing slightly above the low levels of the day.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE

Money in Chicago firm at 4¾@5 per cent on collateral; commercial paper, 4¼@5 per cent, 4¾@5¼ per cent over the counter. Bankers' acceptances, 3¼@3¾ per cent. New York exchange, by wire, par. Chicago bank clearings yesterday were $95,400,000, compared with $116,400,000 a week ago and $106,000,000 a year ago.

The FOREST PRESERVES of Greater Chicago

THE forest preserves of Cook County and adjacent counties, known as Greater Chicago, now contain more than 40,000 wooded acres. These recreation plots are visited annually by more than 10,000,000 people and are valued at approximately $75,000,000. Before another decade, they will be included in the city of Chicago and will be connected by a continuation of Chicago's famous boulevard system.

Realizing that civic improvements such as wooded recreational areas or forest preserves help to make Chicago a more desirable business and residential center, and especially a center for sound investments, The Continental First Mortgage Bond Company confines its loans exclusively to Chicago properties.

Its loans are unusually conservative, ranging from 33⅓% to 50% of the independent appraised property valuation.

Continental First Mortgage Bonds pay 6½% interest, the highest rate of interest consistent with absolute safety of principal.

LESSON SEEN IN TEXTILE DECLINE IN NEW ENGLAND

BY HARPER LEECH.

No matter where one lives, nor from what region one hails, the social development of the New England states is of great interest.

As our oldest industrial section, what happens to New England may be regarded as a sort of forecast of the development of America as a whole, if social and economic forces remain about as they have been. If New England is stagnating, a study of the causes may enable economists and statesmen to devise the means of preventing a similar hardening of the arteries elsewhere.

Three documents landed on this desk yesterday, all of which throw some light on things in the cradle of American industrialism. The first dealt with activity in the cotton spinning industry for March, the second with wholesale prices of commodities in March, the third with the changes in farm ownership from 1920 to 1925.

The cotton spinning summary showed that the cotton growing states are just walking away with New England's business in that line. New England has 18,164,698 spindles in place, compared to 17,842,104 in the south, but last month 17,266,762 southern spindles were busy, against 14,400,290 in New England; southern spindles worked an aggregate of 1,500,000,000 more spindle hours than New England spindles.

Wholesale prices for March showed that textile products, clothing, etc., remain nearer post-war boom prices than most other commodities, yet men wonder why folks cut down clothing purchases and go in for automobiles and such.

Farm changes, on the other hand, show that New England farm owners are increasing in number in every state except Vermont. But this does not represent a return to the soil of the stock which made New England.

On the other hand, it is probably the final stage of the displacement of that stock from all but orchid occupations, removed from primary production.

Eastern textile and clothing industries today are responsible for most of our news of strikes and strife. They are the only great divisions of American industry appreciably affected by the efforts of native "intellectuals" and imported agitators to spread the social plagues harrying European industrialism.

New England's early philosophy of social idealism had something to do with hastening the population changes there, which have destroyed the original homogeneity. Sneer at democracy as you will, it appears now that American industry is running smoother in those sections where there are the least barriers of temperament, caste, language, and nationality between management and men. This is true of the homogeneous people of the southern Piedmont—it is true of the midwest, where populations of diverse origin have been well mixed and the democracy of the frontier best survives.

It is an old lesson but never learned by some. Early railroad kings in the west clamored for Chinese and quoted New England idealism in support of their shortsighted eagerness for coolie labor. In the south today many large land owners crave the importation of peasants or peons for tenants. The disaster of the sixties has taught some of them nothing—they are gluttons for more punishment.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Miscellaneous.

WE EARNESTLY BELIEVE that if we get the right man to give us his spare time each evening that our proposition will pay him greater financial returns than his present position. The man we are looking for does not need any particular experience, but must be honest and be sincere in his desire to work hard and be on the job every evening. Address O S 181, Tribune.

DO YOU waste all your evenings "after work" hours that other men make use of to get ahead faster and then wonder why you stay in a rut? Why not make money in your spare time and get experience that will enable you to get ahead?

Regardless of your experience, we have openings in our firm that require the attention of some ambitious, neat appearing men. The men we select will find that they can make more money with us than they thought possible in spare time. If you are interested, write. Address O S 161, Tribune.

WIN IN THE BATTLE FOR SUCCESS WITH ME.

I am winning in the battle for success, and need two real men, men of prominence, men who believe their experience has fit them for success and are looking for the opportunity to go over the top. I want these men at once to climb the hill of success with me. Act quick and let's get busy. Address S N 451, Tribune.

MAN — EXPERIENCED IN packing bottles, glassware, etc.; state previous connections, age, and salary wanted; position permanent; must start at once. Address P K 600, Tribune.

AND NOW THAT YOU HAVE VISITED THE various places offering a real opportunity to make real money by selling Gold Dollar Profits to wide awake people and have found your interviewers wanting, in one way or another, see me for the best nonselling job you ever had offered you. See me at once. MR. J. J. KELLY, 1008 McCormick Bldg., 332 S. Michigan-av., Corner of Van Buren-st.

HERE, for a few men who will treat a position like a "job" that requires work because of an earnest desire to get ahead, we have a vacancy that will mean a steady income with rapid promotion assured; some selling experience preferred, but not necessary. We will train you for this position and give full co-operation. Answers held confidential. Address O S 157, Tribune.

A BETTER POSITION FOR YOU.

WITH CHICAGO'S LARGEST REAL ESTATE OPERATORS.

Salary,
Bonus,
Commission.

OWING TO our steadily increasing volume of business, already averaging a million dollars a month, we will employ and train a number of refined women, 25 years or over, to fill well paying, permanent positions.

No Experience Necessary.

YOU CAN make money now. You need not waste time experimenting.

IN OUR 27 years of proven judgment we have evolved the most scientific, productive and best paying plan for our women to follow. This experience, combined with our great cash buying power, enables us to secure and merchandise the choice locations demanded by Chicago's growth. Naturally our volume of sales is enormous and the remuneration to our women proportionately large.

OUR WOMEN ARE MAKING BIG MONEY ALL YEAR ROUND.

NO DULL season. Incomes as high as $20,000 a year to workers who had no more experience than you in this business.

LIVE LEADS DAILY.

AS ALL executives are selected from the sales force you can obtain quicker promotion here than you might expect from any other concern as well known and firmly established as we are.

STOP READING help wanted ads. Come in and start work at once. You can't begin to make money any younger than you are today.

APPLY TODAY.

THE
ON THE LAKE SHORE
AT 5000 NORTH.
"THINK THIS OVER"

The location of the Aquitania is only one of many features that make it the outstanding fine apartment residence of Chicago.

You will appreciate its enviable location particularly during the hot summer days and nights, for this beautiful building, standing on the very Shore of Lake Michigan, has the benefit of the refreshing breezes which are constantly blowing off the lake.

Get your family away from the dust, heat and confusion of ordinary city neighborhoods. Let them enjoy the clean, cool and exhilarating atmosphere of the Aquitania. Let them taste the comfort of cool nights, so necessary for restful sleep.

And what a place for fun. To live in the Aquitania is to have close at hand the finest of bathing. You can plunge into the clear bluegreen waters of Lake Michigan, or loll on the white sands of its broad beaches.

Furthermore upon inspection of the Aquitania, you will actually fall in love with the finely appointed and exceptionally spacious apartments. They range in size of from three to six rooms, all unfurnished, and with one and two baths. And truly, they possess that distinguishing beauty which inevitably sets them apart from other apartments.

Now is the time to avail yourself of this opportunity to get the most out of living and the greatest apartment home value for your money.

GET A PENCIL AND PAPER.

A tenant at 2812 Cambridge-av., east of Broadway at Diversey, is paying $120 per mo. for an apt. which costs the landlord only $42.03 per mo. for entire upkeep and operating of that apt. The net profits from that rent is $77.97 per mo.; in seven years that tenant will pay a profit of $6,548.48. The apt. can be bought now for $6,500. The owner will have all of his money back in 7 yrs., and he will still own a piece of property which has greatly increased in value.

Why buy property for the landlord? Landlords build the bldgs. and the tenants pay for them—fine business—for the landlord. We sell co-operative apts. on easy terms.

I Must Sell This Farm Regardless of Sacrifice

215 acre farm, 10 miles east of Milford, Ill. This exceptional profit making grain farm must be sold regardless of the sacrifice.

Black soil, fully tiled and improved. Entirely surrounded by new hog tight fence. Close to market conveniences, schools, and churches; 6 room house; new barn with unusually large capacity, new farming implements. Double crib with granary; can store 7,000 bushels of corn or oats. Well constructed tool shed and chicken house.

A responsible purchaser can have a loan arranged of $100 per acre on this property at 5½%, 10 year period, without additional brokerage or commission. Owners.

Adddress S. G 512, Tribune.

Your Opportunity in Central Illinois

Ideally located, highly improved 130-acre grain and stock farm. Black tiled land. Every improvement, new and modern. Its location gives buyer best market facilities, and it is convenient to schools and churches.

Excellent 6 room house. Barn built last year, holds 12 head of cattle and over 25 tons of hay. Large crib and granary with 8,000 bushels' capacity. Well built tool shed and chicken house. This land is entirely surrounded by new wire fence.

A real moneymaker. Good selling reason. No trades or brokers will be considered. Very liberal terms can be given to responsible party. Full details and the many advantages of this bargain will be sent and if satisfactory, personal interview will be arranged. Deal with the owner. Address S G 513, Tribune.

An Estate Sacrificed

160 acre combination grain and stock farm. The heirs of an estate, desiring to make an immediate division according to their share, offer for sale this going farm.

10 miles east of Milford, Ill. Improved black land, thoroughly tilled. All new improvements. Excellent market facilities. Good roads, churches, and schools; 6 room house, just built; new barn holds 12 head of horses and 30 tons of hay. Double crib with granary holds 4,000 bushels of corn and 4,000 bushels of oats. Tool shed 36x40; hog house 20x50; chicken house, 14x20. All new lot and line fences.

The heirs are willing to accept a low price, offering interested parties a real bargain. Can arrange loan of $75 per acre at 5½% for 10 years without additional brokerage or commission. Write owners.

Address S G 514, Tribune.

An Immediate Sale Must Be Made

215 acre stock and grain farm; fertile soil; located on National Highway. All improvements made during past year, making this farm up to date in every respect. Title guaranteed.

Large house and barn. Crib with granary holds 5,500 bushels of corn and 5,500 bushels of oats; tool shed, chicken house.

Land all tiled, on good road near market, schools, and churches. Land completely surrounded by new wire fence.

Address S G 517, Tribune.

I Am Sacrificing My Well Improved 40 Acres in One of the Finest Farming Districts in Illinois.

A 5 room house. The barn is well constructed and holds 6 head of stock, chicken house. There is 8 acres of timber pasture and 32 acres of farm land. This farm is adjacent to a town of 1,800 and within 2 blocks of an excellent high school. The soil and location make this bargain ideal for heavy grain farming, truck, chicken or dairy farm. For an immediate sale will sacrifice far below its actual value. Write owner. Address S G 516, Tribune.

If You Are Looking for a Farm Bargain, This 40 Acre Tract Is Your Opportunity.

Pierce-Arrow

PIERCE-ARROW TOURING CAR, Series 33. This is one of the larger Pierce-Arrows and in appearance cannot be distinguished from our current models. The paint and mechanical condition are excellent and the car is equipped with 6 good cord tires, extras being carried in the front fenders. An excellent value at $2,250.

PIERCE-ARROW—Series 33, 4 pass. sport touring. This current model Pierce-Arrow has been thoroughly overhauled in our own shops and will give the purchaser thousands of miles of excellent service. It can hardly be distinguished from a new car. Price $2,850

PIERCE-ARROW—Series 80 coach. This car, driven but 1,900 miles, is virtually new and was exchanged by the owner for a 7 passenger sedan. A saving of nearly $700 can be effected on this car at the specially reduced price of $2,800.

PIERCE-ARROW—Series 80, 7 pass. touring. This car has never been out of our possession and cannot be distinguished from a new car. The mileage is extremely low. Car carries standard new car warranty. If you are looking for a touring model here is your opportunity to save $1,000 on a virtually new car. Special for this sale, $2,500.

Packard Six Sedan. This is the very latest model Packard Six and has been driven exactly 3,747 miles. The paint, body, or fenders do not carry a mar or scratch anywhere, and it is absolutely impossible to distinguish it from a brand new car. The balloon tires only show slight wear and the spare is brand new. Has disc wheels, 4 wheel brakes, 2 bumpers, etc. An unusual opportunity to purchase a virtually brand new car.

Hudson Sedan, 7 pass. model. Driven exactly 743 miles, and words cannot describe the newness and perfect condition of this car. Has only had enough mileage to eliminate the stiffness and wear the motor in properly. The 5 balloon tires do not show the slightest wear and equipment includes bumpers, heater, step plates, automatic windshield wiper, etc. Cost new over $1,850. Our price $1,500.

Jordan Straight 8, 5 pass. Sport Brougham, 1925. Completely equipped with 5 balloon tires, trunk in rear, 4 wheel brakes, front and rear bumpers, etc. Paint, interior, and mechanism are in the very finest condition. Price today, $1,550.

Packard Straight 8 Touring. Has plate glass winter inclosure and its original finish is almost like new. 5 practically new tires, disc wheels, 4 wheel brakes, 2 bumpers, motometer, and necessary accessories. The very best Packard 8 buy in the city at our price of $1,675.

Willys-Knight Brougham, 1925. This is the popular 3 door model equipped with 4 wheel brakes, 5 balloon tires, trunk, 2 bumpers, heater, winterfront, etc. Refinished in deep blue and black. Perfect mechanical condition. Price today $1,350.

Cole Sedan, 1924. The perfect running condition of this car will please the most exacting buyer. Has 2 Ramspring bumpers, 6 full size balloon tires, disc wheels, heater, and is very completely equipped. See this car before buying. $750.
